DEFENSE IN KEYES BRIBE CASE WILL START TODAY

Lawyers for Accused Plan Battle; State Witnesses Tell Purchase of Wrist Watch and Autos

Attorneys for former Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes and five other defendants charged with bribery conspiracy conferred in the hope of perfecting a unified defense last night, after the prosecution announced in court yesterday afternoon that it will rest its case today.

The State would have completed presentation of its evidence today but for the fact that one of their two remaining witnesses had gone to Lake Arrowhead over the week-end and was not found.

"Each one of these witnesses' testimony is dependent on the other and must be put together," explained Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart. "However, if it can be stipulated that we can put him on the stand later we are willing to rest our case at this time and the defense can commence."

Attorney Le Compte Davis, one of the defense counsel, however, arose and declared that none of the defendants was ready to proceed and Judge Fricke, before whom the trial is being held, was forced to adjourn court early after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The missing State's witness is expected to arrive in Los Angeles this morning, and it is estimated that the State's case, at last count, will be completed in less than one hour.

DEFENSE IN CONFERENCE

When court adjourned, a conference of the eight defense counselors and clients was held in Attorney Davis' office in the Law Building, but when it broke up, it was not clear whether the question as to whether it is to first put on a defense witness was the question pardoned.

Attorneys Joe Rush and William Neblett, representing Keyes, took the position, they said, that their client is entitled to the last defendant until his defense, but that attorneys for the others were unwilling to agree to this. A solution of the problem is expected at the conference scheduled to be held today.

Witnesses yet to testify for the State, it was learned from reliable sources, are employees of a music store who will testify regarding the purchase of an expensive radio set to which was at the time prosecuted by John Petroleum conference, at which the present status of the case will be discussed.

THE ASA DEFENSE

It is understood that counsel for Keyes will request that cases against their client be dismissed on the ground of "lack of evidence," when the prosecution rests its case today. It is learned, will attempt to strike certain prosecution testimony from the records and will base the contention that the State has failed to prove any of the charges on the court's ruling in sustaining the defense attorneys' objections to attempts to introduce evidence of transcripts taken during the trial of the Julian cases that related to the testimony of E. [illegible], brother of the defendants, during the Julian trials.

FILIBUSTER IN SENATE

Cruiser Bill's Backers Hit

Blaine Talks Three Hours on Cost of Enforcing Dry Amendment

Leaders Decide on Forcing Action Ahead of Vote on Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Senate leaders decided today to force the issue on the cruiser-construction bill which its proponents insist is in the throes of a filibuster.

An informal understanding was reached by the leaders with those in charge of the appropriation bills to permit the naval measure to come before the Senate upon disposition of the pending deficiency appropriation bill and to allow time for a real test of strength.

This program, tentatively agreed to today at a conference of party leaders, temporarily dispenses with the usual practice of allowing supply bills full right of way in the Senate regardless of the regular "unfinished business."

FILIBUSTER CHARGED

Supporters of the naval bill, which is strongly opposed by the Republican independents, are confident they can wear down the opposition in a contest on the floor. If necessary, they may seek the cloture rule limiting debate, but they are not talking of this yet and only want to resort to this as a last move.

So far all talk of filibuster has been taboo publicly, but when Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, one of the opponents of the bill, spoke for more than two hours this afternoon on the proposed prohibition increase, the naval measure's proponents made the charge privately of a filibuster.

Strangely enough the opponents of the bill providing for fifteen

Antarctic Crew Has Close Call

Savage Whale Gives Chase to Commander and Party in Small Boat

Men Take Refuge on Ice and Dodge Too Close Contact With Monster

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1929, by New York Times and St. Louis Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

BAY OF WHALES (Antarctica) Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—We had our closest and most disconcerting contact with killer whales last night. We have been wondering whether they would attack an open boat for they are the most vicious and sinister of living animals and kill without difficulty whales 100 feet long. We know now that they will at least head for an open boat and drive all hands onto the ice.

The short but exciting guessing contest with the whales came during a long excursion made by Commander Byrd in a small boat towed along the eastern side of the bay. He was looking for a possible landing place for the Bolling, which is due in a few days and which will offer an unloading problem which is more difficult than the one practically concluded. He took one of the oar boats which was driven by an outboard motor such as he had used successfully in the Arctic. When he left the City of New York and headed eastward toward the lead he was accompanied by Sverre Strom, first mate and Ice Pilot Paul Siple and John Sutton, who were running the motor, and by myself.

ALONG EDGE OF ICE

It had been snowing nearly all day with a stiff wind blowing off the ice, but although it was still snowing a little when we put off at 9:30 and the sky was a thick dirty gray we could see for several miles and make out the smoky outline of the ice cliffs ahead of us. The boat ran along the edge of the bay ice directly toward the barrier to the east for some time, the commander and Strom conning the boat through big hunks of pack ice and pieces of the bay ice which had broken off and were drifting out. They were nearly all small, although some were twenty or thirty yards across and stuck out great tongues of solid blue ice far below the water line, ugly looking shelves cobwebbed and honeycombed with perforations; the water lapped against these tiny bergs, rushing into the holes where the water had eaten the ice away and out again like the sound of surf on a rocky shore.

There were long stretches where there was little ice, only scum on the surface and the boat dashed over the waves which slapped against the boat. One could shut one's eyes and almost imagine a day in a harbor of Maine, except for the snow particles rattling against the parka hood and the icy wind cutting into our faces. But what a contrast when one looked around again—nothing but black water and blue and white ice, Paul and John crouched over in the stern, Paul steering, Strom sitting in his great coat with fur collar and fur cap and the commander standing up beside his boat compass, glass slung around his neck and muffled in a heavy brown parka and brown fur cap with the tabs hanging over his ears.

THEN MOTOR DIES

Where we reached the barrier it was about thirty-five feet high, a steep wall of white snow outside the true barrier line, a wall in which the sharp lines of cleavage and the strata of many snowfalls could be seen distinctly. In some places masses of this stiff snow, partly formed into ice by pressure, was breaking away and leaning far out from the wall so that we did not get too near. There were many long stretches where it had peeled off entirely and the ice of the barrier could be seen shining with a

CHICAGO RAIDS FILL JAILS

Greatest Round-up Nets 3400 Suspects as Police Can't Find Any More to Arrest

CHICAGO, Jan. 31. (AP)—The city's lock-ups bulged and the police department fanned around in a frenzy of work today as it questioned, photographed and fingerprinted 3400 prisoners taken in Chicago's greatest hoodlum round-up.

Opened on Saturday night, the dragnet was folded up and put away for the time being only because raiding squads reported they could find no more suspects or underworld haunts that needed raiding.

Every police station in the city was jammed with suspects transported in wagon loads until the early hours of today. It is estimated three to four days will be needed to sift the crowd and make the necessary records.

STREAM OF LAWYERS

A stream of lawyers began to pour into the Criminal Courts Building with petitions for habeas corpus as soon as the doors were opened, but it soon became evident their jobs were difficult. State's Attorney Swanson requested judges, before whom petitions were heard, to take no action until police had ample time to investigate all those under arrest.

In the wholesale arrests police hope to find the solution of many of the crime mysteries unsolved. Of the first 800 examined, 235 were found to have records, and one, John Hawkins, long had been sought for the killing of Betty Chambers, hoodlum consort, whose body was found about a year ago in an apartment, her head plastered over with adhesive tape.

GANG LEADERS MISSING

Few of the prisoners were booked on specific charges, and most of them were held "open" on suspicion. Detectives explained the lack of gang leaders among the number, by the fact that they evidently had been informed the raids were in progress and had made for cover. Seventy-five shotguns, revolvers and pistols were seized in the raids. Only five women were taken in the

Women Set for Duel Over Man in Budapest

(Copyright, 1929, by New York Times)

VIENNA, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—An example of advanced feminism, combined with medievalism, comes from Budapest, where yesterday a duel was arranged between two women whose names are suppressed.

The wife of a prominent merchant at the Carlton Hotel for tea yesterday catching sight of a girl music teacher accused her of an affair with her husband, using insulting language. A few minutes later a third woman brought to the merchant's wife the teacher's challenge to a duel. The wife accepted and appointed her second also to arrange details.

Though duelling is tolerated in Hungary the public demands prohibition of the latest attempt to exercise the male privilege.

SENATE OUSTS JOHNSTON

Oklahoma Governor Suspended as Impeachment Proceedings Get Under Way

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 21. (AP)—Sweeping aside comparatively feeble opposition, the Oklahoma Senate late today suspended from office Gov. Henry S. Johnston less than a half hour after it had received five articles of impeachment voted last week by the House of Representatives.

In the swift-moving succession of events M. J. Holloway, Lieutenant-Governor, notified Johnston that he was assuming the duties of the gubernatorial office during the period of suspension, the Senate resolved itself into a court of impeachment and organized for the trial of the Governor and the House investigating committee, which returned the charges, resumed its inquiry into the affairs of State departments.

GOVERNOR BOWS

Asserting that although he felt the suspension had not been carried out in a legal manner, Gov. Johnston said he would not resist it. It was his contention that the Senate should not have received the impeachment charges until after it had resolved itself into a court and that his suspension by the Senate as such had no force. He said he would make no attempt to retain his office, however, as it would create a situation of dual government which he wished to avoid.

Acting Gov. Holloway, in the letter notifying Gov. Johnston of his assumption of the office, extended to him the privileges and use of the executive offices during the period of suspension. The acting Governor said he would continue to use the office of Lieutenant-Governor.

Although Gov. Johnston is a Democrat, opposition to his suspension was led in the Senate by a Republican, W. T. Clark of Medford. A resolution which would have pledged the Senate against suspension was introduced by Clark and Fletcher Johnson, Democrat, of Barstow, before the impeachment charges reached the Senate.

Clark contended that the personal integrity of the Governor had not been attacked and that no harm would be done by allowing him to continue in office. After the charges were received Johnston pressed for consideration of the resolution but

NORTH GETS WARNING OF MORE COLD

Mountains Snow Covered Throughout California as Frigid Spell Continues

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—With virtually every one of Northern and Central California's mountain tops whitened by snow and no change in temperature indicated, the Weather Bureau warned tonight that another spell of cold weather is here to stay for at least another forty-eight hours and perhaps longer.

Snow which has fallen generally in the higher altitudes for the last three days has provided winter sports abundantly for residents and has been joyfully received by power and water companies. From one to three feet has been recorded in the Siskiyous, Shastas and Sierras, giving promise of a normal pack for the spring run-off. On the other hand, forty-five inches at Summit, in the Sierras, is only slightly more than half the normal fall there at this time of the year, the normal amount being eighty-five inches. It was only 5 deg. above zero at Summit this afternoon, and Forecaster Boyle indicated more snow is imminent.

Frosts will be heavy throughout all of the territory north of the Tehachapi by tomorrow morning, he said, as they were this morning.

Kings Mountain, only 2800 feet high in San Mateo county, was blanketed with "white gold" over the week-end and was a mecca for residents of the district.

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 21. (AP)—Relief from the three-day grip of winter in the Pacific Northwest is seen tonight in the Weather Bureau's prediction of rain and rising temperature.

Heavy snow fell here today for nearly four hours, later turning to slush.

SEATTLE, Jan. 21. (AP)—The first snowfall of the season heavy enough to be recorded fell here today, but later turned to rain.

The coldest weather in the State was recorded in Yakima where it was 2 deg. below zero early today.

PRESIDENT OF STANFORD NEW INTERIOR SECRETARY

Hoover Selects Ray Lyman Wilbur; Mellon to Keep Treasury Post; Morrow in Kellogg's Place

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University since January, 1916, will be Secretary of the Interior in the Cabinet of President-elect Hoover after March 4, next, according to information from authoritative sources here. It is believed that the trustees of Stanford University will give President Wilbur a leave of absence or otherwise make it possible for him to accept the position without actually terminating his connection with the university.

As Secretary of the Interior Dr. Wilbur will co-operate with Herbert Hoover, the most distinguished graduate of the great California university, in a plan of reorganization which will transfer some of the offices from the Interior Department to the Department of Commerce and in making a more scientific and workable arrangement for the Interior Department.

One of the bureaus which will receive valuable aid from the new head of the Interior Department will be that of education, newly headed by Dr. William J. Cooper of California. This work will remain in the Interior Department and will be greatly enlarged in scope under future plans.

While the Senate today confirmed Roy O. West as Secretary of the Interior, he will remain in office only until March 4, when Dr. Wilbur will be here to take the oath of office.

MELLON TO REMAIN

Out of all the wild guesses as to the Cabinet it now can be stated that Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon will remain in the Hoover Cabinet at the head of the Treasury and will retain this post until the French debt is settled by a definite agreement with the United States. It is expected that he then will retire and possibly be succeeded by Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, who has been a loyal Hoover supporter from the very first announcement of his candidacy. Col. William J. Donovan of Buffalo, N. Y., now assistant to the Attorney-General, it now is believed, will be made Attorney-General in the Hoover Cabinet. Opposition to Donovan has been strenuous, but most of the opposition has disappeared and it is believed that he will succeed Sargent on March 4.

The certain appointment of Dr. Wilbur to the Interior Department apparently removes the possibility of Hugh S. Gibson of California becoming Secretary of State, as predicted in some of the New York papers today. Gibson is from California and a close friend of the President-elect. He now is the American diplomatic representative in Belgium.

MORROW SLATED

It is declared impossible for California to have more than one place in the Cabinet and that would bar anyone else now that Wilbur has been selected to head the Interior Department. Curtis D. Wilbur, now Secretary of the Navy, is slated for a position in the Federal judiciary.

With the elimination of Senator Borah and Henry Fletcher, United States Ambassador to Italy and a member of the Hoover good-will cruise to Pan America, it seems more and more certain that Dwight L. Morrow, now Ambassador of the United States to Mexico, will be the new Secretary of State. With Mrs. Morrow and members of his family he is on a vacation in Nassau and will be in conference with President-elect Hoover at the Penny home at Miami, Fla., before he returns to his post in Mexico. It is expected that Ambassador Morrow and his family will be house guests of President-elect and Mrs. Hoover during their stay in Florida.

While Morrow is reported to want to remain at his present post it is regarded certain that if he is offered the post of Secretary of State, he will accept. He has had long experience in Latin and South American affairs and will be invaluable in strengthening the prestige of the United States in all of the countries below the southern boundary of the United States.

FINANCIAL EXPERT

His world-wide financial experience will be of great value in that post and he will be relied on to aid the new President in ob-

WEST VOTED APPROVAL

Senate Confirms Secretary

Ballot Given Out as Being 54 for Chicago Man, With 27 Against

Clash Also Develops Over Breaking Secrecy of Fight on Floor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Roy O. West of Chicago was confirmed today as Secretary of the Interior by the Senate by an overwhelming vote after three days of discussion of his nomination in secret session.

The vote was reported as 54 to 27, but there were many conflicting reports on the actual number of ballots received by West, the range being between 52 and 55. The consensus of those emerging from the smoke-filled chamber when the doors finally were opened was that 54 to 27 was the result. Only a majority was necessary.

Republican independents who opposed the nominee because of his previous connections with the Samuel Insull power utility interests, made a determined last-minute effort to have the proceedings, including the roll call and the committee reports, made public. But they failed by close votes.

DENEEN LEADS FIGHT

Senators Deneen and Glenn, Republicans of Illinois, who conducted the case for West before the Senate, closed the argument today after Senators Blaine of Wisconsin, and Nye of North Dakota, had made another attack.

Appointed last August by President Coolidge to succeed Secretary Work when Work became chairman of the Republican National Committee, Mr. West's nomination was sent to the Senate early in December. He appeared at open hearings before the Senate Lands Committee and received a vote of 9 to 4 for confirmation there.

A number of Democrats joined with the Republican majority in the vote for confirmation. Senator Deneen recalled the testimony of West before the Lands Committee that the nominee had sold his investments in the Insull companies at the time he was appointed to the Cabinet. He said that over a period of twenty-six years West had invested about $67,000 in the Insull stocks which were sold for about $118,000.

Testifying before the Lands Committee West said that his law business for the Insull companies had been only of a "casual" nature.

Archeologists at Ur of Chaldees Unearth Tomb of Dead King's Slaughtered Retinue

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21. (AP)—A mammoth death-pit in which the bodies of forty-five victims, sacrificed in accordance with ancient Sumerian burial rites, were found amid an amazing wealth of gold, silver and semiprecious stones has been discovered in Ur of the Chaldees, home of Abraham, by the joint archeological expedition of the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the British Museum, it was announced today.

The death-pit is larger than any found heretofore in the 5000-year-old cemetery at Ur and although it has been only partly cleared, it already has yielded thirty-four gold head-dresses, inlaid pendants, wreaths and hair-ribbons, many silver combs and other ornaments, according to a report from C. Leonard Woolley, director of the expedition.

"The rim of a very large copper vessel was the first thing to be found," said the report. "Another vessel appeared next to it and then came the black stain of decayed wood. Very careful clearing here laid bare the perfect impressions of the wheels of a wagon, although the wagon itself had long since disappeared.

TEAM AND DRIVER

"In front of the impression lay the skeletons of two asses and a groom and among the bones could be seen the line of silver and lapis-lazuli beads which had decorated the reins. It was just such a wagon as we found in the grave of a king of Ur last season.

HARPS AND IMAGES

Three harps of unusual design and a pair of statues of rams which are made of gold, silver, white shell and lapis-lazuli also were found. These statues were described as "two of the most remarkable objects of antiquity that Sumeria has yet produced."

In reporting the discovery of the death-pit Mr. Woolley said that the pit should be the introduction to an actual tomb and that the workers now were digging down from the modern surface in the hope of finding a tomb beneath it.

"After penetrating further we found the skeletons of other animals, including sheep, a collection of copper vases and weapons and the bones of a man.

"Here was a novel feature. The bodies of the victim and the offer-

DEFENSE PLANS TRIAL STRATEGY

Two More Yet to Testify for Prosecution against Rosenberg, and it was testified at the present trial that Rosenberg said that he paid Keyes $125,000 to "fix" his case for him.

OTHER DEFENDANTS

The other defendants are Ben Getzoff, former proprietor of the tailor shop at 609 South Spring street, where the State asserts the bribery took place; Dave Getzoff, the tailor's son; Jack Rosenberg, Ed Rosenberg's brother, and Charles Riemer, former personal investigator for Keyes. Each is asserted by the State to have had a part in giving or receiving bribes.

TELL OF GIFTS

Before the State announced it was about ready to close its case yesterday, the prosecution placed on the stand a number of witnesses each of whom testified regarding expensive gifts that the prosecutors declare were given Keyes by various of the other defendants or others seeking to bribe him.

During the morning a succession of witnesses testified regarding the purchase and delivery of two automobiles to Keyes and his daughter—automobiles, whose combined prices totaled thousands of dollars, which the witnesses said were paid for by Ben Getzoff.

During the short afternoon session an automobile man and employees of a jewelry store added further testimony about the asserted gifts. The jewelers were called to give testimony regarding a $630 gold watch that the State asserts Ed Rosenberg gave to the former District Attorney.

John Conrique, a driver, testified that he accompanied the delivery man to the home of Keyes on March 9, 1928, where the Chevrolet cabriolet was delivered. He said that the car was left in front of the residence after some one came to the door and acknowledged the delivery.

WATCH ENGRAVING

Asa M. Bacon, a salesman for Brock & Co., jewelers, testified that he sold a $630 platinum wrist watch to a man who declined to give his name, but later said that it was "E. H. Lutze," and that a certain inscription was ordered engraved on the watch before delivery. The witness was unable to remember the entire engraving, but believed that it said "To A. K., one of the best fellows."

On cross-examination Attorney Davis asked both Jack and Ed Rosenberg to stand up so that the witness might identify the purchaser of the watch. Bacon was unable to make the identification, but was certain that Ed was not the buyer of the watch. He said, however, that Jack Rosenberg was about the type of man who bought the watch, and when Rosenberg, at the suggestion of the attorney, said to the witness: "Am I the man?" he answered, "I don't know."

COULDN'T REMEMBER

Attorney Davis attempted to get the witness to testify that the inscription on the watch read: "To A. K. A real heman. From E. H. R. 5-24-'28." Bacon declined to so testify, stating that he could not remember.

The manager of the repair department of the jewelry company, W. E. Welton, testified that the expensive wrist watch, which ne identified by the store's number scratched on the back of the cover, had been left in his care early in June by Keyes, whom he knows, for adjustment and regulation, and that it also had been there at another time for an unbreakable crystal, and as late as October 24, last year, to be cleaned and put in order. He was not cross-examined.

TELL ABOUT CARS

How Ben Getzoff, so-called payoff man in the bribery case, purchased a Lincoln club roadster for Asa Keyes and a smaller car for Keyes's daughter, Elizabeth, was told by State's witnesses, whose testimony furnished the outstanding interest during yesterday morning's court session.

W. L. Wilkes, automobile salesman for Maddux, Inc., Lincoln distributors, went on the stand and testified that on last July 17 or 18, about 9 a.m., Keyes and Getzoff made their appearance at the automobile agency. Wilkes met them at the door, he said, and showed them different models.

Three days later, the witness testified, he was called to Getzoff's office in the tailor shop and the tailor produced $5380 in cash—five $1000 bills, three $100 and some smaller bills—in payment for the club roadster.

While he was talking to Getzoff, Wilkes testified, Keyes came in and listened to the negotiations.

"They didn't know whose name to have the car registered in," asserted the witness, "but finally, as a favor to me, they decided to have it registered to Getzoff."

"MATCHED" FOR PROSPECT

The "favor to me," Wilkes explained, was because another salesman and himself had "matched" when Getzoff and Keyes first appeared at the automobile agency as to who was to get each prospective buyer and he had drawn Getzoff. If the car was registered to Keyes the other salesman would have drawn the commission, and Wilkes thought he was entitled to it because he had actually made the sale.

At any rate, Wilkes further explained, he saw that the automobile was serviced and delivered it the same day it was purchased to Keyes at the latter's home in Beverly Hills.

"Keyes came out to the sidewalk as I drove up," said the witness. "I explained the operation of the car to him. We drove around the block and I gave the keys to him and left."

Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, was then placed on the stand and testified that an application for automobile insurance taken out August 9, 1928, through the Automobile Club of Southern California, and which stated among other things that the machine in question was "fully paid for by assured," was signed by Asa Keyes.

There was no cross-examination of Wilkes and Carlson's testimony stood without questioning by defense counsel.

CHAUFFEUR TESTIFIES

Armand Fischer, county chauffeur, who asserted that he acted as driver for Keyes during 1928, then testified that he drove Keyes in a county car down to Getzoff's tailor shop "practically every day" during July, 1928, and that on two occasions he used the county machine to take Getzoff about the city at Keyes's order. Fischer recalled seeking the Lincoln roadster standing in front of Keyes's house and also remembered being sent for a watch (the State claims it was given Keyes by Ed Rosenberg) to a downtown jewelry shop and returning it to Peggy Robinson, Keyes's secretary.

The next automobile man on the stand was Irving Rich, salesman for the W. B. Felix Company, Chevrolet dealers. Rich said he got a telephone call from Getzoff's tailor shop on March 9, 1928, and immediately went down there. As a result of his conversation with Getzoff the tailor returned to the automobile agency with him and a discussion of price and the time of delivery was entered into.

Getzoff, it was asserted, wanted to pay the price of a cabriolet model, but wanted the extra equipment thrown in free.

WANTED REDUCTION

Rich testified he could not guarantee this, and introduced Getzoff to Charles Schonlaw, sales manager for the automobile concern. Getzoff renewed his proposition to the sales manager, the testimony continued, and walked out of the store when it was refused, only to return a few minutes later and agree to take the car at the price asked by the automobile company.

Rich and Schonlaw, both of whom were on the stand, corroborated each other on the following incidents:

That Getzoff paid for the car with cash.

"The price was $862 and Getzoff pulled a roll from his right-hand trousers pocket and extracted a $1000 bill," said Schonlaw.

"I know it was his right-hand pocket because of that $1000 bill," verified Rich.

Schonlaw then wrote out a buying order and asked Getzoff to sign.

"He said he wouldn't sign anything," testified the sales manager, "but that he was buying the car for his daughter, Elizabeth Keyes, and that I could sign her name to it myself."

Getzoff then asked that the automobile be registered in Elizabeth Keyes's name and delivered to 305 East Avenue 31, the residence address of Keyes at that time.

There was no cross-examination of Rich and only one or two questions asked Schonlaw.

DAVIS STEPS DOWN

Cross-examination of Harold L. Davis, former chief deputy District Attorney under Keyes, was completed shortly after court convened yesterday morning. Davis had been on the stand since Friday afternoon.

In response to questioning by Attorney Le Compte Davis, Keyes's former aid testified Ed Rosenberg (whom the State claims produced money to bribe Keyes and against whom Keyes tried to have the Julian case charges dismissed,) worked with the District Attorney's office when the Julian case investigation began and gave them information.

"Wouldn't it have been impossible to have gotten the indictments without such information, and didn't Keyes point that out?" demanded the defense attorney.

"I wouldn't say it was as strong as that; I disagreed with him (Keyes) on that," returned the witness.

"Did Keyes ever seek to keep you from introducing evidence against Rosenberg or Jacob Berman?" continued the lawyer.

"No, sir, he didn't," replied Davis.

The witness said he could only recall being in Getzoff's tailor shop twice after the Julian trial had ended, but admitted later that he could not be certain that it wasn't more often. State's witnesses have testified that Davis was there on other occasions than he recalled, but the witness maintained that their testimony didn't "refresh" his memory on the occasions.

SOLOMON'S WIFE ENDS PUBLICITY

It Seems Story That Her Tomb Had Been Found Was Fiction in Palestine

JERUSALEM, Jan. 21. (AP)—A story published by the Cairo newspaper Al Mokattam and the London Daily Mail telling of the finding here of the mummy of King Solomon's favorite wife and of a scroll giving details of her tragic death turned out to be pure fiction.

The story appeared as a piece of fiction in a Palestine weekly some weeks ago and described the sensation which arose when the Jerusalem government received a report that a golden coffin containing the mummy had been found at Mount Ophel, where the ruins of the old city of David, really had been discovered.

Arab journalists apparently took the fiction story seriously and Al Mokattam published it yesterday, although it then was some weeks old.

Chinese Plans Pacific Flight

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21. (AP)—Maj. Tien Lai-Huang, 27-year-old Chinese aviator and author, announced here yesterday that he plans to return to his native country by flying across the Pacific from one of the California air fields.

The proposed flight, he said, will not be a nonstop attempt, but landings will be made at Hawaii and the Midway Islands. He said the total distance will be about 9000 miles.

CAR DEALS TOLD BRIBE JURY

Automobile Men Detail Transactions Asserted to Have Been Engineered by Getzoff

Two asserted transactions in which Ben Getzoff figured as the purchaser of a high-priced automobile for Asa Keyes and one for the former District Attorney's daughter, Miss Elizabeth Keyes, are revealed in the official transcript of the testimony by salesmen before Superior Judge Butler yesterday.

At the bribery and conspiracy trial of the former official and five others, W. L. Wilkes, a Lincoln automobile salesman, testified that he waited on Keyes and Getzoff in the purchase of a green club roadster, which Wilkes said was delivered to Keyes's Beverly Hills home.

In the second asserted automobile purchase, Charles Schonlaw, Chevrolet sales manager, testified that Getzoff came to his place of business, paid for a Chevrolet cabriolet, ordered it in the name of Elizabeth Keyes and had it delivered to 305 Avenue 31, which, the prosecution asserts, was Keyes's former home.

THEIR TESTIMONY

The transcript testimony of Wilkes and Schonlaw follows in part:

THE CLERK: State your name, please.

A.: W. L. Wilkes.

Q.: What is your business or occupation?

A.: An automobile salesman.

Q.: Were you working in and around the sales room of Maddux, Inc., on or about the 17th or 18th of July, 1928?

A.: Yes, I was.

Q.: On or about the 17th or 18th of July, 1928, did you see any of the defendants in this case in the sales room?

A.: Yes, sir, I did.

Q.: Who were they?

A.: I didn't know at that time. I later learned they were Mr. Getzoff and Mr. Keyes.

Q.: Which Mr. Getzoff, the elder or the younger?

A.: The elder.

Q.: Did you have any conversation with either of them at that time?

A.: I did.

Q.: With whom?

A.: With both.

Q.: Any conversation then with respect to their preference for cars?

A.: No, they wanted to see a roadster so I took them to the Ford warehouse at Seventh and Santa Fe, the Ford Motor Company, Lincoln division.

Q.: And what transpired there?

A.: I had one roadster down there that did not seem to interest them at all, and I brought them back to the place, and I had what we call a club roadster or coupe there, two of them.

Q.: Now, up to that time, Mr. Wilkes, had you learned from either of the defendants, Mr. Keyes or Getzoff, who they were?

A.: No.

Q.: What transpired after you then returned to the sales-room floor?

LEFT PHONE NUMBER

A.: Well, I walked to the front door with them and they left me, and Mr. Getzoff gave me his telephone number and told me to call him later.

Q.: Did you see him?

A.: Yes.

Q.: Where?

A.: In the tailor shop at Sixth and Spring.

Q.: What did he say to you with reference to the automobile, and what happened there?

A.: Well he said he wanted that green club roadster, as we termed it, and asked me the price and said that he wanted some certain equipment put on it and so forth and to get it ready as soon as possible.

Q.: And what price did you quote him for the automobile?

A.: I think all told it came to about $5380.

Q.: Were there any papers signed by Mr. Getzoff at that time?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And what paper was signed by him?

A.: The order for the car.

Q.: Did Mr. Getzoff pay you any money at that time?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: In what amount?

A.: $5,380.

Q.: And in what form did he pay it to you?

A.: Five $1000 bills, three $100 bills, a fifty and three tens.

NAMED KEYES

Q.: Now after the money had been paid to you, did you have any conversation with Mr. Getzoff with respect to the person to whom the car should be delivered?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And what did he say about that?

A.: He told me where to take the car when it was ready.

Q.: Where did he tell you to take it?

A.: He gave me the address out on Rodeo Drive.

Q.: Beverly Hills?

A.: Yes.

Q.: Did he say who resided at that place?

A.: Yes.

Q.: Who did he say resided there?

A.: Mr. Keyes.

Q.: What did he tell you to do with the car with respect to delivery?

A.: He told me to take it out there as soon as I could, that they were in a hurry for it.

Q.: What, if any conversation did you have with Mr. Getzoff concerning registration of the car?

A.: Well, they didn't know just in whose name they were going to put it in, and finally decided they would put it in Mr. Keyes' name, and as a favor to me they put it in Mr. Getzoff's name.

Q.: Why do you say as a favor to you Mr. Getzoff?

HE WON KEYES

A.: I was on the floor that morning with my partner. We hadn't had a chance to match to see who was up on the door at the time when they came in. When I came back from the warehouse, I matched with the man on the door to see who takes the door on the half-hour up and half-hour down. Anyway, he won Mr. Keyes and I won Mr. Getzoff. I knew if this car was purchased in the name of Keyes I would lose it. I asked him to put Mr. Getzoff's name on it and transfer it later. I was really entitled to the deal, because the fellow was not on the door and was not on the floor where he should have been.

Q.: After your conversation with Mr. Getzoff, what did you do with respect to directing the preparation of the car for delivery?

A.: I spent the whole day getting it ready, and about 6 o'clock at night I drove it out.

Q.: Where did you drive it?

A.: Beverly Hills, Rodeo Drive—to an address on Rodeo Drive.

Q.: Did you see any person there on your arrival?

A.: Yes.

Q.: Who did you see?

A.: I saw Mr. Keyes.

Q.: Did you have any conversation with him there at that time?

A.: I went over the car with him and explained it to him, and drove him around the block and delivered the deeds to him.

CROSS EXAMINATION

By Mr. Rush:

Q.: This conversation you had at the time the car was purchased at Ben Getzoff's office you say occurred between Mr. Getzoff and yourself?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Mr. Keyes was not present at that time?

A.: He came in later.

Q.: Not at the time the negotiations were had. And all the negotiations for the trade and the direction and consummation of the trade were made between Mr. Getzoff and yourself?

A.: Yes, sir.

(At this point in the hearing of the testimony, Milton Carlson, a handwriting expert, was called to the stand. He asserted that former official signatures of "Asa Keyes" compared exactly with the name "Asa Keyes" signed on an application for automobile insurance.)

THE CLERK: What is your name, please?

A.: Charles Schonlaw.

BY MR. SIMPSON:

Q.: What is your business or occupation?

A.: Manager for Winslow B. Felix, Chevrolet.

Q.: Do you know the defendant, Ben Getzoff?

A.: I believe I do.

Q.: And at the time of that introduction did you have any conversation with Mr. Getzoff?

A.: I did.

Q.: Well state what he said?

A.: He said he wanted to buy this cabriolet with the bumpers and the extra tire on it for $816, and I explained to him that the price was $862, I think, and he insisted that Mr. Rich gave him that price of $816 and he wanted to buy it for that price and he said that that was the only way that he would buy it.

Q.: What did you say?

A.: I told him that we could not possibly give him the accessories.

Q.: Then what happened?

HE COMES BACK

A.: Well he got about as far as across the street, and he walked back and he came to me and he said, "Just how much will this car cost me?" and I said, "Step in the office and we will figure it out," and we went in and I figured it out and he said, "All right; I will take it."

Q.: And at that time did you have any conversation with Mr. Getzoff with respect to for whom he was buying the car?

A.: I believe he said he was buying the car for his daughter.

Q.: Did he give you the name of the person or the address of the person to whom the car was to be registered?

A.: He did.

Q.: What name did he give you?

A.: Elizabeth Keyes, K-e-y-e-s.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSH: Q.: Is it a fact that according to the system you used in conductifg your business there at that time that when a car was sold you wanted a written order for the car?

A.: Yes.

Q.: I understand that when you asked him the question as to who it was to be registered for that he spelled out the name.

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: As far as Elizabeth Keyes was concerned, she was not there, whoever she was?

A.: No, sir.

Q.: And didn't sign that?

A.: No, sir.

Q.: And so far as you know, never saw it in her life?

A.: No, sir.

ANOTHER WITNESS

John Conrique testified as follows:

The Clerk: What is your name?

A.: John Conrique.

Q.: Where were you employed or working about the 9th day of March, 1928?

A.: I was working for Winslow B. Felix.

Q.: Are they the people who handle Chevrolet automobiles in Los Angeles?

A.: Yes.

Q.: Did you know another man working there, Sylvester Hargan, who was commonly known as "Syl"?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Do you remember having assisted him or helping him in making delivery of a Chevrolet cabriolet on or about March 9, 1928?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And where did he take the new Chevrolet, do you know?

A.: Well, he take him up to 305 Avenue 31.

MELLON AGAIN RAPS DRY FUND

His Reply to Bishop Cannon Says Courts Jammed

Secretary Asserts Proposed $25,000,000 "Unwise"

Methodist Board Sides in With Treasury Chief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Emphasizing that the Federal courts are unable to try all the cases prepared under the national prohibition law, Secretary Mellon today wrote Bishop James Cannon, Jr., that it would be unwise to place $25,000,000 in the hands of any executive officer to use with "unlimited discretion" to enforce the prohibition law.

The Secretary's letter was in a reply to a telegram from Bishop Cannon, Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the Anti-Saloon League, and Eugene L. Crawford, secretary of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. They had urged Secretary Mellon to reconsider his action of declining at the present time an additional appropriation of $25,000,000 for dry law enforcement.

At the same time the publicity department of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in an article published today, declared that "we do not believe that $25,000,000 can be wisely used by the prohibition unit at this time."

STAND EXPLAINED

Secretary Mellon said that in his opinion it would be unwise to place so much money at the disposal of any executive official because the safeguards which should surround the expenditure of public money could not be provided under such circumstances. He added that it would tend to break down the safeguards of the budget system and said it would violate a fundamental principle of government.

The Secretary declared he believed that more would be lost than gained if a fundamental principle is violated for the purpose of accomplishing immediately some improvement in the prohibition or any other field. He also said that the Harris amendment would make the money available only for the prohibition bureau and that the customs and Coast Guard services would need strengthening to accomplish the purpose desired. He added that there now are pending 21,000 prohibition cases in Federal courts with no relief in sight.

The Secretary's letter read:

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of the 18th inst., in which you suggest that the appropriation of $25,000,000 for the prohibition bureau as contained in the so-called Harris amendment to the first deficiency bill be made available so as to expend as the Secretary of the Treasury may determine and in which you also suggest that the seal on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury to secure adequate enforcement may well be questioned if he refuses the opportunity offered by the Harris amendment.

"As I pointed out in my letter of the 12th inst. to Senator Warren, prohibition enforcement does not rest solely upon the bureau of prohibition, but its success depends largely on the co-operation afforded by the Coast Guard, the customs service and the border patrol, and, what is even of more importance, on the possibility of bringing to trial cases prepared by the prohibition bureau and ready for trial.

FEAR EXPRESSED

"I note that in your telegram you suggest that the restrictions be removed and that $25,000,000 be made available to the Secretary of the Treasury to spend as he sees fit.

"This, of course, is not the Harris amendment now pending in Congress, and aside from the fact that it would make no provision whatsoever for relieving the congestion in the courts, which today constitutes one of the major problems in the field of prohibition enforcement, I want to suggest whether you consider it good practice to place so vast a sum in the hands of a public official with unlimited discretion as to its use! It makes no difference whether that official be the Secretary of the Treasury or some other chief of an executive department of government, I do not believe that adequate protection of the public interest and the proper safeguards that should always surround the expenditures of public funds can fairly be said to have been provided for if an appropriation of this character is made.

"Such a program would break down the safeguards of the budget system, and the effective and proper control which Congress exercises over the expenditure of public funds. I think that upon second consideration you will realize that this is not a minor question, but a fundamental one, and that in the long run, whether in the prohibition field or in any other field of government, infinitely more is lost than gained if for the sake of accomplishing immediately a purpose, no matter how desirable, a fundamental principle of good government and sound practices is violated."

METHODIST ATTITUDE

The statement of the Methodist board of temperance and public morals, of which Clarence True Wilson is general secretary, said that the proposal of Senator Harris of Georgia, which would add the $25,000,000 to the enforcement fund, is "evidence of a sincere determination on the part of Congress that the law be enforced."

"If and when measures are taken to relieve congestion in the Federal courts," the board said, "substantial additional sums might be used to the advantage of the country.

"However, there is no doubt that the funds appropriated for prohibition enforcement are insufficient. Several million dollars at least, could be used in educational and investigation activities."

The statement said that a study should be made of the whole field of law enforcement to determine the needs of the Department of Justice, Coast Guard and prohibition unit.

"Whatever appropriations are necessary for effective co-ordinated effort should eventually be made and no doubt will be made. Those sums, however, should cover only the legitimate activities of the Federal government."

The board statement termed the "insincere proposal" of Senator Bruce of Maryland to appropriate $300,000,000 for prohibition enforcement a "publicity stunt in keeping with the fanatical record of that retiring Senator."

BLAINE ORATES ON PROHIBITION TOPIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Tales of the stringent laws of Puritan days in New England and racy stories of "dry voting" legislators who were intoxicated when they voted for prohibition bills filled the records of the Senate today as Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, talked for nearly three hours while the advocates of the naval cruiser bill stood by impatiently.

As the Wisconsin Senator continued, Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia, author of the proposal to boost prohibition enforcement funds by $25,000,000 abandoned hope for a vote on this question but expressed the conviction that the Senate will approve it tomorrow. The Georgia Senator, however, is of the opinion that the vote will be close.

To vote on the Harris proposal, however, the Senate first would have to defeat a substitute by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, to provide $1,250,000 for dissemination of information regarding law observance and to increase the force of prohibition field workers. A favorable vote on this proposal automatically would kill the Harris amendment.

In event that both the Harris and Jones proposals are rejected the Senate then would have an opportunity to vote on the amendment of Senator Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, to provide $250,000 for the President to carry out a searching investigation of prohibition conditions. It is the opinion of some Senators that the Glass amendment ultimately will be accepted as a compromise.

Senator Blaine made an extended attack on laws which he said invade a person's right to liberty. He declared it is impossible to make sinful and criminal certain acts of the individual by legislating them to be so.

During his discussion he told a story of a prohibition-enforcement official in Wisconsin who, when a member of the State Legislature, was taken home in a taxicab after voting for a prohibition bill because Blaine declared, "He was not able to get home any other way."

QUESTION MARK NEAR CRASH

Forced Landing in Texas Fog Ends Only Five Feet from Gate Post

MIDLAND (Tex.) Jan. 21. (AP)—The record-breaking army endurance airplane Question Mark came within five feet of crashing into a fence when low hanging fogs foced it to land three miles from Midland airport this afternoon on its flight to the Atlantic Coast.

The clear skies and high visibility that had favored the ship on its 540-mile hop from Tucson, Ariz., this morning gave way to low hanging clouds with fringes of fog about ninety miles west of Midland and the plane was forced lower and lower.

Finally, in order to see the pipe line of an oil company which it was following, the craft was skimming from fifty to seventy-five feet above the ground.

Although the ship was rolling along at ninety miles an hour, Capt. Ira Eaker, at the controls, was forced to pick his way by swinging in a progression of circles and playing a game with the vapor in which every yard was contested.

LANDING MADE

As the cloud masses pressed closer and closer Capt. Eaker decided to play safe and utilize a natural landing field which he saw through a rift in the fog and which he thought was large enough to land on safely.

The ship touched the ground perfectly and taxied forward through the mist with Eaker tugging at the brakes with all of his might. The plane finally came to rest five feet to the left of a tall gate, the top of which was just cleared by one wing of the plane. Maj. Carl Spatz, Capt. Eaker and H. J. Adamson, attached to the office of Assistant Secretary of War Davison, stepped out of the cabin and just as they did so the fog lifted sufficiently to reveal the hangars of the Midland Airport, the plane's objective, less than three miles to the south.

PASS OVER PORT

Eaker, in one of his flying circles, had passed over the airport, and spectators gathered to greet the ship heard the drone of the motors and saw the plane dimly through the fog, but the crew members were unaware that they were above their destination.

Spectators saw the plane drop out of the fog and came from the airport to the Crowley ranch in automobiles. Maj. Spatz decided that there was sufficient room for a takeoff and the Question Mark flew to the Midland Airport. The forced landing was made at 3:05 p.m., and the wheels of the plane touched ground at the Midland Airport at 3:30 p.m.

"There was nothing to worry about," Maj. Spatz said. "This part of Texas is an enormous landing field. We were close enough to the ground to see it most of the time and we could have landed at will."

TAKES ON GAS

The Question Mark left Tucson at 8 a.m., mountain time and in compliance with requests of disabled soldiers it circled the Tucson Veterans' Hospital before winging its way east, accompanied by refueling plane No. 1, piloted by Capt. Ross G. Hoyt, with Lieut. Elwood R. Quesada and Staff Sergeant Roy Hooe as a temporary refueling crew. The plane carried 170 gallons of gasoline to be delivered to the Question Mark when requested.

This request came over Columbus, N. M., and the transfer was made in six minutes without difficulty, at an altitude of 6000 feet. The refueling plane then speeded up and reached the Midland Field just before the fog closed down.

As soon as he landed Capt. Eaker started for San Angelo by automobile to attend the funeral of his mother, who died at her home at Eden, Tex., yesterday. He will return tomorrow morning, when both planes, weather permitting, will take off for the trip to Shreveport, La. No stops will be made for fuel. From Shreveport the plane will go to Washington by way of Montgomery, Ala.

EAKER'S MOTHER BURIED WHILE CAPTAIN FIGHTS FOG

SAN ANGELO (Tex.) Jan. 21. (AP) While her son, Capt. Ira C. Eaker, was battling fog near Midland in the army airplane Question Mark, Mrs. Y. J. Eaker, mother of the famous pilot, was buried in the cemetery at Eden, near here, today.

Capt. Eaker's father is in a local hospital with mastoid trouble and was unable to attend the funeral.

Capt. Eaker came directly to San Angelo from Midland after landing his plane there, and went to the bedside of his father. He did not know whether he would have an opportunity to visit Eden before returning to his post in the eastbound Question Mark tomorrow morning.

Court Forbids Texas Tax on Gas for Army

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Supreme Court today held that Texas is prohibited from taxing gasoline bought in the State for use on military reservations.

The Texas tax of 1 cent a gallon on all gasoline sold in the State was attacked by the Grayburg Oil Company of San Antonio, on the ground that the State could not tax the gasoline the company sold to the government at Fort Sam Houston.

COURT TO RULE ON VETO SCOPE

Validity of "Pocket" Plan to be Decided at Last

Definition of "Adjournment" Will Settle Question

Issue Long Has Been Center of Technical Debate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The validity of the Presidential pocket veto of legislation at the end of any session except the concluding session of a Congress is to be decided by the Supreme Court.

Since adoption of the Constitution this has been a disputed point and the court announced today that it will pass on the question in a case affecting a group of Indian tribes in the State of Washington.

The decision is expected to be a controlling factor in the controversy over the Norris Muscle Shoals resolution which was enacted last session, but which never was signed by President Coolidge.

MOOTS QUESTION

On the question of legislation becoming a law without the signature of the President, the Constitution says:

"If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law."

The controversy has developed over the construction to be placed on the word "adjournment." Attorneys-General repeatedly have advised Presidents that the end of any session of Congress constitutes an adjournment in the sense in which this word is used in the Constitution.

The Judiciary Committee of the House and a number of constitutional authorities, however, take a contrary view, insisting that the word "adjournment" as used in the Constitution applies only to the final adjournment of a Congress and not to an adjournment between sessions of a Congress.

ANOTHER CONTENTION

Under the Constitution, each Congress must have at least two sessions, a long session and a short session. In addition, however, a Congress may have one or more other sessions. It is the contention of the House committee that the Constitution's provision can apply only to a concluding session.

It is the argument of this committee and those supporting its position that, for example, the Muscle Shoals bill could have been returned to Congress on its convening last December. They point out that the bill was passed last spring in the closing days of the first session of the present Congress, the seventieth, and that the same Congress again is in session and thereby could have received a veto message from the President setting forth his objections to the measure.

River Pact Ratification Sought in Bills

House Appoints Committee to Study Phases

Arizona Group Arrives to Confer With Dern

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—With two members of the Arizona Colorado River Commission here the special guests of Gov. Dern, a telegram from Fred I. Colter, Phoenix, former Arizona State Senator, appealing to the Legislature of Utah not to enact six-State pact legislation, and two bills introduced in the House affecting future action, Boulder dam jumped into the middle of things here today.

Commissioners Heard and Murphy were met by Gov. Dern, escorted about the Capitol where they met the members of House and Senate, but all this only brought forth a brief statement from Mr. Heard, who said:

"We are here for a conference with Gov. Dern to try to work out a friendly understanding which will lead to early Colorado River development on a basis just to our State and which, after a tri-State compact among Arizona, Nevada and California has been reached will lead to seven States ratification of the Colorado River compact."

TEXT OF MESSAGE

Colter's telegram, sent to both House and Senate, reads as follows: "Arizona citizens are compelled to fight to a finish in the courts the Santa Fe pact or tri-State compact, so please do not ratify Colorado River Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill, which ruins Arizona and maximum development of river by deeding seven-eighth of Arizona water to Mexico, the wrong end first for development. We are willing to guarantee Utah and upper States all future water forever within the basin by new seven-State pact which would not upset our water laws and Federal Constitution." Colter, in signing, styles himself "president of the Arizona Reclamation Association and official commissioner to oppose the Swing-Johnson bill."

The telegram was filed in both houses without comment.

Commissioners Heard and Murphy, commenting on the Colter telegram, said he represents only a very small fraction of the sentiment of the people of Arizona. He is in favor of the high-line idea, which is an absurd and impossible proposition. The organization of which he claims to be head has little or no membership and he created it himself.

They also pointed out Colter had been defeated as State Senator.

RATIFICATION ASKED

The two bills offered call for approval and ratifying the Colorado River compact upon similar action of the six other States which have ratified it.

In the House a special committee was named to have placed before it all Boulder dam matters and to exercise diligence in placing before the House any and all data connected therewith. The committee is: L. J. Hoither, David Hirschi, S. M Jorgensen, A. M. Mellor, I. A. Smoot, W. D. Hammond and Frank Eastman.

ARIZONA SENATE PASSES RIVER BILL

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 21. (AP)—The bill introduced by Senator Favour, Yavapai, creating a new Colorado River commission, which delegates to Gov. Phillips the power to appoint four others to form, with himself, the personnel of the body, was passed by the Senate of the ninth Arizona Legislature shortly after noon today. The vote was fifteen to three, with one member absent.

The Favour bill carries with it an appropriation of $100,000 for the expenses of the commission, and empowers it to file actions at law, if necessary, to uphold the rights of this State. It was signed, immediately following the vote, by President of the Senate Hill.

BITTER FIGHT

The measure was bitterly fought from the floor by Senators St. Charles of Mohave county and Farmer of Yuma, with Senator St. Charles carrying the burden of the battle. He held the floor for more than an hour in an appeal that the bill be defeated.

St. Charles said there is adequate time before its term of office expires for the present Colorado River Commission to enter into negotiations and complete a tri-State pact with California and Nevada. He asserted that the $15,000 remaining in the present appropriation is an ample sum to cover the expenses incident to such an agreement.

Demanding that the Legislature absolutely refuse to permit the filing of a suit against the Federal government, and insisting that the whole movement in favor of the appointment of a new commission is the work of politicians supported by the power trust, Senator St. Charles declared that every obstruction to the ratification of the original Colorado River compact had been the work of politicians and propagandists.

MONEY SPENT

"These men have been going around in circles and spending the people's money," he said, "and naturally they are anxious to have more of the people's money to spend. Why should we go down into the pockets of the people of the State of Arizona to perpetuate these funds?"

Senator Farmer's argument against the bill was brief. He opposed a new appropriation at this time and deplored the fact that the new commission would be given the power to enter into court action. Senator Bettey of Santa Cruz, the third member to vote against the bill, made no statement as to his opposition.

A last-minute effort to amend the bill to make the commission one of eight members was made by Senator Ross of Cochise county. This failed to carry.

BILL PERMITS TWO-STATE PACT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Taylor bill to authorize Colorado and Utah to work out a compact for the division of waters of streams in which they are interested was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate. The principal streams that would be affected by the compact are the Colorado, Green, Bear, White, San Juan and Dolores rivers.

NEW POPULATION FOR BAY CITY

Chamber of Commerce Says 756,188 Now Live in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—The Chamber of Commerce today estimated San Francisco's population the 1st inst. as 756,188.

The figure was reached by averaging estimates based on school attendance, telephones, gas, electricity and water consumers; names in the City Directory, and families accommodated by new buildings.

Based on these factors, the increase in the last year is 14,125. United States Census Bureau estimates of July 1, 1928, placed the city's population then at 585,330. It was protested as far too low.

Thin Ice Costs Lives of Youths

SEATTLE, Jan. 21. (AP)—Thin ice claimed four lives in Seattle lakes tonight, when three boys, who had ventured too far out from shore on the thin covering of Green Lake, broke through and plunged to their deaths. Winston Churchill, 20 years of age, a messenger boy, was drowned when his motorcycle on which he was attempting to ride across Mud Lake broke through and hurled him into twenty feet of water.

The victims of the triple tragedy on Green Lake were: John Baer, 19 years of age, son of Mrs. M. Baer; Charles Daugherty, 12, son of Mrs. Margaret Daugherty, and Robert Sorenson, 12, name of parents and address unknown.

The trio had walked out on the thin sheet of ice that extends for about 100 yards over Green Lake when the ice gave way. Baer was the first to break through.

BOULDER MAKES LAS VEGAS HUM

Influx at Town Near Dam Site Fills Hotels

Newspapers Boom as Eager Readers Seek "Latest"

Then Comes Real Estaters, Well, They're Busy, Too

BY BEN S. LEMMON

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—After 6 p.m. it is pretty hard to engage a room in this town right now. Obliging taxi drivers hover near the downtown hotels and will transport you to private homes they "know about" where rooms for the night may be rented for $2 per up to $5.

Las Vegas is booming in anticipation of the construction of the Boulder dam. No one is worried about eventual ratification by at least six States. Everyone is quite confident that Gov. Dern of Utah will do as he last promised to do, that is: urge immediate ratification by Utah, which will cinch ratification, if it develops that Arizona is going to persist in stubborn hostility to early agreement.

In Los Angeles it is common report that 5000 people are living in tents in Las Vegas right now. That is a slight exaggeration. It isn't that bad. But there are several hundreds of persons temporarily domiciled in tents and shacks and not a few have found it more desirable to curl up in their cars for a little repose than to accept what was left in the way of hotel accommodations after nightfall on the desert.

HOTELS DOING "VERY WELL"

eYs, the hotels are all doing well, thank you. Also the cafes, the garages, the taxicabs and—let's not forget—the real estaters. The two newspapers also are humming with activity, but increased circulation, number of editions per week and number of pages per edition do not spell newspaper profits unless advertising rates keep pace with distribution. And so far, this is not the case. A few months ago, the Las Vegas Age, published by Charles P. Squires, was putting out two papers a week, four pages to each issue, circulation about 800. Now the Age comes out three times a week, runs ten or twelve pages to the edition and has 2200 circulation.

"It's a little more of a load than our equipment can stand," said Col. Squires, a popular citizen of Las Vegas, member of the Colorado River Commission and fine old-school gentleman. "You see we can print only two pages at a time at present and it's no easy trick to set up and make ready and print thirty to thirty-six pages a week with the equipment and manpower formerly used for only eight pages. However, we have managed to do it some way and pretty soon we expect to have new quarters, new presses and a lot of new equipment. We feel sure that Las Vegas is going to grow rapidly."

SIT UP TO GET PAPER

The other Las Vegas newspaper, the Review, also comes out three times a week and is expanding rapidly in circulation and advertising patronage. Both papers are remarkably well edited and newsy for a town of 6000 people. As one or the other of them comes out every day in the week, Las Vegas has daily local newspaper information and craves it, as evidenced by the fact that a good proportion of the fixed and floating population of the town sat up till after 11 o'clock Saturday night awaiting the belated appearance of the Age, which should have been "out" at 4 o'clock, but suffered an "accident to the press."

The hotels are jammed every day. There are scores of automobiles loaded with passengers departing every day; but just as many more arrive.

"They come and go," said the manager of the Overland, "but the demand always exceeds the supply. We turn dozens of would-be guests away every night and I understand the other leading hotels do the same."

Inquiry develops this to be the case at the Nevada, the Las Vegas, the Golden, Squires and other hotels. The smaller places—which would be known as rooming-houses in Los Angeles—also are crowded. One new hotel, owned by a colored woman whose finances became exhausted before she could finish furnishing her place, is finding it increasingly easy to rent its partly furnished rooms without heat, hot water or service.

NOW AS TO REALTY MEN

The real estate men are active, excited, optimistic and prosperous. They are making from $5000 to $10,000 each per month in commissions and bonuses. They dash in and out of their offices and the hotels in a manner indicative that time is money to them, sure enough. Mostly they are selling business property and close-in lots and acreage.

They haven't time to talk anything but immediate sales. They are reaping a rich harvest right now when the town is filled up seven days a week with speculators and business men from all over the Pacific Southwest looking for openings for branch stores, restaurants, rooming-houses, confectionaries, or what would you advise?

The real estaters are not working exactly in harmony. They suspect one another, apparently. When two of them with kindred interests get together, they speak in whispers and with many covert glances over their shoulders.

"I closed three deals this morning," I overheard one perspiring salesman tell another, evidently his "boss." "Here are the checks. I'm going to take that Oregon prospect out to the tract now. See you in half an hour."

REVOLT ENDED IN GUATEMALA

Swift Federal Action Puts Rebels to Flight

Two Captured Cities Soon Retaken by Army

Execution of Leader Said to Have Occurred

GUATEMALA CITY, Jan. 21. (AP) The government today announced that the revolt which blazed forth briefly in two Pacific provinces had been completely ended. The cities of Quezaltenango and Retalhuleu, which had been the chief conquest of the rebels, were reoccupied today without a fight, although the Federal forces previously had launched a severe attack with airplanes and artillery.

Leadership of the revolt was attributed to Juan F. Rivas. Planting of a bomb at a point where President Lazaro Chacon was to pass was believed to be part of the plot. The war broke out on last Thursday night, and by the following day the government had its forces in the field and was regaining the ground taken in the surprise attacks of the insurgents.

Dispatches to Mexico City papers tonight said that Col. Leonardo and another revolutionary leader had been executed summarily after the Federal troops took Mazatenango yesterday. The rebel Col. Baudilie Santos, who commanded the city after its capture by the rebels, was reported to have fled with twenty men.

EVERY YEAR LEAP YEAR TO WIDOWS

Bachelor-Author Finds This to be Case as Sketch Starts Proposal Rush

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Leap year may be over for some, but not for the widows. Every year is leap year for them, according to the author of a sketch entitled, "Reveries of a Bachelor." He is Albert E. Jessurum, philanthropist and clubman, and scarcely had his brochure come off the press until the telephone began to ring and a deluge of letters poured in on him.

"Those who did not want money wanted marriage," he said today. "There were so many proposals that I must confess I still am dizzy. One demure-voiced dame told me she has $6000, and if I could match that sum we were to marry and all my troubles would be over."

Most of the bachelor huntresses telephoned their proposals, but refused to give their names unless the "prospect" was "interested" as well as interesting.

Today Mr. Jessurun asked the world and the widows to forget him. "I am a confirmed bachelor, so tell 'em all to drop it," he said wearily, as he swept a bushel of scented letters into the waste basket.

AFGHAN KINGS RALLY FORCES

Troop Mobilizations Point to New Struggle

India Gets Reports Indicating Unchanged Situation

LONDON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Three Kings of Afghanistan—one present and two past—are gathering their forces for a new struggle for the throne of that turbulent country. The difficulties of communication have given rise to sinister rumors of what is happening in the dynastic struggle, but, according to advices received at Peshawar and Delhi, in India, the situation does not appear to have changed greatly in the past few days.

Habibullah, who was called "the waterboy" before his forceful seizure of the title of King, still is in control of Kabul, while the deposed Amanullah seems to be strengthening his hold in the Kandahar region. Inayatullah, the unlucky King for three days, is on the way to join his brother at Kandahar.

A struggle for supremacy between Kabul and Kandahar is in prospect. Reports reaching Moscow from Herat were that large bodies of troops from Kandahar and Ghazni regions are concentrating at Ghazni and Amanullah will lead these forces in an attempt to regain his throne. It is added that Kabul is suffering from pillage and a shortage of food, with complete stagnation of trade.

There are many indications that Amanullah and his brother still may count upon considerable support in the country.

In Paris . . . Mme. Payot

world-famous beauty specialist advises this 2-minute beauty method

Renowned Parisian specialist tells of a home treatment to keep complexions fresh and youthful; palm and olive oils essential.

The Payot Salon in Paris, beauty shrine of Europeans and Americans alike, with its chaste elegance of mirrored walls and angular paneling, is an interesting example of the increasing use of modernist decoration

"Recently I discovered a way in which the success of my work as beauty specialist could be increased. I recommend to my clients the soap of palm and olive oils which, separately, have great cosmetic value—and which, in the blending of Palmolive Soap, are doubly effective. It supplements excellently the effects of my Creme No. 1 and Lotion No. 1."

Dr. N. G. Payot
12 rue Richepause
Paris

Madame Payot in her artfully decorated Paris salon, where every phase of beauty culture is carefully studied by this beauty dictator. Many of the loveliest women of the continent come to consult the eminent Madame Payot on problems of skin care.

FOR many years the elite of Paris have listened to the beauty advice of Mme. Payot, teacher of many famous beauty specialists who now carry the great Payot methods to cosmopolitan centers throughout the world.

Today, Mme. Payot advises the daily use of palm and olive oils in soap, in a simple 2-minute treatment, and warns against the harsh effects of the wrong kind of soap. Here is beauty news, indeed!

Mme. Payot's discovery

Madame Payot, in her appropriately modern background on the rue Richepause, Paris, tells of this discovery on complexion care:

"I found," she says, "that some women habitually use soaps that harm the skin, that some of my treatments in consequence seemed to have no permanent effect . . that I am constantly working to overcome the bad results of improper home cleansing.

"So, I commenced to recommend to my patients the soap made of palm and olive oils—which, separately, have great cosmetic value, and which, in the Palmolive blending, are doubly efficacious in the case of blackheads, open pores, greasy skin, etc."

"The difference was immediately apparent," says this distinguished exponent of beauty culture. "This home cleansing rule gives the correct foundation for the use of my Creme No. 1 and Lotion No. 1."

In the leading beauty salons of every American city this very same treatment has long been recommended. Lovely Americans travel all over the world to hear over and over again the merits of this most popular of home facial treatments. They go to Jacobson, of London; to Pessl, of Vienna; to Elise Bock, of Berlin; they visit the salon of the exquisite Lina Cavalieri, in Paris—and everywhere, everywhere they are given this same advice: wash for beauty with Palmolive Soap.

Madame Payot prefers a soap with an olive oil base because it gets down into the pores, releases accumulated dirt, dust, oil, make-up and leaves the skin fresh and radiant with delicate color.

Her 2-minute treatment

Here is the famous Palmolive treatment, recommended all over the world, as Madame Payot would advise it: make a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. With both hands massage this well into the skin two minutes, allowing it to penetrate the pores. Then rinse, first with warm water, gradually with colder. A final rinse with ice water is a refreshing astringent.

For a dry skin, a touch of cold cream before adding powder and rouge; for oily skin, an astringent lotion.

A simple treatment, yet it undoubtedly explains why Palmolive is one of the two largest selling soaps in France—known the world over as home of exquisite cosmetics. Here in America, and in forty-eight other countries, it is more generally used than any other soap

A priceless formula embodying the precious oils of palm and olive, famous since the days of Cleopatra for prolonging health and beauty.

JULIAN LOSES NOTES SUIT

Arizona Court Renders Decision for Plaintiff in $475,000 Mine Deal Action

PHOENIX, Jan. 21. (AP)—Judge D. W. Windes, presiding in the Maricopa County Superior Court, today handed down a decision in the case of A. Krell against C. C. Julian and his associates, in which the court cancelled notes aggregating $475,000, held against the Monte Cristo Mining and Milling Company, and reduced this indebtedness of $176,000.

The litigation involved the Monte Cristo mine near Wickenburg, owned and controlled for many years by Ezra W. Thayer. This mine sprang into prominence about September, 1926, when C. C. Julian, Los Angeles promoter, announced that he had purchased a controlling interest from Thayer.

STOCKHOLDERS SUE

Julian, it was asserted, organized the Julian Merger Mines Company. Into this company he placed the controlling interest of the Monte Cristo Mining and Milling Company, purchased from Thayer, and thereafter transferred control of the new Monte Cristo Mining Company, a Nevada corporation. In December, 1927, Krell, a stockholder, filed suit, asserted that large sums has been charged up against the mine by the new Monte Cristo Mining Company which never had been spent on the mine and that the property was deteriorating. The trial was concluded last July before Judge Windes.

AMOUNT REDUCED

Of the total of $475,000 in notes held by the new Monte Cristo mining company against the Monte Cristo Mining and Milling Company, Judge Windes struck out an amount of $176,000 on the grounds that this sum had not been put to beneficial use for the Monte Cristo Mining and Milling Company.

The court also awarded costs of the action to Krell, and awarded his attorneys the sum of $7000 in fees.

Herbert Hoover reported the largest amount with preconvention expenditures placed at $395,254.18. Alfred E. Smith, who won the Democratic nomination, was next largest spender in the primaries, the committee putting his expenses at $152,-

Frank O. Lowden, who made a determined fight for the Republican nomination, was third in line in expenditures with $67,415.97 and the late Senator Frank Willis of Ohio, was fourth with expenses of $66,-

The committee reported $75,428.51 was spent in the primaries which it was unable to allot to any single candidate.

"The committee finds," said the report, "almost uniformly that all those persons engaged in handling campaign funds strictly complied with the corrupt practices acts of the several States and abstained from any ascertainable impropriety.

"The committee recommends the enactment of adequate legislation regulating the conduct of conventions and primary elections for the nomination of Presidential candidates. Such an act would safeguard against possible future abuses in primary campaigns and in conventions contests."

FIGURES GIVEN OUT

The inquiry of the committee into the campaign expenses of the Presidential campaign has not yet been completed. No hearings whatever have been held on this, and it is the present intention to rely on the campaign reports submitted by the national committees of the various political parties.

The reports of the candidates in the primary campaign with the receipts listed first and then the expenditures follow:

Republicans: Herbert Hoover, $395,254.18; Charles Curtis, $11,539.67; Charles G. Dawes, $679.50; George G. Wahr, nothing, $626.; James G. Wilson, $36,821, $36,672.76; Frank O. Lowden, $100,462.94, $67,415.97; Frank Willis, $62,987.77, $66,534.52, est. Guy D. Goff, nothing, $2978.66.

'COLONIST' COAST RATE ANNOUNCED

Santa Fe Road Revives Homeseekers' Cut Fares to Stimulate Travel

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Announcement that the old colonist rates, meaning a 25 per cent reduction in fares applying only to railroad coaches, will be resumed for a period of several weeks from March 1 to April 15, effective from Chicago to the Pacific Coast, was made here today by W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe, in speaking for that railroad.

"Most all of the railroads operating western lines have agreed to the reduction as an experiment to stimulate passenger traffic," he declared. Asked about the report that the reduced rates may be put into effect through bus competition, Mr. Black said emphatically: "The busses cut no figure and are not considered in this step. Anyone who rides a bus once from Chicago or other Middle Western cities to the Coast will never do it again."

During the month of February the rates known as colonist or homeseekers will apply also from Middle Western cities to New York and points east, Mr. Black announced. Milwaukee, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities of this region will be the dividing line from which the reduced rates will apply during the experiments, he said.

INJURIES OF SAILOR CAUSE COMMOTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—John Erickson, sailor, 35 years of age, who is said to have been wandering the streets since New Year's Day with a fractured skull, was admitted for treatment to the San Francisco Hospital today after representations in his behalf and then he told attendants he would be back tomorrow and departed, they reported. Erickson's case brought the Shipowners' Association and the Social Welfare Bureau into action today with the charge he had been refused treatment at the Marine Hospital. Officials of the hospital denied the charge, saying Erickson had been entered for treatment and would not remain to get it.

WALSH BLOCKS YOSEMITE PLAN

Montana Senator's Reasons Declared Selfish

Fears Move to Save Trees May Affect Own Holdings

Bill to Get Private Lands Deadlocked by Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Those noted "tribunes of the people," Senators Thomas J. Walsh and Burton K. Wheeler, Democrats, of Montana, have stirred up a hornet's nest in Congress by obstructing a piece of nationally beneficial legislation from motives involving in part their personal and pecuniary interests.

Senator Walsh, aided and abetted by his colleague, has succeeded in arraying the Senate against the House bill to acquire by condemnation privately owned lands in Yosemite National Park, which, otherwise, will shortly be denuded of one of the most beautiful stands of big trees in the world.

The Senators are actuated by the fact that the proposed legislation to acquire the Yosemite lands by condemnation would also authorize the Federal government to condemn privately owned lands in all national parks, including the Walsh and Wheeler summer homes and other private property in Glacier National Park.

AX NEARS TREES

The action of the House resulted from the imminence of lumbering operations on thirteen square miles of privately owned lands in the Yosemite Park, covered with enormous sugar pines and yellow pines. The lumber company owning the tract now is operating on its lands adjoining the park and plans to begin operations within the park on April 1, next. Unless the thirteen square miles are acquired by the government, the lumbering of the area will seriously mar the beauty of the park.

Robert Underwood Johnson and other volunteer guardians of the national parks became interested and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., offered to donate $1,000,000 toward the purchase of the Yosemite lands. The House incorporated in the Interior Department appropriation bill an authorization to purchase or condemn private lands in national parks to the total amount of $3,000,000 when matched by donations by citizens. In this way, it was thought, the government could acquire not only the Yosemite tract but eventually 83,000 acres of privately owned property in other parks valued altogether at $6,000,000.

HOUSES DEADLOCKED

In the Senate Senator Walsh succeeded in having the authorization to condemn the lands stricken from the bill, leaving only the authority to purchase. The House refused to accept the amendment on the ground that without the power to condemn private owners would exact exorbitant prices of the government. The Senate refused to recede and the two houses are now deadlocked on the question.

The Senate debate disclosed Senator Walsh actuated by a desire to deprive the government of the power to condemn his summer home and the property of constituents in Glacier Park, which is in Montana.

PERSONAL MATTER

"Prior to the time when the park was created," he said, "I acquired a building site, a part of a patent at the head of the lake, and constructed there in the year 1910 a very comfortable summer home. I may add that since 1900 my family have been accustomed to spend their summer vacations in that neighborhood. It is proposed to take my house away from me if the Secretary of the Interior feels so disposed and burn down the house or turn it over to someone else."

Senator Walsh was particularly exercised by the failure of House leaders to consult him and Senator Wheeler in advance on "a question of such vital consequence to our own State, when it deals with this property here within which both of us have summer homes."

Senator Walsh was reminded that under the law he would be permitted to occupy the property, even if it should be condemned during his life.

AND ALL HIS GENERATION

"In other words," retorted Senator Walsh, "they come in and condemn my nice home there and after they have condemned it and acquired it, then they will give me a lease of it for the balance of my life, but my period of life is getting to be rather limited. I have a daughter who has been going there for thirty years and is just as much attached to the place as I am. I have a couple of grandchildren who are delighted with the place and we do not care to sell."

"I understand there is no intention whatever of condemning the Senator's land." Senator Reed Smoot, Republican, of Utah, interjected.

"Of course, I do not ask any special privilege," said Senator Walsh, but the Senate had been touched by his appeal and voted to stand pat against the public program for saving the Yosemite big trees.

Radio Officials Delay Order on Chain Programs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Radio Commission today postponed until March 1 the application of its general order curtailing the broadcasting of chain programs on cleared channels to stations that are at least 300 miles from each other.

The postponement was ordered on the motion of Commissioner Lafount, who said the engineering division had been unable to establish whether some parts of the country would be entirely deprived of programs which the listening public wanted and could not otherwise get. Commissioners Sykes and Pickard dissented.

BRIDGE BILLS PASS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Garner bills to authorize construction of four bridges across the Rio Grande at San Benito, Donna, Los Indios and Rio Grande City, Tex., were passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

BRIDGE PLANS IN "BAD JAM"

Definite Bay City Public Policy Decided on After Mayor Rolph Sounds Warning

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Warned by Mayor Rolph and some members of the Board of Supervisors that the transbay bridge to Oakland has attained the status of a "bad jam," the Supervisors as a whole agreed late today to work out a definite public policy of future activity at a conference between Supervisors, other public officials, former members of the special bridge committee and the editors of the San Francisco newspapers.

Without mentioning any names the Mayor flayed the alternate tube plan which has been advocated by Supervisor McSheehy for months. The latter once headed a delegation to Washington to lobby for the bridge, submitted the tube plan and in order to overcome the tangle created, the entire bridge committee was dissolved.

ROLPH LOOKS TO HOOVER

Agitation for a new delegation to visit Congress is considered, with the decision resting upon the forthcoming conference of interested officials. In some quarters the proposal for another delegation is construed as a junket that can accomplish no good as Congress apparently cannot reach the bay-bridge matter during this session.

The Mayor submitted telegraphic correspondence between himself and California legislators at Washington to emphasize this point. Moreover, the Mayor feels San Francisco's staunchest ally would be President-elect Hoover after he has assumed office and suggested that efforts be made now to co-ordinate all factions in the bridge controversy so the city can go to President Hoover after March 4 with a plan for action which has unified support.

MEETING CALLED

Mayor Rolph scouted reports that all shipping interests in the Bay District are opposed to the bridge, adding: "But we can soon find out."

Meanwhile, announcement is made that those directors who have been named to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highways districts, which plans a span across the Golden Gate to Marin county, will meet tomorrow to perfect organization. Two of San Francisco's six directors are to be named. The entire personnel was named once, but with three Supervisors and a Congressman on the board, widespread protest was made and two of the Supervisors resigned. Napa county has not yet named its director. The four other counties in the district have selected their representatives, but the formation of the district itself remains a legal question in the hands of the Supreme Court.

BANDIT-KILLER PAYS WITH LIFE

Pennsylvania Gunman Dies in Electric Chair

ROCKVIEW PRISON (Bellefonte, Pa.) Jan. 21. (AP)—Paul Jaworski, notorious bandit chieftain and killer, today paid with his life for the part he admitted playing in the death of seven men. He died as he had lived, a man without religion, going to the electric chair here unattended except by two guards.

Directly after Jaworski had been pronounced dead, Calvin D. James of Upper Darby was strapped in the chair and paid the toll for having killed a Doylestown bootlegger.

Jaworski was given his first shock at 7:02 and was declared dead at 7:06. James took his first shock at 7:10 and was officially dead at 7:14. Robert Elliott, official executioner for several States, threw the switch that sent both men into eternity.

Jaworski, supported by two guards, entered the death chamber at exactly 7 o'clock. He appeared to be in a daze. The arrogant attitude he had steadfastly maintained was gone. His faltering step, produced by a paralyzed leg, the result of police bullets, caused him to be supported.

Jaworski's last confession made was to the killing of Jack Visbinder, with whom he shot is way to freedom from the Allegheny County Jail at Pittsburgh. Jaworski said he killed Vasbinder when he learned he was a dope fiend.

DOLLAR LINER'S RESCUE RETOLD

Salvage Ship Captain Gives Out Story of Event

Passengers Found Cheerful and Unalarmed

Calm Sea Makes Transfer of Voyagers Simple

NASSAU (Bahamas) Jan. 21. (AP) Capt. George H. Rose, master of the Munson liner Pan-America, which today landed eighty-nine passengers from the Dollar liner President Garfield, authorized the following description of the stranding of the 'round-the-world ship and the removal of its passengers and mail:

"The passengers were transferred in three hours by the use of nine small boats. The sea was calm and the sunshine brilliant. The passengers stated that Capt. Quinn of the President Garfield took full responsibility for running inside the buoy and on the reef and that he acted in a splendid seamanlike manner in the emergency.

SHIP HEARS SOS

"Chief Radio Officer Knis received the SOS at 7:28 Sunday morning. The Pan-America, en route to Nassau in place of the steamship Muharga, immediately went to the rescue. Oil tankers, freighters and smaller ships were the only vessels near by and the Pan-America was the only one capable of handling eighty-nine additional passengers.

"The President Garfield had struck the reef at about 6 a.m. on Sunday. The Pan-America arrived for her assistance at 4:30 in the afternoon, having gone ninety miles out of her course. The passengers were transferred in three hours by Chief Officer Fallen of the Pan-America in the No. 1 motor with eight lifeboats from the Garfield. The women passengers doubled up in the staterooms of the rescue craft and the men were taken care of in the third-class cabins. All baggage was landed here intact.

"The Garfield had struck a reef one mile east of Mantanilla Reef and was about a mile and a half inside out the outside buoy between it and Grand Bahama. The captain and crew remained on board in an attempt to free the ship."

PASSENGERS UNAFRAID

The Dollar Line passengers on landing here made light of their experiences and praised the way in which they were handled by the officers and crews of both vessels.

While awaiting rescue the passengers had breakfast and luncheon as usual while the Chinese stewards and mess boys fished over the side in the still tropical waters.

Ring Lardner, a passenger on the rescue craft, remarked on landing that "a chauffeur who can't miss a reef in the Atlantic Ocean ought to try driving a taxicab on Fourth street."

A wedding is delayed by the accident. M. E. Pinckard and Miss Anne McHose of New York are en route to Los Angeles for a wedding at the home of Miss McHose's parents.

VOYAGERS ENJOY VISIT AT NASSAU

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Ninety men and women idled away the hours today at a hotel in Nassau, Bahama Islands, waiting for their ship to be freed from a coral reef so they could continue their journey part or all the way around the world.

The ship is the Dollar liner, President Garfield, which left here on a world cruise last Thursday and yesterday drove its prow up on the Mantanilla reefs, hidden beneath the blue waters of the South Atlantic at the northern tip of the Baka Islands.

An SOS call sent out at the time of the grounding brought aid from the Munson liner Pan-America, to which all passengers were transferred.

The officers and crew of 150 stayed aboard the President Garfield as the Pan-America steamed away to Nassau with the passengers, who were lodged at the Colonial Hotel as guests of the Dollar Line.

A salvage tug reached the scene today and found that the President Garfield was still fast, but apparently unharmed. The ballast tanks have been pumped out to lighten her, and it has been determined that the ship is taking no water. Anchors were lowered to keep her from rolling in the swell.

After a thorough examination it was reported to the line officers here that the ship probably would float off the reef of her own accord as soon as she could be lightened. Barges and lighters were dispatched from Florida to permit removal of her 7000 tons of general cargo. It was believed that with this weight removed the ship would slide into deep water and could pick up its waiting passengers and continue around the world.

The legislative committee is to hold a field hearing in San Francisco Thursday.

MILK STRIKE CURB SOUGHT

Chicago Consumers Act to Halt Wanton Waste, Fearing Shortage of Precious Fluid

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Wanton waste of milk, with the attendant possibility of a shortage of the precious fluid, brought residents of Chicago together today in an effort to end the strike of Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana dairymen.

After discovery of kerosene in some of the milk shipped into the city, inspectors were assigned by Health Commissioner Kegal to guard against further pollution.

Highway patrolmen were assigned to guard receiving plants of the larger producers to prevent further violence to farmers attempting to deliver milk, and the Lake County Circuit Court at Waukegan issued a temporary injunction against the strikers.

FEDERAL ACTION LIKELY

Federal action seems imminent, inasmuch as interstate shipments of milk are involved. George E. Q. Johnson, United States District Attorney, announced he is ready to act if any complaints are made to him.

Mayor Thompson came to the front with the information that he opposes the increase of 35 cents a hundredweight, asked by the farmers, members of the Pure Milk Association. He said it will cost Chicago residents $5,475,000 additional each year.

More than 1,000,000 pounds of milk have been destroyed since the strike started three weeks ago, when the larger distributors, such as the Bowman Dairy Company and the Borden company, refused to meet the new price asked, $2.35. It was the Bowman company which filed the petition for injunction at Waukegan.

AGREEMENT SIGNED

It appears likely that the Indiana farmers and dealers will get together, many of the dealers having signed an agreement to the increase today.

W. C. McQueen, president of the association, says the increase of 35 cents a hundredweight will mean approximately three-fourths of a cent a quart to the distributor. If the consumer were to pay 1 cent more a quart, and this passed on to the farmer, the producer would get $2.96 for 100 pounds, or more than asked, he explains.

Chicago's milk supply yesterday was 400,000 quarts under normal, although distributors say they have been able to supply all demands. A greater shortage for today and tomorrow is predicted.

FARMERS WAYLAY TWO SOO LINE TRAINS

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) Jan. 21. (AP)—Militant dairy farmers waylaid two Soo Line trains at Lake Villa station, fifteen miles west of here tonight and dumped the contents of two tank cars of milk on the track.

Sixty cans of milk were taken from a late afternoon train bound for Chicago, and at 8:45 o'clock the strikers boarded a second milk train, emptied two tank cars and tossed out all the milk they found in three refrigerator cars.

NAVY PLAN FOR BRITISH EXPENSIVE

Estimate of $275,000,000 Must be Increased Later, Says Correspondent

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Although the 1929-1930 navy estimates are based on a $275,000,000 appropriation for the current year and are expected to show little variation from the original figures, the Daily Telegraph naval correspondent points out that it is difficult to see how subsequent annual assessments can fail to provide for the substantial addition to the navy personnel, since the existing 101,354 officers and men are barely adequate to supply existing ships, disregarding the new vessels.

He says the conviction prevails in naval circles that a further cut would be a mistake since it would not only reduce the future establishment of cruisers to a figure below the absolute security minimum, but might be construed by the United States as a subtle attempt to impede the passage of the American fifteen-cruiser bill. It is pointed out that a section of the American press already is warning its readers that the British admiralty may attempt this "Machiavellian maneuver."

Parliament will be asked to authorize the construction of the following new ships during the coming year, under the existing program:

One 10,000-ton cruiser; two 8400-ton cruisers; one flotilla leader, eight destroyers, six submarines, possibly a new aircraft carrier, and sloops.

Welch and his brother came here some time ago and moved out on the desert. It is said that the dead man was in bad health.

The woman was released Sunday evening, the attorney explained.

Pair of Hoover Secretaries if Congress Smiles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Herbert Hoover will have two $10,000-a-year private secretaries when he becomes President, if Congress approves.

In reporting the independent offices appropriation bill today the Senate Appropriations Committee added $10,000 for the salary of an additional private secretary. This was done after a special recommendation was received from the Budget Bureau.

The present White House staff consists of Everett Sanders, private secretary, with a salary of $10,000 a year, and Edward T. Clark and Stuart Crawford, assistants, with smaller salaries.

The recommendation for a salary for another private secretary was sent to Congress after President-elect Hoove's recent conference with President Coolidge.

CHICKS DESTINED TO SEE BLOCK

That is, Pound Will Auction Them Because Owner Can't be Found

Four hundred and forty young chickens which already have led eventful lives will be auctioned off at the city pound, 1829 Blake avenue, tomorrow because police cannot find their owner, it was announced yesterday by General Manager Robeson of the city humane department.

The chickens were found almost suffocating in a brooder at a ranch when the place was surrounded by members of the dry squad. They had had nothing to eat for four days and when released found their way to a heap of mash, ate and became intoxicated.

WITCH SLAYING RECALLS PAST

York Case Linked to Beliefs of Centuries Ago

Male Principals Surprising Feature to Many

Spell-Casters Still Feared by Various Peoples

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—One of the most extraordinary features of the York witchcraft case, in the opinion of most people, was the constant reference to men such as Blymyer, Rehmeyer and Lenhart as witches. For some centuries past people always have thought of witches as women and they usually are pictured as horrid hags. The male sorcerer was a wizard or a warlock.

That the York witchcraft springs direct from very early sources rather than from our Salem witches or those of modern Europe is indicated because 1000 or 2000 years ago the same term was used in England, Scotland, the Scandinavian countries and Germany with no distinction of gender. The York witches have a longer direct genealogical line than our Salem witches had.

These particular witches were almost exclusively good witches—at least at first—for the early Saxon and Scandinavian and Gaelic words for them coincide with the modern word, exorcise, which means "to drive away evil."

WITCHCRAFT IN SCOTLAND

Of course, to this day, species of witchcraft are practiced in Scotland and in the islands near by. Many old women have what is called second sight.

In England the Druids were gifted with supernatural powers, according to legends concerning them. They, of course, were pagans. And the most famous wizard known to English-speaking people was Merlin. Then there was Wayland the Smith who, with the aid of dwarfs, according to legend, forged swords which were invincible in the hands of the champions of those days such, for example, as the knights of King Arthur.

Probably the second most famous wizard of the British Isles was Michael Scott who lived at Melrose Abbey and is regarded with a certain amount of veneration to this day.

Belief in witches still is in the blood. In the time of the Covenanters, dozens if not scores of witches were burned to death by these zealous Protestants because they had cast spells on persons, dried up the cattle, prevented the ewes from lambing, and otherwise brought harm to the people.

Authorities disagree on the number burned in the grand old witch-hunting days of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The minimum estimate is 100,000 and the largest, more than 1,000,000.

SALEM KILLINGS

Our Salem witchcraft, which resulted in several deaths, attacked us in 1691 and 1692. The last conviction of a witch in England was in 1722, but the last in Germany was not until 1782. George Washington was alive. It was not so very long ago.

As time has passed, witchcraft has come to be more and more regarded as the peculiar talent of women and so it is the more surprising to find the men of York not only practicing the black arts but being called by the name of witches, instead of wizards, warlocks, or magicians. Quite likely, however, hypnotists, in an early century, would not have been able to come into the open but would have set up as magicians and, if apprehended by the authorities, would have been burned to death. Thurston, the stage magician, and the late Houdini would not have lasted a minute. Church or State would have had them instanter.

A large part of witchcraft working evil is attributed to the familiar, as it was called; conceived to be actually some animal into which a witch or magician could project his personality and go about unsuspected, making mischief. The story of Gyges's Ring, to wear which made one invisible, comes from the earliest times. The familiar has been a recognized trapping since witchcraft has been practiced. There was the Witch of Endor of whom Saul, seeking to raise up Samuel, said: "She hath a familiar spirit." Socrates referred to his daemon which guided him.

MEDICINAL PREPARATION

Millions of people daily find some use for the medicinal preparation called witch-hazel. Not so very long ago people employed witches to locate underground sources of water so that there they might advantageously dig wells. The witches used what many people use to this day—divining rods. The medicinal preparation referred to is made largely of the bark of the hazel bush which the witches are said to have employed in finding water, so, therefore, it is called witch-hazel.

Many peoples are so afraid of witch-enemies that they keep their real names secret. They have separate names known to the public. The reason is that it is feared that if any enemy knew the real name he could conjure with it, possibly to do the person harm.

And the old witch-man, Rehmeyer, fought until death to prevent another from getting a lock of his hair for precisely the same reason; that he might not conjure with it.

IT'S ENOUGH TO DRIVE 'EM NUTTY

Paris Drink Emporium Owners Get What's Left of Almonds From California Painter After Customs Men Eat Half and Find Emerald Therein

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—That California surely is a wonder State has become quite apparent to Paris since Jack Bushby and Joe Zelli, proprietors of two of the most estimable drink emporiums in Paris, came across a $5000 emerald ring in a case of salted almonds from the Pacific shores.

December 8 one Gilbert White, painter of portraits and murals for the State House of Oklahoma, brother of Steward Edward White, the author, and well-known man about the boulevards as well, was at Santa Barbara. He wanted to send a tender reminder of Christmas to Zelli and Bushby. He thought almonds would be nice because if the two liquor dispensers did not like them the customers might.

He went to the concern of Diehl Brothers, which apparently takes care of such shipments. That the box arrived opened and apparently contained only 50 per cent of the original shipment was not the fault of the shippers. French customs open all such things, looking for hidden harvester machines and so forth, and if they like the contents . . .

Sorting mournfully through what was left of their almonds, the recipients came across a flashy emerald ring, life size and ever so elegant, attesting an extravagance in male get-up, which has not yet reached Paris.

Inside the ring was the inscription, "To E. A. Diehl from the staff, 1928." Mr. Diehl apparently packs his own almonds, and, to continue these deductions, the French customs men apparently have better appetites than eyesight.

Mr. Bushby has a friend who once was the Berlin honorary secretary of the Paris-American Club.

"Why, I know Mr. Diehl very well," the friend said when apprised of the incident, "and I will send back the bauble if you like."

About all Messrs. Bushby and Zelli got out of Painter White's Christmas parcel was a thrill.

VETERANS FAIL TO SEEK BONUS

Approximately 800,000 Have Not Applied

Total of 3,508,549 Claims Now Adjusted

Many Dependents Awarded Sums Under Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Approximately 800,000 World War veterans entitled to a Federal bonus for their service have failed to make application for the adjusted compensation awarded them, according to recent figures compiled by the Veterans' Bureau.

When the so-called bonus bill was pending in Congress it was estimated that 4,477,412 ex-service men or women would be eligible for its benefits. On December 1, last, the Veterans' Bureau records showed that a total of 3,612,163 claims had been adjudicated and that the aggregate value of these claims was $3,487,384,708.

As originally passed, the bill fixed January 1, 1928, as the deadline for applications, but during the last session of Congress the time limit was extended until January 2, 1930.

The most recent detailed report of the bureau shows that on June 30, 1928, a total of 3,508,549 claims, valued at $3,408,643,566 had been adjudicated. Of this number 3,362,067 represented adjusted-service certificates issued to veterans whose adjusted-service credit did not exceed $50, amounting to $4,034,-085; 86,088 were claims on which quarterly payments were made to the dependents of veterans whose adjusted-service credit was more than $50, aggregating $31,365,540; and 5308 were cash payments to dependents of veterans whose adjusted-service credit was less than $50, amounting to $147,263.

The sum of $1,229,590 had been paid up to June 30, 1928, according to the report on claims for the $60 bonus to the dependents of veterans who died in service and therefore did not receive this benefit upon the termination of their service. Death claims to the value of $51,139,856 had been awarded to the beneficiaries of 50,080 deceased veterans who had received adjusted-service certificates.

AND NOW COMES STARSCRAPER

New York Builder Planning Structure Totaling 110 Stories

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—A building 110 stories high is seriously contemplated in this city, says William A. Starrett, builder, and there is no physical reason why even taller ones should not be built.

He regards the skyscraper as the greatest contribution to modern art and as beneficial to the whole social structure, instead being a menace to health, as some authorities view it.

Births in Italy Exceed Deaths

ROME, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Central Statistical Institute announced today that during 1928 births in Italy exceeded deaths by 434,000, as against 467,000 in 1927 and 414,000 in 1926.

JUGO-SLAVIA FACES REFORM

New Government Attempting to Purify Political Life

Ministers Follow Examples Employed by Premier

Drunkenness While on Duty to Call for Penalties

BELGRADE, Jan. 21. (AP)—The new dictatorial government for a week has been engaged in the great task of purifying the political life of Jugo-Slavia. Already many obstacles to more efficient service by government offices have been removed.

Following the order of Premier Zivokvitch that civil servants always must be polite, kind, civil and good-tempered and must never get excited or curse the public, various ministers have addressed detailed instructions to their staffs in similar matters.

Several ministries are working overtime in order to effect rapid settlement of thousands of details.

The Minister of Finance has forbidden the old custom of visitors strolling in for a friendly cup of coffee in the offices of the ministry by decreeing that documents and not conversations shall be the method for handling affairs.

Father Korochetz, Minister of Communications, has announced that severe punishment awaits those guilty of drunkenness on duty, unreliability or misuse of state property. All competent workers are promised security against party spite and personal animosity.

Bay City May Have Airport Over Rail Yard

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Postmaster Todd declared today that Southern Pacific engineers are investigating the possibility of building an airport over the railroad company's rail yards at Third and Townsend streets.

Todd said he suggested the plan a year ago, pointing out that present airport facilities at Mills Field and in the East Bay do not offer fast enough transportation to the city for mail and passengers.

SONOMA PRUNE MEN MEET TO ORGANIZE

SANTA ROSA, Jan. 21. (AP)—Prune growers from all parts of Sonoma county gathered today to discuss plans for the formation of a local unit of reorganized California Prune and Apricot Association. Prof. Theodore Macklin of Wisconsin, an expert on co-operative marketing, was one of the principal speakers on the program.

Council Refuses Baldwin's Plea

LONDON, Jan. 21. (AP)—A committee of the London County Council today gave out a report stating that it could find no practical way of meeting the plea of Premier Stanley Baldwin for a transfer of unemployed workers from the mining and other distressed areas of the kingdom. The report said that large transfers would increase the pressure on housing and besides a standing order of the County Council gives London men the first chance for work on all contracts in the metropolis.

The report points out that in making large contracts for steel and iron work the Council is helping the miners and ironworkers.

"We know our Luckies That's how we stay slender"

EVERY woman who fears overweight finds keen interest in new-day and common-sense ways to keep a slender, fashionable figure. Overweight must be avoided. "Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets."

Toasting does it. Toasting develops and improves the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. Lucky Strike satisfies the longing for things that make you fat, without interfering with a normal appetite for healthful foods. That's why Luckies are good to smoke. Toasting makes Lucky Strike the healthy cigarette for you to smoke.

Many men who carefully watch their health discovered this years ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not slow up their physical vigor—prominent athletes have gone on record that this is so. They know that 20,679 physicians have stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

MICHIGAN EDUCATOR QUITS

University Head's Principles at Odds With Regents, He Says in Announcing Retirement

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Motivated by principles he would uphold "be they right or wrong," Dr. Clarence Cook Little tonight offered his resignation as president of the University of Michigan to the board of regents which met in executive session. It was unanimously accepted.

Dr. Little's letter giving his reasons for resigning was in the hands of every regent prior to the special meeting, facsimiles having been mailed Saturday by the president.

SUCCESSOR PROBABLE

The dean of administration, Dr. Alexander D. Ruthven will assume charge of the University and may be permanently appointed.

"For some time two things have been increasingly apparent," Dr. Little's letter said. "First, that my methods of handling situations dealing with interests of private donors, political interests, 'local' interests and alumni interests are not consistent with policies which the board of regents deems wise.

"Second, that I shall, I hope, be more effective in scientific research and teaching than in administration.

"I therefore request that my resignation be accepted to take effect September 1, 1929, and that I be given a leave of absence from June 30, 1929, to August 31, 1929, or before if the regents desire it.

"I further ask two things:

PREXY'S REQUESTS

"First, that the university college be established only if the board of regents is whole-heartedly in favor of the principles and if it is approved by the deans, or if my successor is definitely in favor of it and will personally sponsor it.

"Only in these ways can it have a fair chance of success. It would seem needlessly hard on the students to launch it under circumstances likely to doom it to failure.

"Second, that the present legislative program be placed in charge of the dean of administration acting for the present and of a committee of the regents.

"I hope that the regents will agree with me in the absence of personal feeling and will realize that I wish to acknowledge their great kindness to me personally at all times.

"RIGHT OR WRONG"

"The chief assets possessed by any executive are the ingrained principles which activate his policies. These, right or wrong, necessitate the above course of action in spite of great personal regret on my part that such is the case."

The resignation, it is generally understood, was written December 22, the day following the meeting at which the regents acted on the survey plan and was held up because of a request made to the president by deans of the university.

Arizona Wind Plays Joke on Undressed Men

BISBEE (Ariz.) Jan. 21. (AP)—A heavy wind which played havoc with clothes lines and other unsubstantial equipment around Bisbee and Warren homes today performed a freakish stunt on five Mexicans of the Night Hawk Leasing Company who were changing clothes at the end of the shift late this afternoon.

The Mexicans were housed in a corrugated-iron changeroom located on the brink of the Higgins Hills, near the Night Hawk mine, when a sudden gust of wind seised the building and lifted it entirely over their heads sending it crashing down the hill.

The Mexicans were left standing bewilderedly on the cement floor in various stages of undress and it was several seconds before they realised what had happened.

Public Barred at International Radio Sessions

OTTAWA (Ont.) Jan. 21. (AP)—The proposition that no country has a sovereign right to the ether is understood to have been laid down as the basis for an agreement between delegates to the international radio conference on the intermediate band which opened here today. The conference, held behind closed doors, was attended by representatives of the United States, Newfoundland and Canada.

The preliminary work of the conference will be to decide the needs of the various countries interested. The allotment of the available channels will then be made.

Cabmen Strike in Nuevo Laredo

LAREDO (Tex.) Jan. 21. (AP)—Nuevo Laredo, across the international border from this city, today added a taxicab strike to its "telephone listeners'" strike.

Taxicab chauffeurs, including the drivers of those ancient, moth-eaten horse-drawn hansoms still common in Nuevo Laredo, have decided that the new license imposed by the government is too high and that they will not turn a wheel until something is done about it.

The telephone strike started some time ago when a tax was imposed on calls across the border. Rather than submit to the tax a number of the telephone company's subscribers in Nuevo Laredo removed the receivers from the hooks of their instruments, making it impossible for the company to put through calls to them.

SPEAKER CHOSEN FOR CHURCH BANQUET

LINDSAY, Jan. 21.—Rev. Thomas P. Frizelle of Long Beach, one of the well-known Baptist ministers of the State, and noted speaker, will make the address of the evening at the father and son banquet to be staged tomorrow night at Maxwell Hall. Covers are expected to be laid for 150 and a pleasing entertainment program will be given. H. L. Youde is chairman of the committee in charge.

BAY CITY'S GAS WAR NEAR END

Oakland Battle Over as 300 Station Men Agree to Resume 21-Cent Price

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Partial solution of the Bay District's gasoline price war was attained tonight but further meetings will be necessary before a complete agreement is reached.

In Oakland it was considered the price cutting was at an end when 300 service-station operators voted unanimously to return tomorrow morning to the 21-cent-a-gallon price in vogue before the "war" started. Virtually all service stations were represented, it is said, and garage owners gave assurance they will re-establish the 21-cent price and oil companies are said to have reported they will "advise" former employees operating stations on lease, to charge 21 cents.

The service station operators took steps to prevent a repetition of a situation which is said to have cost them $100,000 in a month by organizing an association, naming a committee to draft by-laws and appointing an "adjuster" to report on those who cut prices in the future. The organization bears the name of the East Bay Service Station Owners' Association. Joseph M. Parker, manager of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, who called the meeting, was placed in charge of the funds collected as initiation fees.

In San Francisco, it is said, all parties to the controversy are ready to reach an agreement and go back to the 21-cent price at once but legal complications remain to be threshed out. It is understood the latter center about the differential between wholesalers and retailers.

Hence the San Francisco parties interested are scheduled to meet again tomorrow. They will confer, it is said, with Homer L. Bredenbrach and Silas Meyer, Los Angeles attorneys, who are said to be en route here to consider agreements which will re-establish stable conditions in the south as well as here. The attorneys are slated to confer also with representatives of the East Bay Association which came into existence tonight.

WHITE WAY CHANGED TO SPEEDWAY

New York Makes Merry as Whalen Inaugurates New Traffic Rules

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (Exclusive) The theatrical district was turned into a speedway tonight as Police Commissioner Whalen's new traffic rules went into effect. There were almost as many policemen as taxicabs between Fifth and Ninth avenues from Thirty-ninth to Fifty-second streets. Loaded taxis and limousines raced merrily where an hour before they had crawled, and Mr. Whalen sat high up in a steel-legged tower hard by Times Square, as the flashlights boomed.

As far as the motorist was concerned Longacre Square and its feeder arteries was a happy hunting ground tonight, but the pedestrian had to jump to get the breaks or, if you prefer, to escape the brakes. He ducked under bluecoats and climbed over brass buttons to get across streets that were as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. Taxis flashed by so swiftly the cops could not peek to see if they were empty and block long sections of side streets bared asphalt surfaces they never had bared before.

It was a great show for the strollers and they had almost as much fun as on election night. Pedestrian traffic was blocked fifty deep at Forty-fourth street and Broadway, the intersection where Mr. Whalen had established his base of operations. While spectators pushed and mauled to see what is was all about, motorcycle cops, mounted cops, lieutenants, inspectors and just cops rushed up with reports from their sectors.

The most salient features of Mr. Whalen's hurry-up traffic experiment included:

Prohibiting of all parking in the theatrical zone.

Forbidding of all turns in the area between Forty-second and Fiftieth streets bounded by Fifth and Ninth avenues.

No taxicab cruising until after 9:30 p.m.

Pedestrians forbidden to cross streets except on green lights.

HANFORD, Jan. 21.—A parole has been granted by the county board to Jack Barnhill, sentenced to six months in the County Jail on conviction of a charge of alleged contributing to the delinquency of an 11-year-old schoolgirl. Barnhill, who had served three months of his sentence, was released on pledge that he secure employment and contribute to the proper support of his wife and two small children and that he remain in Kings county for three months.

BUSINESS MEN HELP GROWERS

Fresno Merchants Call Mass Meeting 30th Inst.

Discuss Ways and Means to Aid Industry

To Stabilize Grape Market Ultimate Goal

FRESNO, Jan. 21.—Launching an aggressive campaign to aid the California Vineyardists' Association in its effort to stabilize the grape industry, it was decided at a meeting of a group of Fresno business men here today to call a mass meeting for the 30th inst., at which plans will be made for participation of business men of the county in the C.V.A. program.

Either Donald D. Conn, managing director of the Vineyardists' Association, or some other official of the organization will be invited to be the speaker, and to outline methods by which the business men may aid the association.

It was pointed out by H. R. Freeland, chairman of today's meeting, that in addition to being dependant in a large way upon the prosperity of the vineyardist for their business success, many business men of the county also have big investments in vineyards and other agricultural enterprises, which gives them a direct interest in the success of the stabilization program.

SCIONS BREAK CLAN SILENCE

Vanderbilt-Gould Aloofness Dropped During Meeting Before Mrs. Bishop Gets Divorce

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 21. (AP)—The wall of social silence which has existed between the Vanderbilts and the Goulds for more than seventy-five years was slightly cracked here today when District Judge Bartlett introduced Glorida Gould Bishop to Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., a few minutes before granting the former a divorce from Henry A. Bishop, Jr., of New York.

Young Vanderbilt and the daughter of George Jay Gould smiled and chatted for a few moments and then was escorted by Mrs. Bishop into the judge's chambers, where the divorce took place.

The Vanderbilt-Gould split is said to have started over railroad difficulties between the paternal heads some two generations ago and has continued since. Vanderbilt was merely a visitor to the courtroom and the meeting was accidental.

Mrs. Bishop in her divorce complaint charged the son of the New York industrialist with extreme cruelty. She asserted she feared for the safety of her life on occasions, citing an incident at their Greenwich (Ct.) home September 18, 1925, their second wedding anniversary, when Bishop rushed from the house where he had been sleeping during the afternoon to the veranda and, grabbing her by the neck in the presence of friends, shook her violently.

While she had planned to leave him the next day, Mrs. Bishop said that her husband left her after the incident and the two have not lived together since.

She also accused him of using obscene and violent language in the presence of friends and of referring to members of her family, including her mother, in opprobrious terms.

Mrs. Bishop was awarded sole custody of the minor daughter, Gioia, 4 years of age, and at her request, was granted sole obligation for the child's support. The father may visit the child at reasonable periods, the court decreed. She asked that no alimony be granted.

Check Passer Gives Self Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Fred Hamer, 70 years of age, of Anaheim, walked into police headquarters here today and said he had passed a worthless check for $10 on a Los Angeles grocer a month ago.

Homer was booked en route to Los Angeles.

PRISON WALLS DIM FUTURE

Exeter Youth Faces Charge of Grand Theft

Minister Father Tells of Boy's Confession

Young Man Arrested for Attacking Officers

FRESNO, Jan. 21.—Although it made the shadow of prison that already hangs over his son more definite, Rev. William McClearen, Exeter minister, Saturday revealed to local authorities that his son, Harold, had confessed an automobile theft to him.

The youth is in jail here on a charge of attacking a police officer as the preliminary to a robbery of the Wilson and Pantages theaters.

The car was a county vehicle assigned to Supervisor Jorgensen, and was stolen from the Courthouse park, virtually in the dooryard of the County Jail and Sheriff's office. As the result of the boy's confession the car was recovered in a Visalia garage where he had stored it.

An additional charge of grand theft my be filed against the youth as the result of the theft, Asst. Dist.-Atty. Stewart said.

OFFICIALS TALK ROADS AT HANFORD

Commissions Meet With Chamber Representatives to Discuss Highways

HANFORD, Jan. 21.—State Highway Commissioners M. D. Harris and Fred S. Moody, State Engineer C. H. Purcell and E. C. Wallace, engineer of district No. 6, including Kings county, met representatives of the Kings County Chamber of Commerce this afternoon while en route from Santa Maria by way of Coalinga to Hanford.

Assurance was given that further improvement is to be made on the Sierra to the sea highway on the east side of the Mustang grade. The local committee also brought for informal discussion the taking over of the Elm-avenue road as a part of the State highway system, but the commissioners did not commit themselves.

In respect to the proposed road from Stratford to the Kettleman Hills oil field, it was intimated by the commissioners that Kings county would have to take the initiative to determine the route and do the preliminary work. The relation of the commissioners to the project as a link in a coast-to-valley route depends upon its availability when constructed.

COTTON-TRADE MEASURE VOTED

House Passes Bill Placing Curb on Market

Fashioned After Grain Act Adopted in 1922

New York Exchange Head in Bitter Opposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Regulation of futures transactions on the New York Cotton Exchange on the same plan by which the government now supervises grain futures is provided in a bill by Representative Vinson, Democrat, of Georgia, which passed the House today by unanimous consent.

A companion measure sponsored by Senator Smith, Democrat, of South Carolina, is pending in the Senate, where it appears to have meager chance this session because of the legislative jam involving around the cruiser bill. The legislation has the solid backing of Senators and Representatives from the southern cotton-producing States. It is fought by the New York exchange, whose president, Charles Marsh, made the principal argument against it before the House committee.

CONTROL INTENDED

The bill proposes to place cotton futures under the same strict regulation by the Secretary of Agriculture which that official now has over grain futures under the act of September 21, 1922. As the report of the House Agricultural Committee explains: "Every section of the Grain Futures Act is set out in this bill and made applicable to cotton exchanges by merely a change of the word 'grain' to 'cotton,' and 'boards of trade' to 'cotton exchanges,' with a few minor additions."

The most sweeping provision is one providing for southern deliveries and it is this portion particularly that drew objection from the New York Cotton Exchange, which at present carries on its cotton trade with the stipulation of New York deliveries. If the bill is enacted finally any one of ten markets designated in the South may be inserted in all options traded on in New York.

This is to eliminate what the House committee decided is an "economic waste" of $4 per bale which created a "manipulative condition which very seriously impairs the value of New York contracts for legitimate hedging purposes.

WHAT BILL PROPOSES

The bill, according to the committee, is designed to check manipulation of four different varieties: (1) Shipping or transferring to any contract market any cotton for the purpose of delivery on such contract market at an obvious loss for the purpose of artificially influencing prices; (2) tendering and retendering on futures contracts of notices of delivery for the purpose of artificially influencing prices upon this market; (3) the tender upon futures contracts more than once by the same person in the same month of notices of delivery of the same cotton or otherwise trafficking in delivery for the purpose of artificially influencing prices; (4) engaging in "straddle operations" in and between various markets with the apparent purpose of artificially influencing the movement or prices.

BANKERS NAMED IN CHARGES

Indictments Voted Against Two Former Officials of St. Paul Institution

ST. PAUL, Jan. 21. (AP)—Paul A. Preus and Thomas O. Ofsthun, former treasurer and assistant treasurer, respectively, of the Federal Land Bank here, have been indicted by a Federal grand jury on charges of criminally conspiring to misappropriate more than $50,000 of the bank's funds.

The indictments, returned secretly Saturday, were revealed today when Preus, a brother of former Gov. Preus, surrendered and Ofsthun informed Federal officials he will give himself up later.

Ofsthun resigned as assistant treasurer of the bank in April, 1923. He was not connected with the institution when the asserted defalcations took place. Preus resigned as treasurer in July, 1926.

Preus came here from Cleveland, pleaded not guilty and was released on bond of $10,000.

SUGAR TARIFFS INCREASE ASKED

Six-Sided Controversy Heard in House

American Growers Urge More Protection

Restriction on Import from Islands Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—A six-sided controversy over the American sugar tariff was aired today before the House Ways and Means Committee and through the maze of technical and economic discussion emerged proposals for both increases and decreases in existing duties and requests for and against limitation of duty-free imports from the Philippines.

This discussion revived a dispute that has been dormant ever since the tariff commission proposed a reduction in the levy more than four years ago and upon which no executive action ever has been taken. The testimony was of such technical nature that at times even the witnesses were stumped. Once the hearing turned from the direct subject of sugar duties to that of Philippine independence.

Using the present full rate of 2.2 cents a pound on raw sugar and the 1.76 cents Cuba pays under an allowance of 20 per cent granted by treaty, American cane and beet sugar producers asked for various increases and the limiting of Philippine imports to 500,000 tons, which is slightly under her present production.

COLORADO GROWERS

Fred Cummings, Fort Collins, Colo., representing the Mountain States Beet Growers's Association, proposed a one cent increase on Cuban sugar, making the rate 2.76. He contended sugar is the only food product selling now at prewar prices and that beet growers can not compete with Cuban and Philippine imports.

Appearing for the American Sugar Cane League, C. D. Kemper, of Franklin, La., asked a 3 cent full rate and a Cuban duty of 2.40. He argued that existing rates permit Cuba to lay down sugar in New York at 3.77 cents a pound, or considerably under that which the cane growers can obtain at the same point. He also contended that, if Philippine imports are restricted, any increased demand upon American producers can be met easily by Louisiana and Florida growers.

SPEAKS FOR ISLANDS

Opposing the Philippine Limitation, Maj.-Gen. Frank R. McIntyre, retired, former chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department, and now representing the Philippine government, contended that the islands' imports have no effect on sugar grown elsewhere under the American flag. To continue the present policy, he said, would be in accordance with the free trade principle which should be accorded the islands so long as they remain under the American flag. Pedro Guervara, Philippine resident commissioner, also opposed the limitation, declaring if protection is needed the best way to obtain it is to grant the islands their independence.

To restrict Philippine imports, he said, would be tantamount to sanctioning the "un-American principle of considering a country foreign for one purpose and domestic for another."

While Cuba was denied a direct appeal to the committee under the law, her case was indirectly presented by H. A. Lakin of New York, representing the American producers and importers of Cuban sugar. He recommended a cut in duties, but mentioned no specific figure. He contended Cuban production has not increased under the present tariff, that any increase would tend to raise prices to the American consumer, and that American growers never could produce enough sugar to meet all domestic requirements.

INTEGRAL CONTENTION

V. K. Houston, delegate from Hawaii, indorsed the proposed increases to permit that island's growers to compete with Cuban sugar on the Pacific Coast. He said Hawaii should be considered an integral part of the United States in economic matters and denied that its sugar is in competition with the continental product.

Contending that Porto Rican growers are about breaking even, F. F. Nagle, on behalf of the Association of Sugar Producers of the island, supported the 3-cent full rate and 2.40 Cuban duty. He said it costs Porto Rican producers 4.2 cents a pound to lay down their product at New York, as against 3.77 for Cuba.

Nagle also estimated that of the $77,000,000 loss Porto Rico suffered in the recent hurricane, $23,000,000 represented investments in sugar plantations, which can be rehabilitated only by a higher tariff.

PRICE FIXING SCORED

Publishers Plan to Act on Newsprint Tangle

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Fixing prices of newsprint paper by any means other than competition will be viewed by American newspaper publishers with "grave apprehension," S. E. Thomason, publisher of the Chicago Daily Journal and chairman of the newsprint committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, said today.

"The Chicago publisher's statement followed one by P. I. Ker, Canadian publisher, who said that any price cutting in favor of William Randolph Hearst's publications will be resisted "to the utmost." A contract is purported to have been signed between Hearst and the International Paper Company for paper deliveries at about $50 a ton.

There has been considerable talk the last few days of disciplining Crail formally, either through action of the House or the California delegation. However, it has been decided the best thing was to hush the matter up as much as possible and Crail's California colleagues are doing all they can to have the incident forgotten. The fear on the Republican side of the House now is that some Democrat will seize on the breach of House etiquette and deliver a speech on the floor.

UP TO HIM

It is understood that a plan to move in the House for placing Mr. Crail's remarks in their proper place in the Record has been abandoned in the hope that the Representative himself might see the wisdom of thus conforming to House traditions and have it done without formal action. All he would have to do would be to make a simple request to House clerks.

The House rules fail to specify that remarks under the extension privilege should go in the appendix of the Record, but it is regarded as an inviolable rule of etiquette. Mr. Crail himself has been inclined to regard the matter lightly. His fellow House members from California, while indignant, hope the affair can be adjusted peacefully to prevent it reflecting on the whole State delegation.

NO TELEVISION FOR INAUGURAL

Audible Broadcast March 4 Only One Planned

Senator Moses Says Rumor Misleading Report

Induction of Both Hoover and Curtis to be Heard

BY MARTIN CODEL
Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—All talk about television at the inauguration of President-elect Hoover March 4, next, is pure fabrication. The inaugural ceremonies will be broadcast to the nation and the world through the great radio networks and their short-wave stations, but the process will be the familiar audible one. Visual broadcasting has not reached the point of perfection where the national audience can see as well as hear the great event.

This is the answer to all the ballyhoo that is being heard about introducing television with the Hoover induction ceremonies. Senator Moses of New Hampshire, heading the committee in charge of the inauguration, reports that no one even has proposed to broadcast the event visually. The leading experimenters in the field of television all assert they are not responsible for the misleading reports.

BELL DENIES PLANS MADE

A reply telegram from the Bell laboratories in New York says there are no plans to use the Ives Televisor at the inauguration. This is the apparatus which transmitted living images of Mr. Hoover's features by wire and wireless between Washington and New York something more than a year ago.

C. Francis Jenkins, the Washington inventor, reports that he will have his new television transmitter in operation here before March 4, but asserts that he does not expect to try to broadcast the image of Mr. Hoover making his inaugural address. He adds, however, that his new station, utilizing a 100-kilocycle band of wave length, soon will be broadcasting recognizable images in half-tone that can be picked up by the same sets that are now receiving his "shadowgraphs."

Actual plans for broadcasting the inauguration still are in the inceptive stage. It is practically a certainty that both the National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System will offer the program through all the stations in their coast-to-coast hook-ups. They will have their star announcers here and tentatively have laid plans for having microphones placed at every point where an incident of interest will occur.

SEATING OF CURTIS

One of the innovations of the 1929 inauguration probably will be the placing of a microphone in the United States Senate chamber for the first time. The plan is to broadcast the Vice-Presidential inauguration that precedes the Presidential ceremony. By a curious turn of fate, the man who consistently has opposed placing a radio "mike" in the Senate, Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader, will be the central figure in the ceremony at that chamber.

The nearest approach to the elaborate plans being made for the radio end of the inaugurations was the national broadcasting of the triumphal arrival of Col. Lindbergh from Europe. Announcers were at the Washington navy yard when the cruiser Memphis arrived, and one enterprising newspaper reported the progress of the vessel up the Potomac by radiophone from a plane. There were announcers and microphones also along the line of parade and both at the tip and base of the Washington monument.

WAHABIS SLAY AMERICAN

Ambush by Tribesmen in Irak Results in One Death and Narrow Escape for Others

BASRA (Irak) Jan. 21. (AP)—Henry Bilkerd of the American mission here has been shot and killed by Wahabi tribesmen.

Charles Crane, former American Ambassador to China, accompanied by J. C. Crane, Charles Johnson, his valet, and Mr. Bilkerd left Basra this morning in two cars en route to Koweit.

Half-way on their journey they fell into a Wahabi ambush. Bilkerd was shot dead, but the others escaped unharmed.

Mr. Bilkerd was a native of Kalamazoo, Mich. He came to Basra four years ago, but already had spent eleven years with the American Presbyterian mission on the Persian Gulf. The shot that killed him entered the shoulder and hit the spinal cord.

It developed that the ambush was laid within the Irak frontier. The attackers numbered about 100.

Mr. Crane said that the ambushers were so well hidden in the desert scrub that none of them was visible. No horses or camels were near. Irak shepherds had been warned of the approach of the raiders and had hurried with their flocks to Zubeir, the last Irak town on the edge of the desert.

Mr. Crane is personally acquainted with Ibn Saud, ruler of the Nejd, under whose sway the Wahabis are supposed to be held in check.

Charles Crane and Bilkerd were in a closed car in advance of the rest of their party. Although Mr. Crane said he did not see any of the raiders, the younger Mr. Crane, who was in an open car, said he saw about twelve armed Wahabis on horseback.

Occupants of the second car said that the mounted Arabs gave chase when the machines turned around after being fired on, but soon were distanced.

Opinion here is that the attack is bound to have political effects and that it may bring about a settlement of the disputes over the frontier between Ibn Saud and the directorate government of Irak.

CONSUL CONFIRMS KILLING OF BILKERD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Official confirmation of the killing of Rev. Henry A. Bilkerd, a missionary of the Reformed Church of America, by Wahabi tribesmen near Basra, Irak, was received tonight by the State Department from John Randolph, American Consul at Bagdad.

The message said that Bilkerd was "shot and killed by the Ikh Wan group of the Wahabi tribe Monday afternoon." Charles R. Crane, former American Minister to China, and his party, who were ambuscaded with Bilkerd by the Wahabis, escaped unwounded, according to the advices, and returned safely to Koneit.

The State Department said the attack may have resulted because of a feud existing between them and other branches of the Wahabi tribes under the leadership of Ibn Saud. The Ikh Wan Wahabis are known to be intense religionists, and for this reason are at odds with the Ibn Saud group. Crane is personally acquainted with Ibn Saud.

Heart Disease Proves Fatal at 60 Years of Age

Pretentious Home for Paper Built Few Years Ago

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21. (AP)—Col. James Elverson, Jr., publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, died today from heart disease. He would have been 60 years of age in February.

Col. Elverson leaves his widow, who was Eleanor Mayo, daughter of Frank Mayo, the widely known actor of years ago, and a sister, Mme. Eleanor Louise Patenotre of Paris, widow of Jules Patenotre, former French Ambassador to the United States.

Col. Elverson was born in Philadelphia. His father was widely known as publisher of Golden Days, a weekly publication for boys and girls.

The senior Elverson entered the daily newspaper field in 1889 when he published the Philadelphia Inquirer and later made his son, James, Jr., general manager of the paper. When his father died in 1911 the son became president and publisher.

A few years ago Col. Elverson erected on North Broad street the Elverson Building, the home of the Inquirer, and one of the show structures of Philadelphia. He maintained his residence in the tall tower of the building.

DETAILS IN VARE VOTE CASE FILED

Contestant Asks Senate to Reject Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Ballots

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Detailed specification charging fraud in the Pennsylvania primary of 1926 was filed with the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee today by William B. Wilson, who is contesting the Senate seat to which William S. Vare was declared elected.

The report protests the entire vote of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and asks that the votes cast in those cities be rejected.

Thirty-nine specifications of fraud were listed by Wilson, who was the Democratic candidate, in the case of the Philadelphia votes. They included charges that excessive expenditures were made for printing official ballots, that large numbers of "extra" ballots were illegally distributed at various polling places, and that persons not properly authorized by law to receive them were given ballots.

House Passes Bill for Espee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The House today passed a Senate bill to permit the Southern Pacific Railroad to build a track across government land at Benicia Arsenal. The measure goes to President Coolidge.

The bill would give the Southern Pacific Company clear approach to a bridge across Carquinez Straits, an arm of San Francisco Bay. Consent for the construction of the bridge already has been granted.

Assistant Examiner Vaughn Leaving in March

Commission Posts Resigned for Private Practice

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Carl I. Wheat, chief counsel for the Railroad Commission since 1922, and Reginald L. Vaughn, assistant attorney and examiner for the last five years, submitted their resignations today to enter the private practice of law. The resignations were accepted, Wheat's to take effect February 15, next, and Vaughn's to date from March 1, next. Thomas S. Louttit, president of the commission, said no successors have been selected as yet.

Both the attorneys recently argued before the United States Supreme Court in the effort of the commission and the city of Los Angeles to keep the Los Angeles Railway Company from raising its fares. They are co-authors of two printed volumes on public utilities.

Kellogg Signs Balkan Pacts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Treaties of arbitration and conciliation with Bulgaria and the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes were signed today by Secretary Kellogg and the diplomatic representatives of those countries.

When housewives get

they end it thus:

Every housekeeper knows that it is unsafe to catch a cold or develop throat trouble.

At the first sign of either, gargle with full strength Listerine. Then keep it for hours at least those all-important hours during which serious infection is most likely to take root. This is the time when Listerine has the power to overcome disease germs.

You probably know, it kills the dangerous B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ in 15 seconds. Yet it is safe to use on delicate tissue.

Gargle with Listerine morning and night, after exposure to sudden changes of temperature, or bad air. Our big booklet "Personal Hygiene" is yours for the asking. Write Dept. S. 53, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

AND FOR COLDS

Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

Morrow Believed in Line for State Portfolio

President-elect on Way to Florida for Vacation

taining full payment of all foreign war obligations as well as to prepare the way for greater American markets in the Pan and South American countries.

With the strong indorsement of his home State, New Jersey, and most of the eastern States Morrow now seems to be the final choice. J. Reuben Clarke of Utah, now undersecretary of state, was the principal legal assistant of Ambassador Morrow in the satisfactory settlement of the Mexican oil concessions dispute and close observers expect that Mr. Morrow will step in when Secretary Kellogg retires to Santa Barbara, next March.

President-elect and Mrs. Hoover left today for Florida for several weeks of rest and to enable him to complete the selection of his Cabinet and to finish his inaugural address. He is accompanied by Chairman Hubert Work of the Republican National Committee and General Counsel Burke of the committee.

During his stay in Florida, Lawrence Ritchie will be in charge of his offices as his secretary. George Akerson, Mr. Hoover's assistant, will remain here for a few days but later will join the Hoover party at Miami.

DATE IN DOUBT

It is doubtful as to just when President-elect Hoover will return to Washington. It may be February 20, next, or may be March 4. Official announcement of his Cabinet is not expected until the time of inauguration.

Senate and House leaders have accepted the decision of the President-elect that the special session will be called on April 15, next, and will attempt to complete the two reasons for its existence—farm relief and tariff revision in sixty days with the positive dead line of July 1, as the limit of going home. Expert parliamentarians say that this can be done if Hoover's plan is followed. They now are disposed to follow it to the letter in the hope that farm relief and tariff can be arranged so the farmers may get the benefit with their 1929 crops. Then it is said other business can plan on the future with certainty after the special session is at an end.

HOOVER SPEEDS SOUTH FOR MONTH OF REST

HOOVER SPECIAL, EN ROUTE TO MIAMI (Fla.) Jan. 21. (AP)—President-elect Hoover traveled southward today through Virginia and North Carolina, bound for a month's rest in Miami — his last chance for a vacation before he enters the White House on March 4.

He intends to make the most of it, too. After his close confinement in Washington during the last two weeks and the conferences with hundreds of office-seekers and advisers, the prospect of quiet, lonely days in the Florida keys, fishing for barracuda, sailfish and other aristocrats or more humble inhabitants of the Gulf Stream, holds the strongest appeal for Mr. Hoover.

His most precious baggage is the deep-sea tackle which he bought in California before embarking on his South American trip, and a new rod which has been presented recently to him.

The President-elect is expected to disappear on a fishing trip of several days' duration as soon as he gets through with the first round of visitors in his new home. He may return to Washington about February 25, and he may not appear there until the day before his inauguration — that is a question which Mr. Hoover has not yet decided definitely.

The special train of nine cars made fast time over the Atlantic coast line. No special stops were on schedule outside those necessary for operating, but all along the way people were watching for his train and hoping for a chance to greet him.

There will be as few political conferences at Miami as possible for the first week or two, at least, and Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who is on the train, is expected to take a good deal of this work from Mr. Hoovers' shoulders. The national chairman also may find occasion to do a little reorganizing and missionary work for the party while he is in the South.

The Hoover train will reach Miami at 2 p.m. tomorrow. A Statewide celebration has been planned and Mr. Hoover timed his arrival in deference to his Florida friends. He captured this State by 42,000 votes over Gov. Smith.

GOV. DERN INDORSES CATES FOR CABINET JOB

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 21. (AP)—Gov. Dern of Utah, a Democrat, today telegraphed to President-elect Hoover his indorsement of Louis S. Cates, vice-president and general manager of the Utah Copper Company and a resident of this city, as Secretary of the Interior.

"In the King's grave last year we found nine court ladies wearing head-dresses of gold and semi-precious stones. Here there are already thirty-four such and for the most part they are far more splendid, for the best are only less remarkable than the headdress of Queen Shub-Ad herself."

SENATE OUSTS GOV. JOHNSTON

his motion was brushed aside with a substitute calling for acceptance of the charges which automatically suspended the Governor.

Telegrams asking that the Governor be not suspended were received earlier in the afternoon by several Senators from C. Robert Bellatti, publisher of two newspapers at Blackwell. The telegrams said that sentiment in the northern section of the State was against suspension among both Democratic and Republican citizens.

The Senate court of impeachment was organized soon after the suspension was ordered. Chief Justice Mason of the State Supreme Court, who under the constitution is presiding officer of the impeachment court, administered the oath of office to members. The 23rd inst. was appointed as the date for appearance of Gov. Johnston before the court to enter a plea and a recess until Friday, the 25th inst. was taken.

MORE INVESTIGATIONS

The Senate tomorrow will turn to its own investigation, when a committee will attempt to determine whether there was foundation for rumors and newspaper reports that $100,000 was used to influence some members of the Senate to vote for adjournment of the attempted impeachment session of the Legislature in 1927. It was expected that Carl Magee, Oklahoma City editor, who published the rumors, would be one of the first witnesses to be called.

Returning to its inquisitorial work immediately after adjournment of the House this afternoon the House investigating committee heard further evidence of activities of various State departments, including the Governor's office.

The State Supreme Court became a matter of investigation with the introduction as a witness of its clerk, Mrs. Jessie Moore, who produced records. Edwin Dabney, Attorney-General, was questioned in connection with his participation in the contempt trial of H. Bart Martin, Tulsa attorney, who was fined $1000 in 1927.

ATTORNEY'S RECORD

Martin was tried by a special Supreme Court appointed by Gov. Johnston after the regular members of the court had acceded to his demand that they disqualify. Martin was an attorney for O. O. Owens, Tulsa legislator and oil operator, in numerous civil cases before the court.

Owens, who has been active in the impeachment proceedings, was tried for contempt by the regular court in 1927, found guilty and sentenced to on year in jail. He served about three months of the sentence and now is at liberty pending an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

CONFIRMATION GIVEN TO WEST

one of those leading the spirited attack. Complaint was registered against the action of West in participating as a member of the Federal Power Commission, in the hearing on a petition by the Cumberland Hydro-Electric Company, a subsidiary of the Insull companies, for a license to develop power at Cumberland Falls, Ky.

On behalf of West, it was recalled that he had consented to withdraw from participation in any cases coming before his department involving the Insull companies.

The final efforts to get the whole proceedings into the open provoked another of the many rows the Senate frequently indulges in over how contested executive nominations are to be considered, but the two-thirds necessary to break the practice of secrecy in the consideration of nominations was not available.

After the vote on confirmation two other votes were taken before the doors were opened. The first was on whether the roll call on the West nomination should be made public. This failed. The second was on a motion to make public the majority and minority reports of the Lands Committee. Although the hearings before the committee were public and the testimony was published, the Senate stood firm against publication of the reports.

CHANGE PETITIONED IN NOMINATION LAW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—A petition asking the California Legislature to amend the primary law relating to the nomination of candidates for Representative was being circulated among California members of the House today by Representative Barbour of Fresno. It asks the Legislature to change the law so that a notary may certify to all the sixty signatures sponsoring a Congressional candidacy with one operation. As it now stands the law is interpreted as making it necessary to have each signature verified as it is obtained.

KILLER WHALE CHASES BYRD

pale but strangely beautiful tint of blue.

The commander turned the boat's nose southward then along the barrier wall and we followed it for more than a mile where ice which was caked too thick to buck with our small boat and not heavy enough to stand on stopped our progress. Just at this point the farthest distance we could get away from the ship, the masts of which could just be distinguished through the murk, the motor, which was new and still a bit stiff, coughed and died.

BYRD STARTS MOTOR

Byrd examined the face of the barrier inland with his glasses examining a point where the barrier sloped gently down to the bay ice but which now is blocked by high pressure ridges and then decided to start home. The motor had other ideas about it however and while Sipe and Sutton sweated over yanking at the starting and fussing with the carburetor Byrd and the other two got out oars and began to row. We had been jogging along at about six knots with the motor but with oars the heavy boat moved slowly and it looked like a long row home. We pounded in and out of big cakes of ice while two Akua gulls swept down over us to look over this strange invasion. They passed several times only a few feet over our heads before circling off to land. There were many snow petrels sitting on the cakes perfectly camouflaged against the snow, only their black eyes and bills making them visible and once Byrd pointed at a big cake at which it was necessary to look for some time before we could see about thirty of these beautiful birds sitting in the snow watching us.

Finally the commander himself, who was handling the outboard boats a good deal tried his hand at starting it and managed to get it going, although it sputtered occasionally.

It was just after this when we were approaching the point at which the boat was to turn westward along the face of the bay ice toward the ship.

WHALE SPOUT SEEN

A whale spout was seen about a half mile away. We regarded that spout with intense interest. Byrd was steering, standing up and his face outlined by woolen cap. The drift ice was heavy and thick here and we wound through it, all eyes on the point ahead which was broken and serrated by upstanding cakes of ice which had evidently come from an old pressure ridge. Another spout was seen and then as the whale rolled forward the long black fin of a killer could be seen standing up over a low cake. Well, there was no doubt about what they were; the question was what would they do and how many of them were there. They hunt in packs and as many as thirty-five spouts have been counted at once while we have been lying here which would indicate at least twice as many whales in one group.

It is hard to convey to anyone who has not seen one, the horrible appearance of these killers of the sea. Ponting who was with Scott's last expedition, was on a cake of ice near the ship one day when sever.l killers went below the ice and rammed it from below and smashed it and then stuck their heads up to get Ponting. He escaped by a miracle, jumping from cake to cake until he reached safety.

KILLER'S RECORD BAD

Killers have been seen to seize a seal in their jaws and rush off with it tearing it to pieces. We have seen them here lift their heads above the ice and stare at us with their little piggish eyes, holding themselves on their tails for an appreciative moment with several feet of their head and jaws out of the water. Just below the jaw is a patch of dirty yellow and there is a yellowish white stripe on each side just back of the fins. We knew what they would do if they got a man in the water. But we were wondering what they would do to a boat and believed that in a short time we would have solved that problem. It was then that Dick Byrd showed those qualities of caution and daring the combination of which have brought him through so many difficulties. He was chewing gum rapidly and pushed his cap back so that he could see perfectly. Both he and Strom had huge forty-fives, for we learned that a killer can be killed with a bullet, and Byrd switched his around so that he could get at it quickly. It seemed a small thing with which to kill a creature more than twenty feet long. We could not dodge them by going outside for that would not have been safe, so Byrd held his course close to the ice and headed straight for where the spouts shot upward and sprayed out in the wind.

THREE COME ALONG

The responsibility was his now and we all sat silent and watched two of us smoking and one at least hanging onto a pipe just to show that he did not care if there were killers around. We could see by this time that there were three of them. Byrd was maneuvering very carefully trying to time his meeting with the whales so that he would have firm ice in shore to which we could jump if necessary. As we reached a little point with a small inlet beyond it, three black fins rolled up in front of us, just a little inside of us toward the ice. Byrd at once turned the boat so as to cut across their tails as they rolled under again. As he did so we paused not more than ten feet behind them as they disappeared, diving under us. Still there had been no indication that they would attack the boat, but the fact that they were at least interested in it came a moment later.

When they broke water again just in back of us and not more than twenty feet way, they had changed their course and were coming after us heading directly toward the boat. There was something enormously deliberate in that slow roll forward, conveying a feeling that they were in no hurry, that they knew they could get us if they wanted us badly. If they bumped the boat they could have overturned it in a moment and it is doubtful if Byrd and Strom both could have killed more than one of the three, for it is hard to hit the things in a vital spot.

ESCAPE TO ICE

All this must have been passing quickly through Byrd's mind, mingled with the feeling of responsibility for his men. And he also showed the keen interest of a man intent on watching the progress of a fascinating hunt. As the whales rolled toward us he stood with his body half-twisted around, so that he could see them; holding the tiller in one hand the revolver which he had pulled from its holster in his other. It was then that he outguessed the killers, for as they went under again he shifted the course of the boat once more and headed directly toward the ice.

"Get ready to get on the ice," he yelled, and as he came alongside one of us scrambled ashore with a rope and held the boat while the others stumbled out, Byrd leaving last and still looking seaward with his revolver ready to take a shot at one of the ugly snouts if it should be lifted up in anticipation of a meal.

"I am a fairly good shot, but I don't know how good I would be with a whale coming at me," he said with a laugh. The killers must have dived under the boat and gone under the ice, thinking we were a seal or some other water animal, and if so, they must have been deeply disappointed. As far as we were concerned they could have remained under there forever.

WHALES GIVE UP QUEST

We waited for a time to see if they would reappear and we recalled Ponting's experience and wondered if there would be a bump under our cake that would shatter the comparatively thin ice.

"Well, if they do smash it we can always get back in the boat," said Byrd, which was not so much of a comfort. "It is easy walking to the ship and if you fellows want to you can walk back and Strom and I will bring the boat back," said the commander, but there was a chorus of "No." So after a few minutes, during which the whales did not reappear, the motor was started again and we pushed off. A good deal depended on that motor just then and it chose that moment to sputter and quit.

We did not know where the killers were and Byrd addressed the motor in vigorous and forceful terms, which apparently shamed it into action for it started again. Very carefully with one of us on lookout in the bow keeping a close watch for our tigerish friends, we kept on to the ship and arrived there safely. A few minutes before we arrived the lookout had seen the three killers pass the ship, probably still looking for us.

And as we climbed up the side your correspondent remarked to the commander that although he would not have missed the experience for the world, he had been quite close enough to killer whales, a feeling which even the stolid Strom also shared. One cannot go anywhere down here apparently without finding something interesting and exciting.

CHICAGO RAIDS PACK LOCK-UPS

drives and so the women's quarters of the police stations were given over to the men.

At the afternoon show-up, the facilities of the new police building in the downtown loop district were so taxed by the enormous crowds of prisoners and police that Chief of Detectives Egan ordered outlying stations to stop sending in prisoners.

WOMAN QUESTIONED

One of the women occupied the show-up stage alone for a moment. Betty Rocco, 18 years of age, was asked what she did for a living.

"I steal," she answered, somewhat proudly.

Although the police say she has a record as a shoplifter, as have the other women held, no one was able to identify her.

Another of the women prisoners is Juanita Garbordo, 21, who served a prison term for aiding Bernardo Ros and his Mexican companions in escaping from the Joliet jail.

The raids appear to be having their effect, for only one robbery was reported last night and the two involved were arrested a short time afterward.

CRUISER BILL WHIP TO CRACK

cruisers and an airplane carrier have not yet spoken against it. All debate on the bill has been consumed by its supporters. But the persistent manner in which the measure's opponents talk on everything else coming before the Senate has prompted some of the navy men to make the charge of a filibuster.

CURTIS OPTIMISTIC

However, Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican leader, who conferred today with the party wheelhorses on the situation, believed there was no determined filibuster and declared his belief that things would work out all right.

It is unusual to permit any delay in the appropriation bills which carry the funds for next year's government expenditures. Failure of any of the measures frequently necessitates an extra session. However, an extra session already has been assured and the leaders are about ready to take a chance, although it is their full intention to make sure if possible, that the supply bills be put through before March 4.

ADOPTION PREDICTED

Chairman Hale of the Naval Committee, in charge of the cruiser bill, which has now been before the Senate for a year, was very confident tonight after the series of conferences during the day over the outlook. He predicted adoption of his bill.

The opponents led by Senator Norris of Nebraska, are saying nothing. They profess ignorance of the filibuster charge. However, they smile confidently when predictions are made that the bill will pass.

Meanwhile, the deficiency supply measure consumed the remainder of today's session after the vote on confirmation of Roy O. West as Secretary of the Interior. It carries the amendment increasing the prohibition-enforcement fund by $25,000,000. After this contest is settled Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, will wage a fight for closer supervision of tax refunds and considerable time may be occupied on the measure's consideration.

TIME UNCERTAIN

So it is not at all certain just when the cruiser bill which is technically the "unfinished business," can get before the Senate.

Because of the situation, Senator Watson of Indiana, the prospective Republican leader for next session, was called from his sick bed today to attend the conference of party leaders on the program.

Apprehensions of a filibuster were strengthened when Senator Blaine, after speaking for more than three hours today refused to enter into an agreement for a vote on the prohibition item in the pending deficiency appropriation bill.

Senator Curtis, at the conclusion of debate today, asked that a time be set tomorrow for a vote on the proposed increase in prohibition funds and for a time to vote on the controversial tax-refund item. Because of the small attendance, Senator Blaine said he did not think such an agreement should be made.

A quorum call at 6 p.m. failed to muster a quorum and a recess until tomorrow was taken.

ALASKA HAS FOUR-HOUR TEMBLORS

Fairbanks Residents Rush to Street During Night as Severe Shocks Occur

FAIRBANKS (Alaska) Jan. 21. (AP) What is believed to have been the longest and most severe earthquake in the history of this temblor-ridden section kept residents of Fairbanks in suspense for nearly four hours today.

The disturbance started at 12:30 p.m., many clocks being stopped by the first shock, which lasted more than a minute, and continued until 4:20 o'clock when the last heavy convulsion died out, accompanied by heavy earth rumblings. Fourteen distinct earth shocks were counted during the four-hour period.

The sounds in the earth added to the alarm and many persons hurried to the streets from their homes and hotels. Nearly all persons in the city were forced from their beds by the quakes, which in many instances, rolled beds about on their castors.

The shocks seemed to travel southwest with the ground moving in a slight wave. Damage was confined to some broken stocks on store shelves and a few windows.

Reports from the Alaska College at Nenana said all the residents there rushed out into the streets during the quakes. Curry and Anchorage, farther down the Nenana River toward the coast, felt the disturbance to a lesser degree.

SEATTLE, Jan. 21. (AP)—Declared by university scientists to indicate shocks more severe than the tremors which took several lives in Venezuela Friday and Saturday, a series of earthquakes was recorded on the University of Washington seismograph today. The temblors were recorded from 2:39 to 3:38 a.m.

EXPENSE OF LAWMAKING UNDER PAR

State Controller Casts Up Accounts of Session; Allowance Not Used Up

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 21. (AP)—It has cost the State $28,468.20 to have the 120 legislators in session twelve days, the first half-period of the forty-eighth biennial session, State Controller Riley estimated here today.

The Legislature convened on the 7th inst. and finished its introduction of bills and passing of urgency measures on the 18th inst. to reconvene for the second half-period on February 18.

The Assembly, with eighty members, recorded expenses totaling $16,480.80, the largest item being $11,520 for salaries of members; $2639 for wages to officers and clerks, $1848 in mileage checks and $273 contingent expenses.

The expenses of the Senate, with forty members, totaled $9985.40; salaries of members being $5760; pay to officers and clerks $2570.50; mileage $1265.60, and contingent expenses $389.30.

Riley estimated that, considering the constitutional allowance of $300 per day, the total of $1682.50 actually was saved during the twelve-day period. He figured that $921.50 of the Senate allowance was unused and $761 of the Assembly quota.

State School Head to Come From South

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20. (AP)—Gov. Young said today that his choice for a successor to William John Cooper, retiring State Superintendent of Public Instruction, probably would be a Southern Californian.

Both because Cooper held the office from San Diego and because the Governor's Cabinet now includes only one southerner—Earl E. Jenson, Director of Institutions, the Governor said that he felt that the appointment should fall south of Tehachapi Pass.

Among educators most often mentioned as possibilities for the post are Verling Kersey, assistant city superintendent of schools at Los Angeles; Hubert Upjohn, acting superintendent of Los Angeles county; Dr. Osman Hall of the faculty of the University of Southern California, and W. R. Hepner, city superintendent at San Diego.

HEAVY SHIPMENT OF CITRUS FRUIT

ANAHEIM, Jan. 21.—Growers marketing through the Anaheim Co-operative Orange Association were paid $614,501.60 for all grades of fruit handled during the past year, according to the annual report submitted to members today by Harry W. Pierce, manager. A refund payment of seven cents per packed box still is to be made.

The association was able to return to the grower $3.456 per field box on Valencias, the manager reported. The house now controls 3004 acres of citrus fruit, a net gain of 45 per cent during the past year, the report reveals.

During the past season the house shipped 111,783 packed boxes of Valencias in four regular pools, and 11,808 boxes in the off-bloom pool.

OFFICIAL OF PRISON FACES FRAUD CHARGE

SEATTLE, Jan. 21. (AP)—Charges of using the mails to defraud were filed against John W. Williamson, former secretary to Warden Finch Archer of McNeil Island penitentiary, here today. Williamson was accused of posing as a prisoner and sending an appeal for funds to the prisoner's wife. Williamson asserted he acted at the request of the prisoner in whose name he wrote. No money was obtained.

PENINSULA LINE UNDER SCRUTINY

Belt Railway's Operation Accredited to Espee

Latter Opposes Proposal to Build New Road

Testimony Livens Inquiry at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—The status of the South San Francisco Belt Railroad and its approximately six miles of trackage in what is known as San Francisco's industrial territory, came under the scrutiny of Examiner Davis of the Interstate Commerce Commission today when hearing was resumed on the application of the Western Pacific California Railroad to construct a new line from San Francisco to Redwood City.

The line was purchased December 1, last, by Herbert Fleishhacker, financier, according to an announcement made by him at that time. Financial details never were made public and Fleishhacker gave no other reason for the purchase than "an investment."

Just prior to the opening of the present hearing, the belt line filed an intervening petition on behalf of the Southern Pacific, which is fighting the proposed peninsula line of the Western Pacific California subsidiary.

ESPEE INVOLVED

During the testimony today of a long list of witnesses appearing on behalf of the Southern Pacific, L. L. Foley, traffic manager for the Western Meat Company, asserted the South San Francisco Belt Railroad is being operated by the Southern Pacific and attention centered immediately on the belt line, Examiner Davis directing the questions.

Foley testified that Fleishhacker bought the line from the Swift Packing interests and a few days later the Southern Pacific began to operate it. The inference was plain that the Southern Pacific had been interested in the purchase of the belt line. Fleishhacker, the purchaser, recently left on a trip around the world.

Evan J. Foulds, attorney for the Southern Pacific, leaped into the situation with a declaration that there is no mystery about the appearance of Southern Pacific locomotives on the belt line tracks and offered in evidence a copy of the operating agreement.

RECEIVERSHIP FORECAST

Later, when the agreement came under further consideration, Percy G. Shaw, superintendent of belt line, averred that by the terms of the agreement the belt line was to lose its independent operating identity through the purchase. Shaw also testified that at the time Fleishhacker bought the line, the Western Pacific also was negotiating for it.

Answering questions of Arthur B. Roehl, attorney for the belt line, Shaw testified that the projected Western Pacific line would involve such heavy expenditures for the belt line that higher rates or receivership would be inevitable.

Witness after witness filed into and out of the box throughout the day, the great majority of them shippers, the bulk of whose assertions was that the peninsula is not in a position to support another rail line and that Southern Pacific service is adequate and ample. In almost every instance they declared another rail line will mean higher rates, but declared, when asked, that they predicated their opinions on the conviction that the Western Pacific will not attract the new industries it says it will.

J. B. Matthews, valuation engineer for the Southern Pacific, attacked the proposed line from the standpoint of its asserted geographical shortcomings. He said it is proposed to build so much of the line over marshy ground, along the bay shore, that the maintenance cost will be at least double that estimated by Western Pacific engineers.

Southern Pacific direct testimony will continue tomorrow with rebuttal scheduled for Wednesday.

Coal Regulating Bill Scored as Hearing Closes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Testimony of coal operators before the Senate Commerce Committee in opposition to the bill to regulate the bituminous coal industry was concluded today with an attack upon the measure by Karl D. Loos, a Washington attorney for the National Coal Association.

As had previous opposing witnesses, Loos said the bill is unconstitutional and added that any other bill "for the accomplishment of like objects also would be unconstitutional." The Federal government, he said, cannot extend its influence to the production and sale of coal because it is not interstate commerce.

"Coal is not commerce at all," he declared. "It is purely local intrastate business. The proposed bill also is unconstitutional in that it attempts to regulate the relations between employers and employees engaged in a business which is not interstate commerce."

ASSAILANT OF BOY FACES FELONY CHARGE

SAN JOSE, Jan. 21. (AP)—Joe Carmosino, 60 years of age, of Sunnyvale, was arraigned in Justice Court here this afternoon on a charge of assault to commit murder following his asserted unprovoked attack yesterday on 7-year-old Joseph Marinello, also of Sunnyvale. A friend of the boy's father, Leo Marinello, Carmosino accompanied the two on a mushroom-hunting expedition near Palo Alto, officers were advised, and Carmosino suddenly whipped out a clasp knife, plunged it into the boy's body and exclaimed to the father, "There, I've killed your boy." Carmosino became violent when arrested and officers declare he appears demented.

NAVY MAN DROPS DEAD

AMERICANS IN TEMBLOR ZONE SILENT

Fate of Missionaries Near Venezuelan Quake Center Still Remains in Doubt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The American Legation at Caracas has telegraphed the State Department that it has been unable to learn whether any harm befell the four American missionaries of the Orinoco River mission in the earthquake which occurred at Cumana, Venezuela. Their names, the charge d'affaires reported, are believed to be Mr. and Mrs. Lange, Miss Brown and Mrs. Rapilee, whose home office is the Bible House, Los Angeles.

Latest estimates place the lives lost at Cumana at about thirty-five, the charge reported, adding that the injured are estimated at 800 and most of the public buildings and private dwellings destroyed. President Gomez has donated $100,000 toward relief, to which numerous private contributions have been added.

President Coolidge sent a message to President Gomez, saying:

"It is with the deepest regret that I learned of the earthquakes which have wrought such widespread destruction and loss of life in the cities of Cumana and Sarpuano. On behalf of the people of the United States and in my own name, I wish to express to Your Excellency and to the people of Venezuela an expression of sincere sympathy."

ARIZONA ROAD PLANS FRAMED

Association Group Submits $94,375,839 Project

Program for Fifteen Years' Building Provided

Bond Issue Also Proposed; Law Changes Needed

PHOENIX, Jan. 21. (AP)—Recommendations providing for a road-building program covering a fifteen-year period ending in 1945, with an expenditure of $94,375,839.77, were submitted to the Arizona Good Roads Association at its annual meeting here today by a committee named a year ago. This program is based on estimated revenues from the various sources from which funds are now received and augmented by a bond issue, which later shall be retired by increased receipts from these sources.

The report was submitted in writing by W. W. Lane, State Engineer, who was added to the committee and co-operated with it at the various conferences.

Amendments to the present highway code, together with an amendment to the State constitution, are both necessary to the carrying out of this program, the report stated.

The construction program, as outlined, including hard-surfacing of artificial highways where traffic conditions require it, maintenance and improvement of roads in preparation for ultimate hard surfacing, provides for an average annual expenditure over the fifteen-year period of a little more than $6,000,000, or a total of $94,375,839.77. Estimated receipts, including a bond issue of $13,290,491.37, retirement of which also is provided, is placed at $96,510,200, leaving a balance to provide for contingencies of $2,134,714.77.

Under the plan outlined, the bonds would be issued over a period of eight years commencing with 1930 and ending in 1937. Their retirement would begin in 1939 and be completed in 1945.

DOUBLES DOUBLE UP ON TROUBLE

Partnership in Business Works, Ditto as to Home Life Irks; Brothers Wed on Selfsame Day Get Divorce Summons in Similar Way

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—A double wedding followed by a two-couple home arrangement developed today into a pair of divorce bills being filed in Superior Court against Robert and Alfred La Ferla, brothers. The plaintiffs, both represented by Attorney Samuel Rothman, are Mrs. Gemma La Ferla and Mrs. Mary La Ferla, who have left their husbands and their residence at 2922 North Lotus street.

"The trouble," said Attorney Rothman, "is the outcome of a sound economic principle proving to be a faulty sociological experiment. The brothers, who are partners in the tailoring business, are thrifty. They tried to save money by carrying the partnership into their domestic lives—and they've lost their wives."

Seven years ago Robert and Alfred, bachelors, both were engaged in ardent courtships. One automobile could carry four passengers so they started making double dates. On July 8, 1922, there was a double wedding at the expense of a single ceremony.

The two couples moved into a bungalow at 2922 North Lotus street. They needed only one icebox instead of two; one telephone served for all; there was only one furnace for two men to tend and coal bills were cut in half from what they might have been.

Robert and Alfred got up in the morning together, had breakfast together, went to work together, came home together, and at night the two couples sat in the same living-room together.

"The brothers sat around the house at night and 'talked shop'," Attorney Rothman related. "They had more in common with each other than either had with his respective wife. The wives, from what they tell me, resented this lack of attention from their husbands. There were quarrels."

The divorce bills, almost identical except for the first names, charge cruelty.

When Asheville (N. C.) attorneys in a civil case were within $25 of a settlement and it appeared the case would cost several hundred dollars if it went to trial, Judge H. Doyle Sink recommended that opposing counsel "match it out." They retired to the corridor and flipped coins.

Fifty pairs of meadow larks have been shipped from Oregon to Hawaii to add their cheerful song to the bird melody that reigns in the mid-Pacific islands. They also will aid in destroying insect pests.

BAY CITY PINS HOPE ON FORD

Plans to Sell Auto Maker $41,000,000 Bonds

Declared Only Man Able to Handle It

Over-Counter Sale Given Authorization

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—A resolution authorizing sale of $41,000,000 in municipal bonds on an over-the-counter basis at not less than par to finance acquisition of the distributing properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, was passed by the Board of Supervisors today.

At the same time it was suggested that definite efforts be made to interest Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, in the purchase of the entire issue.

Mayor Rolph, who appeared personally before the board with the suggestion, declared Ford will be in San Francisco within the next few weeks and that he probably is the one man in the United States who can get that much cash.

Anxiety to dispose of the issue in bulk is based on legal advice that the bonds cannot be disposed of piecemeal at less than par. The city had planned to take over the property February 1, but no bids were received for the entire issue and the one bid received for a fortieth of the total was rejected.

The origin of the use of pigeons to carry messages is unknown.

ADVANCED SPARK POWER

Can Be Obtained ONLY in the Manner Described Below

By C. F. LIENESCH, Automotive Engineer

RECENT statistics show that only about one person in ten gets the maximum mileage and power from his high compression car that the designer intended it to deliver.

Fig. 1 illustrates the principal reasons for this lessened efficiency. If your spark is retarded on the wheel or under the hood, the peak of burn takes place after the piston has started on its downward stroke when the compression is lessened. Thus maximum power is reduced from around 500 lbs. per square inch to as low as 300 lbs. maximum. Instead of getting high compression results you actually get low compression power—and less mileage.

Next observe Fig. 2. The peak of burn is timed correctly. But the ordinary gasoline is not able to prevent detonation. Thus maximum pressure on the piston head is reduced from 500 lbs. maximum to around 440 lbs. and you secure a sharp metallic "ping ping" when your car is moving slowly or exerting heavy strain. This knock is particularly noticeable on hills—when moving slowly in high gear—or when the foot throttle is pushed to the board in traffic. Such knocks cause unnecessary vibration. They wear your car prematurely.

Now note Fig. 3. The peak of burn is timed correctly. The proper anti-knock fuel built up for high compression is used. With this ideal combination, maximum pressure of around 500 lbs. is exerted on the piston head at every stroke. The full power that the designer of your high compression car intended is obtained. Knocks are eliminated. Pick-up is quickened. Motor repairs are reduced because of minimized vibration. And mileage is increased materially through the smooth powerful "all the way down" thrust of this New Advanced Spark Power.

C. F. Lienesch

What To Do

First have your spark checked to be sure it is timed correctly. Then fuel with Union-Ethyl.

Only in this manner will you obtain maximum power and mileage. Only by following this procedure can you enjoy ADVANCED SPARK POWER.

BOOTH HEARING GOES TO FRIDAY

Council Asks for More Time to Fight Injunction

Counselor Flays Document Attacking General

Both Sides Agree to Keep Out Bitterness

LONDON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Injunction proceedings brought by Gen. Bramwell Booth were adjourned until Friday when they came up in Chancery Court this morning.

The temporary injunction which restrained the high council of the Salvation Army from electing a successor to Gen. Booth will continue in effect until the next hearing.

PROCEEDINGS BRIEF

The proceedings were brief. W. A. Greene, representing Bramwell Booth, said that it had been agreed to let the matter stand over until Friday to give the other side time to prepare evidence. Mr. Greene said that it had come to his notice that one of the defendants had issued a document containing some observations on Bramwell Booth's action in commencing the proceedings. This doubtless was issued with the best of intentions, but he would not help thinking that it would do nothing but harm.

"There are obviously in this matter questions of great legal importance," he said, "particularly as the general is the sole trustee of large and valuable properties and the matter will have to be regulated sooner or later."

The general's action, he continued, was taken on legal advice and was in nowise actuated by personal motives. It was necessary that the constitutional position be made clear.

AMITY URGED

Attorney Gavin Simonds, for the council, agreed that it was much better to have nothing said to embitter the controversy.

Gen. Booth has gained physical strength in the last ten days which will aid him in prosecution of his fight, said the international headquarters of the army, which tonight issued a bulletin signed by two physicians and stating that the general has steadily improved in health.

The Mayor's brother, the complaint says, is in the coal business and the Mayor voluntarily joined the argument with voice and fists.

He also recommended removal of the diagnostic center now at Palo Alto to San Francisco.

AIR INSURANCE RATES LOWERED

Life Companies Now Take Aviation Risks

Tunney Flight to Fight Covered by Policy

Planes Can be Purchased on Time Payments

BY DON BROWN
[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (Exclusive) After seven years of experimenting, American insurance companies are writing aviation policies that are on an average of 40 per cent lower than they were in 1922, a recent check-up shows.

In recent months, new underwriting firms, in addition to life insurance companies, have entered aviation, another indication of the increasing safety of aviation risks, according to the American Air Transport Association, which revealed an interesting instance in connection with insuring Gene Tunney when the heavyweight champion flew just before one of his fights.

The company handling the insurance of the flight agreed to reimburse the promoters for $300,000 if Tunney did not arrive on time. They furthermore insured the plane for $30,000, and the total premium exacted for this $330,0000 policy was only slightly in excess of $1000.

Recently the selling of airplanes on time payments the same as automobiles has come into vogue. Time buyers of airplanes make a minimum down payment of one-third, plus standard insurance charges, and they immediately insure the plane.

Out of the fifty leading companies in the United States and Canada forty-two do not have an anti-air-travel clause, and eight have more or less modified clauses.

The insurance coverage is inclusive, repaying for losses by fire, theft, winds, crashes, public liability, property damage and passenger hazards if passengers are carried for hire.

In case of a plane costing $21,000, the present insurance rate against all hazards is estimated at $3750, more or less, depending on three main factors: Type of plane, pilot's record and character of proposed service.

GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA OPENS ROADS MEETING

PHOENIX, Jan. 21. (AP)—Pledging his aid for progress without political bias, Gov. Phillips this morning delivered the principal address at the opening session of the seventeenth annual convention of the Arizona Good Roads Association. Arizona's executive urged that harmony be the chief factor in the advancement of the organization that for years has been instrumental in the development of Arizona highways. More than 100 delegates from every county in the State were present.

GHOSTS OF PAST STALK AT SALE

Old City Hall Auction Takes on Funereal Air With Chill Wind Wailing Protest Through Heaped Reminders of Other Days

As if in indignant protest against the desecration of things redolent with the romance of early Los Angeles days, a chill wind whipped through the glassless windows of the old City Hall and down the backs of a motley crowd which cried bids for this or that at the auction of the old hall "and contents," which started yesterday morning.

It was dark, it was cold and there was a sort of sinister, funeral atwas a sort of sinister, funeral atcurious people picked their way among radiators, globes from light fixtures, old flags and bunting, plumbing fixtures, old files and cubby holes piled about the main lobby with its grand staircase of solid oak or mahogany all ready to be knocked down to the highest bidder.

COUNTER HIS PLATFORM

Col. W. O. Trask, auctioneer, walked around atop the old counted that used to be the pride of City Clerk Domingues's office—the counter over which countless citizens of Los Angeles, many of them now gone, wrangled over street assessments. It was against this very counter, was it not, that one of our prominent citizens collapsed when he learned that he had a refund coming on some special assessment? Well, here was Col. Trask up parading back and forth on this noble counter, haranguing the crowd and declaring he was not going to holler his lungs out all day if nobody was going to bid for this high-class all-porcelain lavatory.

"One dollar'n a quarter—one dollar'n a quarter—do I hear a dollar anna half?"

FLAGPOLE SOLD

Outside, just a few minutes before, the old forty-foot flagpole was knocked down for $155 "and the gold ball on top goes with it." It was the first article sold and went to George R. Kindred, of North Hollywood. The auctioneer had reminded the crowd around him on the City Hall steps that the flagpole would be a great attraction in anybody's front yard and would draw even larger crowds than the auction itself. Some assistant in the background shouted out that the flagpole whould be a "great momentum" by which to remember the City Hall. The "momentum" idea was reiterated until the pole sold.

Later, however, according to reports from aparently unimpeachable sources, the successful bidder announced he had changed his mind and wanted to back out of the deal. He and the auctioneer went into a conference and indications late last night were that anyone wanting to solve this civic problem could call at the City Hall and make a bid on the flagpole.

From room to room they went, to a great old iron stove such as you find in little railroad depots, a moth-eaten elk's head, an old carpet sweeper, tiles, sets of pigeonholes, counters and a great vault which at times held millions in the city's cash and securities.

The auction will continue as a private sale and anyone may buy a brick or the whole building.

Vandals Wreck College Statue

CORVALLIS (Or.) Jan. 21. (AP)—A reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of vandals who last night hammered to bits the famous statue "Lady of the Fountain" on Oregon State College campus, was announced today by President Kerr.

The statue was that of Hebe, the Greek goddess of youth and cup-bearer to Olympus. It was a gift of the class of 1902.

The statue has been center of athletic rivalry for years and had been stolen several times.

NEW DEFENSE PLANES READY

Largest Amphibian in World Built for Naval Use

Huge Bombing Craft Slated for Army Service

Both Machines Delivered at Nation's Capital

BY J. S. EDGERTON
[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—The largest amphibian plane in the world and a new type of bombing plane with air-cooled motors, which is to become the standard for the Army Air Corps, were in the national capital today as a vivid demonstration of the latest in military airplane engineering.

The amphibian, constructed for the Navy in accordance with the winning planes in the Navy's flying-boat competition held early last year, is convertible into a commercial transport plane having comfortable quarters for thirty-two passengers in a cabin sixty feet long. The amphibian is of the monoplane type, with a spread of 100 feet. It has two 430-horsepower Wasp air-cooled motors and an emplacement for a third motor. The ban of Navy censorship has been clapped down as regards performance characteristics of the great ship. It was built by the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation at Buffalo and flown to this city for official test.

The Army bomber is the first of thirty-five new planes of a type to be known as the "Panther." It can carry 2200 pounds of bombs, has a maximum speed of 128 miles an hour and a cruising range of six hours with a full military load. It is a biplane with a span of seventy-five feet and is the first Army bomber powered with air-cooled engines, having two 725-horsepower radial motors. The performance of this plane under actual flying conditions also remains unknown, since it was completed only a few days ago and has had but one short test flight. The bomber, a Keystone product, was designed to meet a need for sturdier bombing planes capable of carrying greater loads and attaining greater speed.

JUDICIAL EYE ON SILK HOSIERY

Miss Mix Will Get No More Money for Stockings and Clothes Until Creditors Have Been Satisfied, Judge Rosenkranz Decides at Hearing

How much young girls should spend for silk stockings and other silken garments was made the subject of judicial scrutiny in Superior Judge Rosenkranz's court yesterday.

It seems that Attorney R. D. Knickerbocker, representing Tom Mix, father of 16-year-old Ruth Jane Mix, has had some trouble delivering the monthly check for $250 that her father, in the course of divorce proceedings, was ordered to pay her.

"I can't pay her because her creditors keep attaching the alimony check," said Attorney Knickerbocker, explaining the mix-up. "I must request that this girl be declared a common spendthrift and incompetent to manage her affairs. I am served with papers that indicate she has spent $550 for hose and clothes alone."

"Young girls have got to quit spending so much money on clothes—and hose," Judge Rosenkranz solemnly decreed. "At least those subject to the orders of this court have. All money due Miss Mix hereafter will be paid to the County Clerk and impounded until all creditors are satisfied."

The matter of Miss Mix's $1000 hotel bill, recently referred to in court, was brought up by Attorney A. P. Michael Narlian, representing Miss Mix.

"I have here a letter from the girl's mother denying my client ran up any hotel bill of that size," said Attorney Narlian to he cour. "And, furher than that, Mrs. Mix says she would like to know the name of any New York hotel that would allow her to run up a bill of that size. She wants to live there."

Dr. Earl O'Donnell, noted surgeon and sportsman, says:

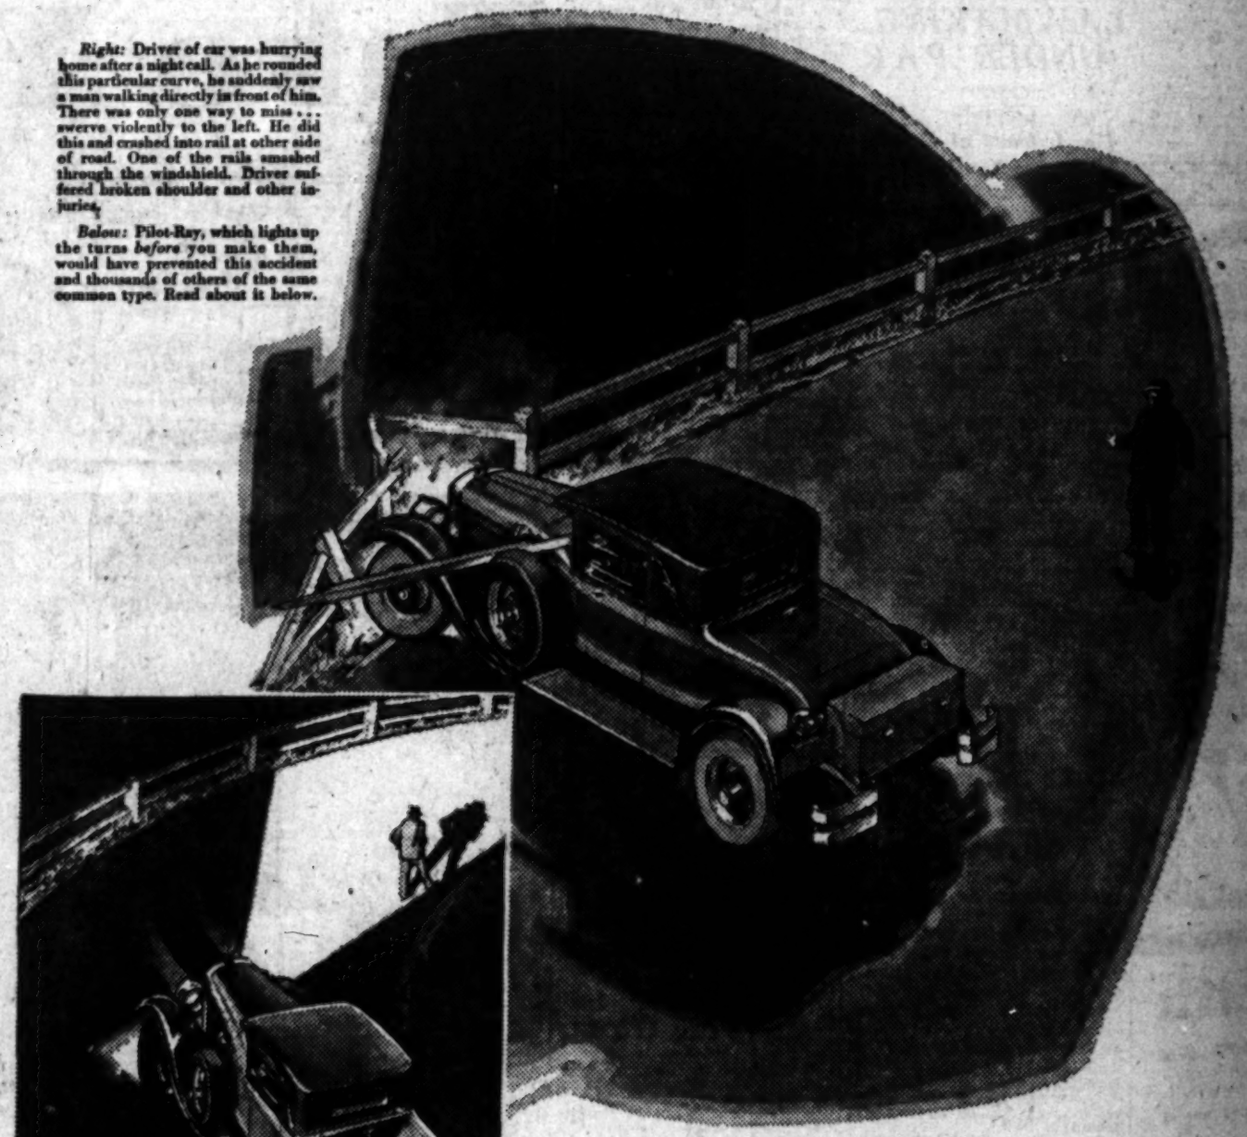
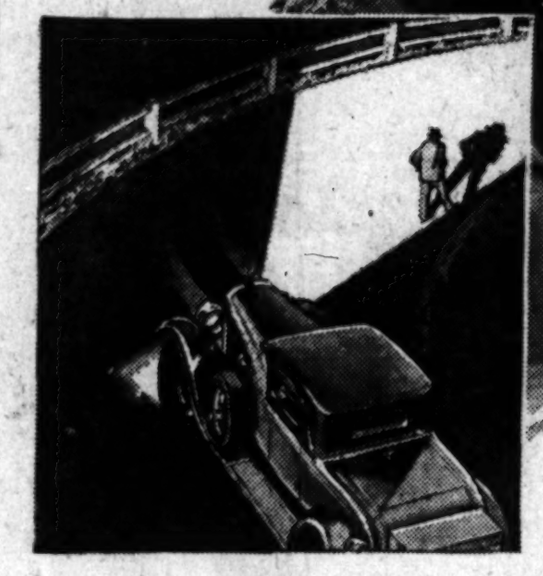
"It makes night driving 50% safer"

This new, scientific lamp automatically lights turns before you make them and gives you three other safety advantages

Right: Driver of car was hurrying home after a night call. As he rounded this particular curve, he suddenly saw a man walking directly in front of him. There was only one way to miss . . . swerve violently to the left. He did this and crashed into rail at other side of road. One of the rails smashed through the windshield. Driver suffered broken shoulder and other injuries.

Below: Pilot-Ray, which lights up the turns before you make them, would have prevented this accident and thousands of others of the same common type. Read about it below.





NO matter how carefully you drive at night, ordinary headlights do not fully protect you. When you round a curve or corner they shoot out into space, leaving you temporarily helpless in the dark.

Dangerous for you! Dangerous for your family and your friends! A constant source of mental anguish! An intense nerve strain to both driver and occupants of your car.

But now unnecessary!

Remedy Found

A new scientific safety lamp mounted between your two headlights and slightly lower, automatically responds to your touch at the steering wheel and turns faster than the wheels of your car. Thus every turn is brightly lighted before you make it.

You see where you are going . . . you drive with confidence . . . your life is not a pawn in the dark.

Less Nerve Strain

You can drive faster, too, with less fear of accident than ever before. Consider what this means in freedom from worry . . . in time saved . . . in greater motoring comfort.

More Light Straight Ahead

On the straightaways, too, Pilot-Ray gives you more light directly on the road. This enables you to avoid broken glass, nails, boulders, etc. Such illumination reduces the number of sudden stops you make, thus saving tires and brake lining.

Cuts Fog

In fog, also, you see the advantage of Pilot-Ray. Set lower than your headlights, it casts a beam along the ground where fog is thinnest and there is less reflected glare.

"My experience," says Dr. Earl O'Donnell, famous Southern California surgeon, "is that night driving becomes at least 50% safer when Pilot-Ray is added to the lighting equipment of any car. I wouldn't be without my Pilot-Ray."

See Your Car Dealer

There is only one Pilot-Ray. No other lamp operates on this safety principle. No other lamp guards your life so faithfully. All responsible automobile dealers recommend it and guarantee it forever against all defects in materials and workmanship.

If you are buying a new car, you can include the price of Pilot-Ray in your contract. Or you can have your dealer install it on your present car. Pilot-Ray's brilliant chromium finish adds beauty to any automobile.

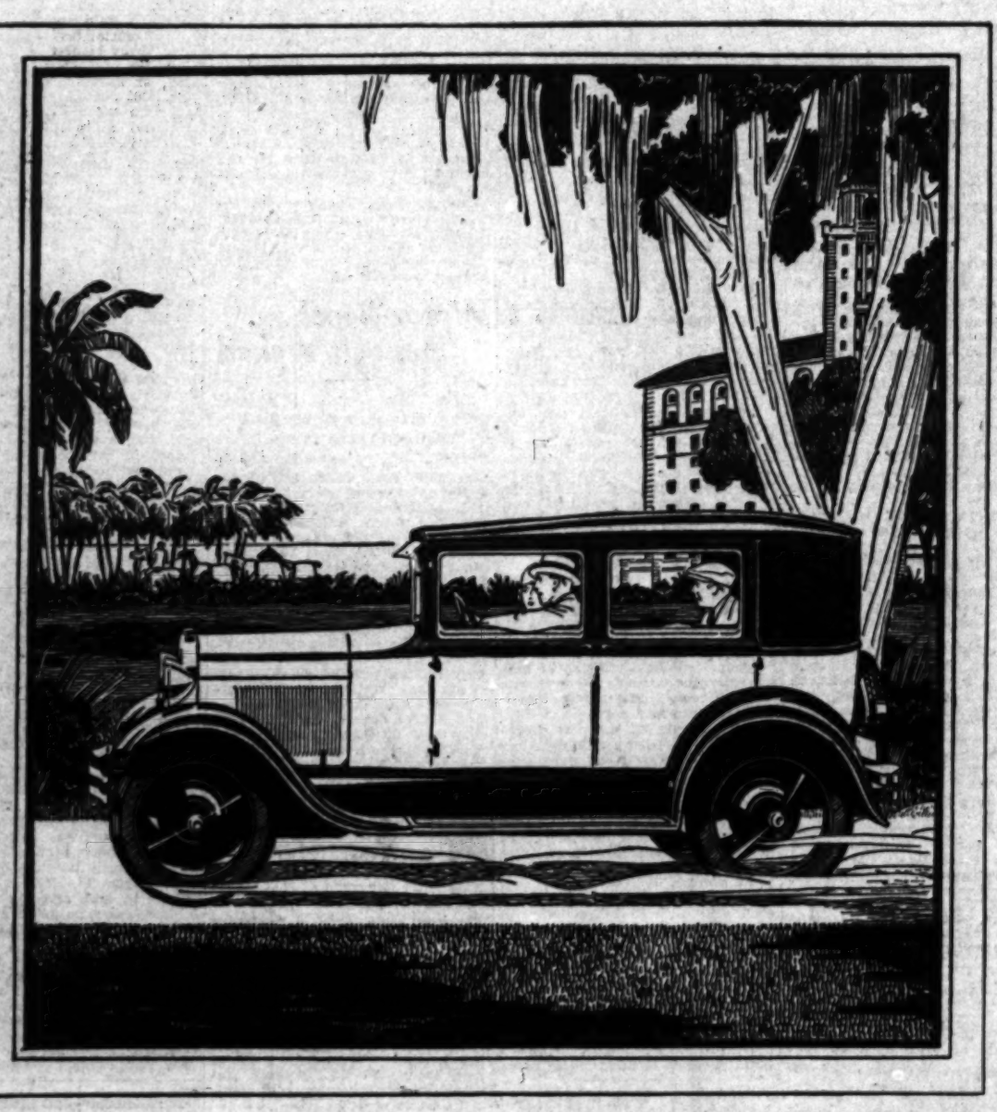
BEAUTY AND UTILITY

ARE COMBINED IN THE NEW FORD



The new Fordor Sedan is impressively smart yet sturdy and substantial. An unusually comfortable car because of its wide, deeply cushioned seats, generous room between front and rear seats, transverse springs and Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. Finished in a choice of beautiful two-tone color harmonies.

WHEN you see the new Ford, you are impressed instantly by its trim, graceful lines and air of sturdy strength. Its very appearance is a reflection of the alert, capable performance of the car. Without being extreme, it has struck a new note in automobile designing.

A particularly interesting feature of the new Ford is the way beauty has been combined with utility. This is found in the length, width and height of the body, the size and shape of the radiator, the position of the gasoline tank in the cowl, the outward flow of the body, the design of the welded steel spoke wheels, the shape and position of the full nickeled headlamps, the sweep and curve of the heavy full crown fenders.

Everything has been planned for service

When a thing perfectly fits its uses, it is pleasing to the eye. Every part of the new Ford has been designed and built not only to be attractive, but with a very definite thought of the work it has to do.

Even in the very little things you can see evidence of quality of material, careful workmanship and quiet good taste. The upholstery is of woolen material, rich and luxurious, yet long-wearing.

Attractive colors add to beauty of the new Ford

Every one of the new Ford body types is available in a choice of several beautiful two-tone color harmonies with attractive striping. This is an unusual feature in a low-price car.

The finish is pyroxylin lacquer, selected for its enduring qualities. It is not affected by heat or cold, is not easily marred or scratched, and polishes to a beautiful luster. Once a month at least your car should be washed and polished.

The beauty of the Ford is not of the outside only, but extends deep down into every part—even to those hidden parts which you may never see. In the eyes of the engineer and technical man, the mechanical beauty of the new Ford is one of its greatest features.

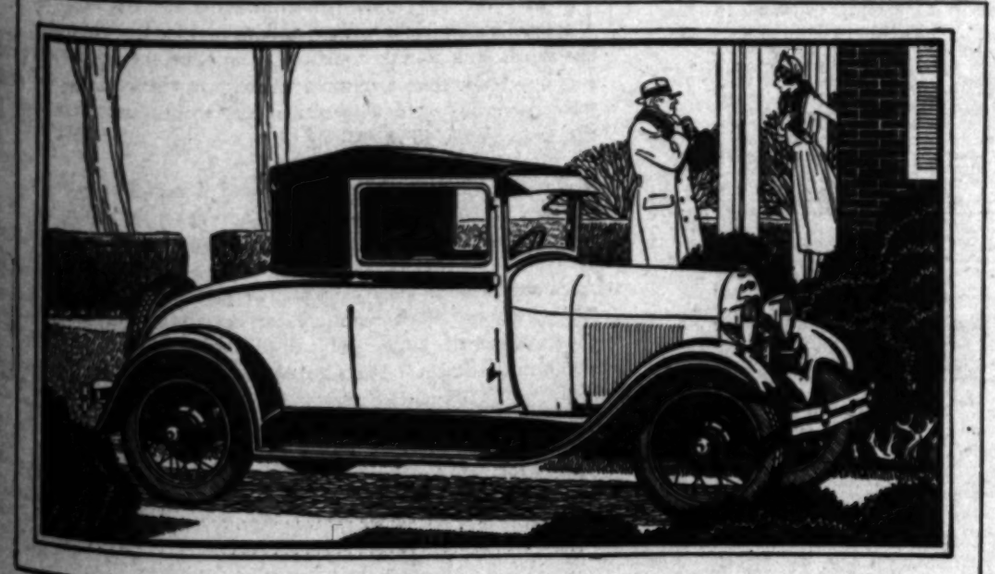
The practical beauty of a fine machine

There is beauty, for instance, in the fine steel forgings which are used everywhere in the chassis of the new Ford where there is a possibility of wear—in the manner in which electric welding has been developed to give increased strength without increased weight—in the simplicity of the cooling, lubrication, ignition, and fuel systems—in the extensive use of ball and roller bearings—in the simple operation of the fully enclosed six-brake system—in the close limits of accuracy maintained in the manufacture of important parts—in the way the engine develops its speed, acceleration and power without sacrificing reliability or economy.

To the man who drives his automobile many thousands of miles every year and who looks to it for continuous service at low cost, this mechanical beauty is of more importance even than beauty of line and finish.

For it is a reflection of simplicity of design, quality of materials and careful workmanship, which are the three fundamental factors in motor car performance.

There is indeed no greater tribute to the value of the new Ford than the simple, homely phrase which you hear so often from Ford owners, experienced garage mechanics and all who know and understand the workings of an automobile—"It is a sweet mechanical job."



The new Ford Business Coupe has been especially designed for professional men, executives, salesmen—for all who use an automobile constantly for business use. Handy package space behind seat and unusually large rear deck are welcome features.

OIL PROFITS OF WELLINGTON UP

Net Earnings for Year 1928 Placed at $208,343

Increase of $152,589 on 1927 Total Shown

Lawndale Field Holdings Improve Outlook

Net earnings of the Wellington Oil Company for 1928 after all charges except Federal income tax and depletion on discovery value totaled $208,343, equivalent to 07 cents a share on the 300,000 shares outstanding, according to a preliminary statement issued yesterday by D. S. Setnam, secretary. The annual statement will be submitted to the next meeting of the directors on February 1. Earnings for 1927 before Federal tax and before any depletion charges were $55,754.37, on 200,000 shares of stock outstanding.

The company paid 20 per cent cash dividends on its stock in 1926 and in 1927 and 30 per cent last year, according to Mr. Setnam. There is no funded indebtedness.

A lease on a half-acre tract in the Lawndale district was taken yesterday by the company, which has been operating in the Long Beach and Huntington Beach fields. Overriding royalties held by the Richfield Oil Company on the Duncan lease in Long Beach have been purchased by the Wellington concern. The We Syndicate, which is drilling a well in the Duncan lease, has struck a rich core of sand oil at 3832 feet, Mr. Setnam reported.

The daily production of Huntington Beach and Long Beach leases on which the company is operating is averaging approximately 4500 barrels, of which the company's share is approximately 1200, according to the officials.

When the company secured the Duncan lease last spring, it issued an additional 100,000 shares of stock, bringing the total outstanding to 300,000. The financial position of the concern has shown marked improvement, Mr. Setnam pointed out, since operations began in this field, adjoining which the company owns fee property.

The report showed that in the last three months of 1928, the net income was equal to $3.08 on 957,756 shares, against $2,445,854, or $2.56 a share in the previous quarter, and against $469,496, or 93 cents a share on 500,000 shares in the corresponding period in 1927.

Markham May Head New Oil Holding Unit

John Markham, independent oil operator in the Mid-Continent region, has been selected to serve as president of the new investment corporation which, according to a recent announcement, is being formed by leading investment houses to acquire oil company securities, it was reported yesterday. The company is to be known as Petroleum Corporation of America.

It is understood that the new company will have an initial capital of $100,000,000. Offering of more than 3,000,000 shares of the new corporation's capital stock will probably be made this week. It has also been intimated that as an initial investment the company proposes to acquire blocks of Prairie Oil and Gas Company and Prairie Pipe Line Company.

It was definitely stated that the board would be composed of the following:

Arthur and Bulkley Cutten, Halstead Freeman, president, Chase Securities Company; Arthur Loasby, president, Beneficial Thrift Company; Charles Hayden of Hayden, Stone & Co.; E. F. Hutton of E. F. Hutton & Co.; Lois W. Hill, chairman, Great Northern Railway; Theodore Smith, vice-president, Central Union Trust Company; Philip Gossler, president, Columbia Gas and Electric Company; William C. Woods Elected to Membership on Stock Mart

William W. Woods, recently appointed resident partner of E. A. Pierce & Co., New York Stock Exchange house, has been elected to membership in the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, Norman B. Courteney, secretary, announced yesterday. Mr. Woods gains his seat by the transfer of the membership of M. Eyre Pinckard, who has retired as resident partner of E. A. Pierce & Co. to become a special partner.

Mr. Woods has been active in investment and banking fields for more than thirty years. He came to Los Angeles in 1904 to become assistant cashier of the American National Bank here after having been identified with the Joshua Reynolds banks of New Mexico and Texas. In 1907 he became first vice-president of the Citizens' National Bank, with which the American National had been consolidated.

In 1917 Mr. Woods became vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Italy in San Francisco, which post he held until 1919, when he again returned to Los Angeles as first vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles. After the death of Studdard Jess, then president of the institution, he went to New York City as vice-president of the National City Bank in charge of that bank's Pacific Coast, southwestern and southern business. For the last year and a half he has had the management of the National City Company's South American business, with headquarters in Buenos Aires.

AIR SHARES AT NEW CEILING

Western Express Earnings for 1928 Placed at More Than $100 a Share; Dividend Gossip Lively

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Yesterday's demonstration on the Los Angeles Curb in Western Air Express plainly reflected the impression this company has made on both the investors and speculators, who evidently are impatiently awaiting the issuance of the new $10 par value stock. When the new shares are out, the public will have the opportunity for the first time of accumulating or trading in Western Air, since it is likely that holders of the old stock will allow some of the new shares to come into the open market.

Western Air new shares, when issued, sold up to 30, the equivalent to 750 on the $100 par value stock, which is to be split twenty-five to one. The reluctance of the holders of the old stock to sell was indicated by the spread at the close, the bid standing at 700 against 850 asked.

CONJECTURE ACTIVE

While the followers of air shares are undoubtedly inquiring for the stock on the basis of the company's outstanding performance in the field of air transportation and on the sanguine forecasts for the near future, a considerable portion of the current demand is predicated on conjectures relating to 1928 earnings and the dividend on the new shares. There is a possibility, it is understood, that the information on both these points will be released around the end of the month.

Unofficially the earnings for the twelve months of 1928 are estimated at approximately $500,000, which is the equivalent to more than $100 a share on the $100 par value stock outstanding. On the new shares shortly to be issued the earnings would be equal to about $4 a share.

Western Air is virtually the only air transportation company to even report a profit from operations, and the foregoing estimated earnings should not be accepted as an index of the profitableness of this new industry. Excellent operating and financial management have put the company on the right side of the ledger in a surprisingly short time, but nothing is certain in a new industry, as the Western Air Express management has repeatedly informed its stockholders and the public.

ESTIMATES VARY

Because of the likelihood of new inventions and new developments requiring large additions of new capital, the chances are against a high initial dividend on the new shares of Western Air Express Corporation, the reorganized company under Delaware laws. It is generally assumed on the street that the rate on the new stock will be higher than the equivalent of $3 on the old stock, but how much higher is a point still unanswered. Estimates range from all the way from 40 to 75 cents a share annually.

At various times Western Air has been mentioned in connection with consolidations with other passenger companies, or as a member of combinations including passenger, manufacturing companies and equipment makers. So far the management has preferred to shape its destinies unaided, probably with the idea that the game is too young to determine which of its contemporaries would be desirable affiliates.

COTTON ON BELT MART IN DEMAND

Memphis Reports Small Lots Scarce and Mills Actively in Field

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Jan. 21. (Exclusive) — General stiffening of premiums on most grades and staples, and renewals of active spot and country buying gave renewed vigor to the cotton market at Memphis the past week. Mills jumped into the market again with insistent demand for small lots of most all kinds of cotton and at the same time shippers and other buyers began purchasing for covering heavy March commitments, or to put in stock against orders still further advanced, generally in May and July.

The mills were compelled to accept numerous small total shipments in whiter grades instead of large lots because of the dwindling supply. They are reported vigorously shopping this market as well as smaller towns in this section of the belt.

Strength with which most of the cotton is being held adds to the bullish sentiment and the stiffening of prices, the advance being general throughout the entire list from low middling through strict middling in practically all lengths.

As far as new crop prospects are concerned, there will be no reduction in acreage in this section of the belt. If any change at all, it certainly will be upward. Weather in the belt this week was wet, but there are two sides to this. Moisture in the ground at this time is favorable enough and it is too early to get concerned over delay in preparing for the new crop.

The week's sales at Memphis were 23,250 bales including 7324 bales of actual spot cotton. Local cotton receipts dropped off 5000 on the week to 30,000, which, however, is nearly three times the weekly volume last year.

Bank of Italy Ranked Fifth in Resources

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Bank of Italy here was informed by the American Banker today that it had made a list of the 100 largest banks in America in the order of their total resources and that the Bank of Italy ranked fifth.

The first four banks are in New York. As ranked by the American Banker, the first five banks, together with the amount of their resources follow: National City Bank, $1,800,000,000; Chase National Bank, $1,250,000,000; Guaranty Trust Company, $1,250,000,000; American Exchange-Irving Trust Company, $860,000,000; Bank of Italy, $847,000,000.

In a list of the largest banks in point of deposits, compiled by the Financial Age and published in The Times Sunday, last, five are located in Los Angeles. These are Los Angeles-First National, eighteenth on the list; Security Trust and Savings, twenty-fifth; Merchants' National (prior to the recent consolidation,) forty-fourth; Citizens' National, fifty-second, and California Bank, fifty-ninth. The Financial Age incorrectly reported deposits of the Citizens' National, which on December 31, last, actually amounted to $116,503,000. By this error, the Citizens' Bank was placed in sixtieth place.

Steel Company Plans Expansion

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (Exclusive) Funds to be derived through issuance of 72,500 additional shares of common stock of the Gulf States Steel Corporation, when the recently announced offering is made to stockholders, will be used in further extension of the company's expansion program in the South.

Proceeds of the sale of new stock will be used principally, it is understood, in the building of a new mill at Alabama City, Ala. The company began its southern expansion program in the summer of 1927, following financing to the extent of $4,000,000 of fifteen-year 5 1-2 per cent debentures.

Store Reports Gain in Income

O'Connor, Moffatt & Co., San Francisco retail dray-gods store, reported yesterday net earnings after all charges, including taxes, of $144,733.36 for the year ended December 31, last, equivalent to $5.16 a share on the Class A common stock and more than 3.4 times annual dividend requirements of $1.50 a share.

Compared with the twelve months ended October 31, 1928, earnings show a gain of $24,541.93, or about 20 per cent, due, it was stated, to the large amount of business transacted during November and December, last. December, it was said, was the best month in the company's history. The fiscal year ends the 31st inst.

OUTLOOK OF HANCOCK OIL IMPROVING

Recent Activity on Curb Exchange Aided by Find in Lawndale Field

Activity in Hancock Oil which featured the last week-end trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange and which continued yesterday with the stock closing at 40¼, nearly six points ahead of Friday's low, reflects the favorable position of the company in the last quarter, particularly in relation to its lease and contract holdings in the Lawndale field, according to Spring-street reports. Earnings for the last three months will show better than $2 per share, it is estimated on the street.

Earnings for the first quarter of the fiscal year, ended October 31, last, were reported at $179,026 after all charges except Federal income tax. After estimated Federal tax and preferred dividends of $2240, net earnings were equivalent to $6.47 a share on the Class A stock and $5.97 a share on the Class B stock, or to $3.24 a share on the combined "A" and "B" outstanding.

Officers of the company are reported to have under consideration the offer of rights to buy new stock, but such action is not anticipated before the close of the current fiscal year on July 31.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—An opening decline in response to relatively easy cables was followed by recoveries in the cotton market today on talk of bullish private gleaning figures. The midafternoon market was quiet at new declines of 5 to 7 points.

STEEL TARIFF BOOST PENDS

Revision of Schedules Among Most Important to Come Before Congress

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—John A. Topping, vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute and chairman of the board of directors of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, has advised the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives to give steel and iron a greater degree of protection than they have today.

A word about steel.

The average price of eight iron and steel products was $49.47 a ton for the entire year of 1928. Steel prices have remained substantially the same during the last two years. The total production of steel ingots for 1928 was just a little under 50,000,000 tons—a new high record; but the estimated total capacity of the steel mills of the United States is approximately 60,000,000 tons per annum. United States, therefore, has an apparent excess steel production capacity of 20 per cent.

According to some recent figures, steel is understood to be deliverable by foreign producers along the Atlantic seaboard at about $9 a ton below the American price. Approximately, $4,750,000,000 is invested in the steel industry, and the average annual profits of thirteen leading steel companies for 1927 was 5.29 per cent on the total capital invested.

This is one of the important tariff schedules which Congress will be called upon to consider in any succeeding tariff revision.

"What industry buys the most steel?" asks a reader of this column.

In the year 1928, the automobile industry, which produced 1,100,000 cars more than it produced in 1927, a new record, consumed more steel than any other industry.

About 18 per cent of all steel produced went into the manufacture of automobiles, as compared with 16¼ per cent for building construction and 16 per cent for railroads.

The backbone of American business activities, with its resultant prosperity in certain directions over the last few years, has been basically the automobile and the building industries. In no year since 1923 has automobile production fallen below 3,500,000 cars, while in 1928 the total number of cars produced was 4,807,000. This year looks like a 5,000,000-car year.

Building contracts in the thirty-seven States east of the Rocky Mountains have increased every year from 1923, when the total amounted to $3,891,000,000, to 1928 when the total amounted to $6,828,000,000.

Another active business over the last few years has been the electric light and power industry, which has increased its number of consumers from 18,472,000 in 1925 to 23,400,000 in 1928, and increased the kilowatt-hour output from 61,000,000,000 in 1925 to 83,000,000,000 in 1928.

In sixteen years the population living in electric-lighted houses has increased from 16 per cent to 70 per cent.

With the new electrification of the railroads, including the Pennsylvania, the Lackawanna, the New York Central and the Reading, it looks as though this industry has plenty of work for a period of at least five or ten years.

Annual Survey Shows Arizona Industry Gains

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Virtually every Arizona industry shows a marked production increase over 1927, according to the 19[illegible] report of the Arizona Industrial Congress. Gross income totaled $220,000,000 from the mining, agricultural, lumbering, live stock, an increase of $30,000,000 over the figures of the previous year, the largest ever known in the State. Half of the amount was from mining, the product of the larger copper properties having totaled $107,500,000. For a second time, the farms made a 20 per cent gain, much of it due to increase in cotton acreage.

Food marketing conditions were responsible for a large proportionate increase in the value of cattle shipments. In eleven months, to out-of-State points was dispatched more than 373,000 head, with an indicated year's total of 418,000 head. Slaughterings within the State gave an added income of $4,500,000. Lamb shipments aggregated 300,000, valued at $2,862,000, or $400,000 better than in 1927.

The lumber products are estimated as at least equal the 1927 record of 167,000,000 feet and had probable value of $5,000,000.

OIL CONCERN CALLS SPECIAL MEETING

Stockholders of Buckeye Union Oil Company have received notice of a special meeting to be held the 28th inst. to consider three proposals from other oil companies for purchase of the properties, attorneys for the company announced yesterday. Despite rumors to the contrary, it was reiterated that the meeting has been called primarily for the benefit of minority stockholders that they may express their opinion on the proposed offers.

ART LOOM INCOME DECLINES IN 1928

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (Exclusive) The Art Loom Corporation today reported net income for the year ended December 31, last, of $413,181. After depreciation and Federal taxes and preferred dividends, the earnings are equivalent to $1.54 a share on 200,000 common shares, as compared to $3.81 in 1927, when net income was $902,530.

Rome Invested in WATER

IN the year 144 B. C. Rome invested the equivalent of approximately eight million dollars, and the labor of countless slaves, in a 38-mile aqueduct to increase the city's water supply. More than a century before that, the loot carried from Pyrrhus, King of Epirus, had been thriftily used to build the Anio Vetus, 43 miles long.

Water was indispensable to Rome and it is indispensable to the modern city. Some of Rome's aqueducts are still in use—a tribute to the permanency of waterworks systems.

An investment in Federal Water Service Corporation Class "A" Common Stock represents an opportunity to share in the profits of the largest public utility company of its kind in the United States. The Corporation has no funded debt.

COPPER-BUYING RUSH SLACKENS

Figures on December Output Check Demand

Old Price Holds But Fresh Upturn Forecast

Situation in Lead and Zinc Still Unchanged

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
[Editor, The Mining Journal, Phoenix.]

The publication of the December figures on copper slowed up the rush on the market, as it was demonstrated that copper could be made faster than it was being consumed. Thus copper has not advanced further as was predicted, remaining at 16.52 f.o.b. refinery. Lead and zinc have had no change, staying at 6.65 f.o.b. New York and 6.35 f.o.b. St. Louis, respectively.

The output of refined copper by North and South American refineries totaled 147,905 short tons (2000 pounds) in December, against 155,448 tons in November and 128,923 tons in December, 1927. Shipments for December totaled 134,592 tons against 148,943 tons in November and 124,499 tons in December, 1927.

Stocks of finished copper at North and South American refineries aggregated 65,466 tons at the end of December, the largest total since the end of May and comparing with 52,153 tons at the end of November and 95,298 tons at the end of 1927.

Production of copper by mines in the United States totaled 85,673 short tons in December, against 85,382 tons in November and 67,222 tons in December, 1927. Total production for 1928 was 909,147 tons, against 829,978 tons in 1927 and 872,509 tons in 1926.

ADVANCE FORECAST

In spite of the fact that 17-cent copper was freely predicted, it seems evident that the producers are trying to keep away from it. It is argued, however, that it will be impossible to avoid further price increases as the volume of business yet to be placed and the record volume anticipated for the first half of 1929, will force the price up.

The reports put out by the producers are "that there is plenty of copper to go around and that if buying is conducted on a rational scale it should not result in any further advance in price." If a further buying movement stays away until the increased production of the latter part of November begins to get on the market, 17-cent metal may not be reached at this time.

There does not seem to be any great complaint among copper consumers in the United States over the increasing price of the metal, but the foreign users are predicting dire consequences over the "destruction of the free market by the copper trust." The greatest fear, however, is not in the removal of speculation, but that the stocks of metal are dangerously low and they feel that, in case of shortage, United States consumers will get the first call on the metal available.

STOCKS LOW

It seems to be acknowledged by the copper producers that refined stocks have been permitted to run too low for safety and there is an effort being made to build them up. Some progress has been made in December, and the increased surplus stocks cannot be regarded as indicating a less favorable situation, but a safer condition and greater stability.

The smelter production of copper from domestic ores as determined by the United States Bureau of Mines increased about 10 per cent during 1928, totaling 924,500 tons, as against 842,000 tons in 1927. This is the largest peace-time production on record. The rate of production in December is estimated to be 13,500 tons higher than the average for the other eleven months. This condition indicates that there is no need for consumers to bid the market up.

London lead is somewhat weak to expect a maintenance of the New York price at 6.65, as it is too near a parity, but the producers in the United States do not seem to be uneasy over the situation or their ability to maintain the price at the present mark. The market is firm although most of the transactions have been small.

The output of primary domestic desilverized lead in 1928 was about 345,000 tons; of soft lead, about 226,000 tons, and of desilverized soft lead about 53,000 tons, making a total output from domestic ores of about 624,000 tons of refined lead, according to statistics compiled by the United States Bureau of Mines. Corresponding figures in 1927 were 378,889 tons of desilverized lead, 233,944 tons of soft lead, and 55,487 tons of desilverized soft lead, making a total of 668,320 tons.

ZINC IMPROVED

The statistical position of zinc has shown an improvement with the reports for December. Stocks of zinc on December 31 were 45,441 short tons, against 46,542 tons at the end of November. December production was 80,591 tons, against 56,260 tons in November. Shipments last month totaled 51,692 tons, of which 49,625 tons were domestic and 2067 tons for export. In November deliveries to domestic consumers were 46,698 tons and exports 1088 tons, a total of 49,786 tons.

The domestic output of slab zinc in 1928 amounted to 619,595 tons, as compared with 613,548 tons in 1927, an increase of 6047 tons. As against this increase in output was the gain in shipments which in 1928 amounted to 614,878 tons, or 20,194 tons in excess of the 1927 total.

The sales reports on zinc for December showed that, while deliveries were good, sales for advance shipment fell off to a marked degree. Furthermore, it was revealed that the price of 6.35 had not been maintained and that concessions had been made in enough cases to bring the average down several cents.

It is intimated by producers that an advance in the zinc price is coming in February, this being the time when requirements for the second quarter of 1929 will probably be purchased. The consumers are stated to be well covered for their metal for the first quarter, but very few orders have been placed for delivery in April or later. In view of the sales reports and price concessions of December, any intimation of early price advances looks like an effort to run buyers into the market.

Eastern Rail Rejuvenation Plan Offered

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Samuel R. Rosoff today presented through counsel an application to the Public Service Commission of New York State for approval of a plan of reorganization of the Delaware and Northern Railroad. The three counties through which the railroad runs were also represented by counsel. The hearing was adjourned until March 4 in order to permit Mr. Rosoff to offer more complete evidence as to the present value of the road.

It was brought out at today's hearing that Mr. Rosoff had acquired the Delaware and Northern for $70,000 and would turn over an additional $40,000 to the company for working capital.

The plan of reorganization called for the issuance of 50,000 shares of no-par value stock. The valuation of the property by the Interstate Commerce Commission as for 1916 amounted to about $1,500,000 and this together with the price Mr. Rosoff paid for the road were the only figures which might even tentatively permit the Public Service Commission to pass on the application for the capitalization projected.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Dullness was the chief characteristic of the trading on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today. The volume was lighter than it has been for any day in some time.

Prices moved within narrow ranges, with a slight downward trend apparent. Traders are holding back for reasons that are not clearly traceable. Easy money prevailed today and the technical position of the market was as good as it has been on many days of heavier trading. Speculative impulses, however, were held in restraint throughout the day.

Galland Laundry continued its upward trend of the past week and reached 55 after an opening of 54½, a gain of 2 points.

Other issues that acted well on the upside were Honolulu Consolidated Oil, Pacific Gas and Electric, Spring Valley and Leslie Salt.

The industrials and oils displayed a heavy tone, the banks alone exhibiting strength.

Kolster Radio started at 71¼, touched 72½, sagged to 71½ and closed at 72, the same as the close of the previous session.

Magnavox declined from 10 to 9¼, recovering to 9¾, up ¼. Little change was noticeable in Crown Zellerbach 1st 2d, Golden State Milk at 37 and Caterpillar at 75¾. Caterpillar rights, after opening at a new low of 2.45, rose to 2.50. Atlas Diesel receded from 63 to 62½, a loss of 1¼. Slightly lower levels were shown in Byron Jackson at 52, Clorox at 47¾ and Oliver "B" at 39½.

Pacific Gas and Electric advanced from 54½ to 55. Leslie Salt from 46½ to 47 and Spring Valley from 90½ to 90¾, selling at.

Honolulu Consolidated opened at 37½, touching 38½ and closed at 38, up 2. Standard rose from 69¾ to 70, down 1. Fractional losses were shown in Shell Union at 28⅞ and North American at 36. Union Oil and Union Associates were each off 1 at 50 and 49.

In the banking group, Trans-America opened and closed at 130, but dipped to 129¾. The American Company was up 1 at 51. Anglo and London Paris yielded 2½.

Totals: Bonds, $7000; stocks, 42,765 shares of $1,468,878 market value.

in Character

FOR the utility investor seeking extra income, with public utility stability, we suggest the First Mortgage Bonds of the Peabody Coal Company—which is industrial in name—but is controlled by four of the largest utilities in the world, and has substantial contracts with these companies.

Controlling interest in the Company is owned by Commonwealth Edison Company, People's Gas Light & Coke Company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and Middle West Utilities Company, through their subsidiaries.

Combined gross annual earnings of these concerns exceed $225,000,000.

Favorable 30-year contracts with the above companies alone, based on their 1927 requirements, will result, it is estimated, in net earnings more than sufficient to meet interest and minimum sinking fund requirements. Corporation also has important contracts with other well-known concerns, and net earnings for the last three years, have averaged approximately four times annual interest charges. We offer

Wheat Market Firmer; Corn Tends to Sag

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—The character of the news in wheat today was more favorable to holders. Liverpool failed to reflect the break in North America on Saturday and closed ½@½d higher, with a scarcity of sellers reported. Official returns showed a reduction of 40,000,000 bushels in the accredited Spanish and Jugo-Slavia crops as compared with the preliminary estimates, and there was persistent commission house buying, with the forecast for a cold wave over the entire belt increasing apprehension of damage to the new crop. July wheat sold up to 1.32¾, a new high on the crop, and closed at 1.27⅞, while deferred futures were 1½@1¼c higher, March being 1.22¾@1.22¼; May, 1.25⅛@1.25⅜.

Heavy profit-taking was on in corn early, but the late strength in wheat caused short covering and there was also reinstating of lines sold out recently. The close was about the top, net gains of ⅞@1c. March being 98¾; May, 1.01⅛@1.01⅝. Oats were ½c higher with March 53⅜ or ½c under May.

Rye was dull and ¼c lower to ¼c higher with March 1.06¾; May, 1.06¾@1.06¼.

The continued failure of wheat to break in the face of bearish influences is causing confidence among buyers, and commission houses report more interest being taken in the market on the part general trade. The outlook for the new crop is rapidly coming to the fore as a price making factor, and the recent freezing and thawing weather is regarded as having done some damage. A decrease of 3,519,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply attracted considerable attention, although the total is still 130,829,000 bushels against 79,515,000 bushels last year. Winnipeg closed ¼c higher, while Buenos Aires finished up 1½c with May 1.17⅞.

Messages from Winnipeg reported the Orient had taken liberal quantities of low grade Manitobas as full prices, and stocks in Alberta are being depleted. There was little interest at the seaboard with sales of 300,000 bushels. The pool was said to have advanced its basis 1½c as compared with May No. 2 hard winter wheat on the United Kingdom was quoted at 1.42 per bushel, or 10c above Argentine grain.

The corn market was unsettled, with the outside trade less active than of late. The local element was inclined to take the selling side on the minor upturns and there was also profit-taking through commission houses, but the buying on the break was of a good class, and there were further shortening reports from Argentina. May at Buenos Aires closed 1¢ higher at 90½, and Rosario 1¼¢ higher at 89¾. Late cables said the weather there was hot and dry. A private cable estimated the yield at 160,000,000 bushels, or about 125,000,000 bushels less than last year, and press cables said the Uruguay crop was a failure. The yield in the latter country, however, is small.

The corn trade was surprised by a Government report showing 36 per cent more cattle on feed in the corn belt States than last year, with the largest gain in Illinois and Iowa. Visible supply increased 1,974,000 bushels for the week, and is 22,156,000 bushels against 27,710,000 bushels last year. Local spot basis was steady to 1c lower with 80,000 bushels bought and 1 arrive.

Oats were firmer with corn, scattered buying more than offsetting profit-taking by local longs. Outside trade in the was lacking and the market showed an easy undertone. No export demand was reported.

There was a moderate business in lard and futures with a small range and the finish was at the same price as on Saturday. Ribs were neglected and unchanged and bellies were 7½c higher.

Stock Prices Turn Easier as Volume of Trading Continues at Low Ebb

Continuing a line of general uncertainty, a weaker undertone crept into the resumption of the week's trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. A spotty demand was manifested throughout the entire list as the volume of operations held to a low level. No definite trend of prices developed with the number of losses about equalling the number of gains.

Union of California led the way for a softer tone in the oil group with a drop of 1 point to 49 7-8. Union Associates followed with a loss of 7-8 to 49 1-8. Rights to both stocks closed off 15 and 10 cents, respectively, to 1.45 and 1.40. Standard of California also turned down a point to 69 3-4. Signal Oil and Gas advanced a point to 40. Rio Grande dropped 7-8 to 34 7-8, while Barnsdall added a point to close at 44. Buckeye continued weak, with a loss of 30 cents to 1.25. Occidental slumped 20 cents to 2.85 and Mascot 15 cents to 2.50.

Los Angeles-First National traded briskly among the bank stocks and advanced 1 1-2 points to 124. Merchants' National eased back 2 points to 250. California Bank lost 1-2 to 125 1-2, while Transamerica held firm to 130 1-4. Pacific Finance closed at 100, off 1 point net. Piggly Wiggly eased 1-4 to 29 1-8.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Under leadership of the coppers, more than a dozen issues surpassed or equalled their high records of the past year on today's bond market. The trend of the market, however, was irregular, with trading confined to the more speculative issues. The gains were mostly in securities that advanced in sympathy with stocks. Total sales were $15,834,000 against $6,894,000 on Friday.

Anaconda Copper 7s got up to 204, a new record, and closed at 203¾ for a net gain of 3¾ for the day. There was little trading in the 6s. Chile Copper, which is expected to consolidate with Anaconda as equalled their previous peak of 98. Other industrials to establish new highs included Anglo-Chilean Nitrate 7s, International Cement 5s, Truax Traer Coal 6½s and Wilson & Co. first 6s. Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s, United States Steel sinking fund 5s advanced fractionally.

International Telephone was again the active spot in the utilities list, advancing fractionally on a heavy turnover. Public Service of New Jersey 6½s also gained. Utilities Power and Light 5½s and Mutual Fuel Gas 5s established new high records at 94½ and 104, respectively.

Illinois Central Collateral 4s moved up to a new high. Union Pacific refunding 4s and Des Moines and Fort Dodge 4s, the latter establishing a new high at 59, improved. Issues to yield to selling pressure included Grand Trunk of Canada 6s, Oil stocks, with Associated Oil 6s and Colon Oil 6s climbing into new high ground.

The foreign list was irregular. Montecatini 7s with warrants dropping one point.

All the United States government obligations advanced, with Liberty fourth 4½s selling above par again.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

Amusement shares surged ahead. Warner Brothers moved up 8 points on reports that it had perfected a device for making talking pictures outdoors, and Loew's gained more than 3 points on denial of rumors that the company was "for sale." Studebaker jumped about 5 points to the highest price in several years on reports that a stock dividend would be paid. Skelley Oil improved on reports that the Fisher interests would be represented on the board.

In the rails, Chicago Great Western issues, Atlantic Coast Line, and New Haven touched new highs for extended periods. New York Central, however, dropped 3 points, and Wabash preferred more than 6.

United States Steel sold off as much as 6 points, and closed at 183, off 5½. Detroit Edison and Industrial Rayon lost 6 and 7 points, while Allied Chemical, Rock Island, Goodyear, International Telephone, Johns Manville, Radio, and Standard Milling receded 2 to 4 points.

The commodity markets were steady to firm, gains swinging higher on favorable foreign news, while cotton held steady in dull trading pending the ginnings report.

Foreign exchanges generally were heavy, most European currencies easing, although sterling was firm. The Canadian dollar fell back to 99.73 cents, reviving expectations of further gold shipments from Montreal.

Mr. Harry T. Rounds, President, summarizes from his letter to us as follows:

BUSINESS

Fabrics Finishing Corporation has been recently organized under the laws of the State of Delaware to acquire the business and substantially all the assets of the following five companies: Sussex Print Works, Flory & Son Piece Dye Works, Inc., Modern Central Silk Dyeing & Finishing Co., Inc., Diamond Silk Dyeing & Finishing Co., Inc., and Hanson Dyeing Co., Inc.

The business will be one of service to manufacturers of and/or dealers in rayon, celanese and silk which must be converted—dyed, printed, weighted or finished—from the gum or raw state. The consolidation of the five companies will enable the Corporation to render a complete dyeing, weighing, printing and finishing service. Manufacturing no fabrics whatsoever, the Corporation will not be subject to the danger of price fluctuations or other inventory hazards. The service rendered by this industry is a necessity to the trade.

The Corporation will own five well equipped plants, three in Paterson, one in West New York and one in Newton, New Jersey, all within easy access of each other, and a fleet of motor trucks for the expeditious transportation of merchandise between its plants and the points of collection and distribution.

EARNINGS

The average yearly net income, available for dividends, after depreciation, interest on Series A Bonds, and Federal taxes at the annual rate of 12%, for the year and nine months ending September 30, 1928 (excluding loss of the Hanson Dyeing Co., Inc., in the year 1927 in which its operations were partly conducted in a former plant and embraced processes not in use in 1928 in which year a profit was earned), certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, and after eliminating certain non-recurring charges, including adjustment of salaries to the new basis, was $313,145.47 or $1.87 per share on the 167,500 shares of common stock without par value presently to be outstanding.

For the nine months ending September 30, 1928, such income similarly adjusted available for dividends was $397,622.37 or $2.37 per share.

BALANCE SHEET

The pro forma balance sheet of the Corporation as of September 30, 1928, prepared by Messrs. METAL MARKET

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Rail inquiry in the Chicago district, consists of 50,000 to 60,000 tons in three lots which may be awarded in a few days. Sales of track fastenings total 10,000 to 15,000 tons in several miscellaneous lots. Negotiations are quietly under way involving a fair tonnage of concrete reinforcing bars in the district. The outlook is good for the next few months.

Demand for semifinished steel at Pittsburgh is steady although sheets bars are more active than rerolling billets and slabs. The plate market in the district is reported as active. Specifications for bolts and nuts show slight improvement.

The copper market is quiet but unchanged at 18.75 Connecticut. Zinc steady 6.35 and lead more active at 6.50 East St. Louis: tin 49.00.

AUBURN

When the present management of Auburn Automobile Company took control of its affairs in 1924 the company's balance sheet showed total assets of $2,911,185.54. On October 31, 1928 this figure had grown to $11,313,661.09. This astonishing growth is the tangible result of sound policies vigorously carried out. Auburn controls subsidiaries manufacturing a very high percentage of the parts used in the finished cars. It has shown a remarkable increase in domestic sales and has achieved a strong position in the export field. A twenty-eight-year-old concern, Auburn today is one of the most promising producers, from the investment standpoint, in the automotive field.

We have accumulated many facts of interest concerning Auburn Automobile Company. This information may be had on request.

What Policy Should Be Behind Your Investments?

Income return or enhancement in value are the only two ways through which an investor profits through buying securities.

With prices at today's high levels, income in many cases is so low as to be discouraging. This places even greater emphasis on the necessity of selecting securities that will show a growth in value.

What Securities to Buy?

Investors should be particularly careful, with conditions as they exist today, to avoid disastrous speculation, and to place funds only in securities of well managed and growing corporations, that have not already risen to the point where they are no longer attractive. It is the purpose of Brookmire Service to help individuals to do this.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—The curb market displayed none of the uneasiness over the credit situation that affected the stock market today and scores of issues rose to new high levels on a wave of buying. Utilities rode the crest, but virtually every other group was carried along, although automotive shares were somewhat slow to move.

The acquisition of utilities apparently was based on expectation of further mergers and organization of holding companies. Final prices were about the best of the day.

Electric Bond and Share soared 8 points to a new high at 201½. American Commonwealth Power B, Buffalo Niagara and Eastern Power A, American Super Power A and B, Electric Investors, Northern States Power A, Southeastern Power and Light certificates, United Light and Power A, and Pennsylvania Power and Light preferred invaded new high ground with net gains running 4 points or better.

Aluminum Company of America was strong in the industrial list, establishing a new peak at 174, up 13 points, and recovering all lost ground after breaking to 166. Curtis Corporation, Aeffa Amco, Curtiss Firing Schools, Du Pont (new when issued.) Reisner Brothers preferred, Guardian Fire Assurance, Servel, Hugo Stinnes, Marconi International Wireless Steel, National Family Stores preferred, Nehi first preferred and a dozen others also broke into new high territory on gains of 3 to 9 points. Others shared in the advance. Evans Wallower preferred gaining 11 points net and Kennecott Copper (new) reaching a new top at 30½.

Oils were irregular. Vacuum touched a new top at 130¾, but broke to 128. Tidal Osage also established a new top at 14½. Standard of Indiana broke nearly 3 points and Humble about as much.

Among the few weak issues were A. G. Spalding, Auburn Auto, Ford of Canada, which declined 9 points to 600, a new low for the year, General Baking, Republic Brass and Zonite.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the bid.

OIL NEWS

BY C. D. WAIDE

Plans for an extreme northwest test of the north dome at Kettleman Hills, nearly four miles from the discovery well, were announced yesterday by the Milham Exploration Company, pioneers of the field. A well will be drilled in the southwest corner of Sec. 28, 21-17, northwest of the company's Elliott No. 1. Work was started yesterday on the road and water lines to the location and it is planned to spud in the well in about thirty days. It will be known as the Kennedy No. 1. This is more than twice as far to the northwest as any present well or approved location and a successful completion there would prove up a big area.

The Milham company will spud in its Beal No. 1 today on Sec. 34, 21-17, about one and three-eighths miles northwest of the discovery well. This will give the company two drilling wells in the field, one location and one producer.

Engineering difficulties will delay by nearly a week the initial operation of the Texas Company's absorption plant at Kettleman Hills. It was to have been ready for operation on the 25th inst., but it is now estimated that it will be February 1, next, before operation is started. The plant will have a capacity of 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, which is about the output of the discovery well. Other units will be added as needed.

MacMillan Completion

The MacMillon Petroleum Corporation has completed its fee well at Thirty-third and Pine streets, Signal Hill, for an initial flow of 650 barrels per day, testing 34.5 deg. gravity, and with a cut of 1.5 per cent. The company expects to complete another of its fee wells in the same vicinity within two weeks, and another was spudded in yesterday.

Casing Cemented

Eleven-inch casing was cemented yesterday in the Globe Petroleum Corporation's Jameson & Estle No. 1 at Santa Fe Springs at a depth of 4097 feet, at the top of the Meyer sand. Since December 5, last, this well has been drilled steadily ahead without mechanical difficulties. Prior to that time it had been sidetracked twice, after going down to 3680 feet. On the last operation, beginning in December, a sidetracking job was started at 1650 feet, and no further trouble has been encountered. The operators expect to complete the well in about thirty days. The Nordstrom sand will be tested first, and should the completion not be satisfactory it will be drilled on to the Buckbee sand.

Shell Completions

Two wells were completed at Signal Hill yesterday by the Shell Oil Company. The Alamitos No. 36 was completed at 6312 feet for a production of 1200 barrels a day. The oil tested 28.7 deg. gravity and had a cut of 15 per cent. The Wilbur No. 6 was completed at 6506 feet for a flow of 1500 barrels a day, testing 25.4 deg. gravity and with a cut of 18 per cent. The company is swabbing the Cresson No. 13 at 7368 feet and it is expected to be the next completion.

Elwood Well Started

The Doty No. 3 of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination at Elwood has been spudded in and was down 185 feet yesterday afternoon. This is the eighth well started by the combination at Elwood, of which five are producing more than 18,000 barrels per day, one, the Luton-Bell No. 5, will be drilled out and given a production test about Friday, and the Elwood Community No. 1 is considered virtually off the structure.

Test Buckbee Sands

The Union Oil Company expects to pass up chances for production in the Nordstrom zone at Santa Fe Springs and drive all its wells on the Alexander and Howard leases to the Buckbee zone. This decision seems to have been actuated by recent developments indicating that the Buckbee is thicker and more substantial under these leases than is the Nordstrom zone.

The company's Alexander No. 10 is coring at 5728 feet; Alexander No. 15 is ready to drill out cement at 5585 feet; Alexander No. 16 is drilling out the cement at 5531 feet.

The water shutoff has been successfully tested in Bell No. 35 at 5590 feet and it now is drilling ahead. Casing is being landed in the Bell No. 36 at 5599 feet and Bell No. 37 is being reamed at 5595 feet. The Bell No. 38 is setting casing at 5528 feet.

Test Unfavorable

The Richfield Oil Company's deep test at Seacliff in the Henry & Hamilton No. 1 has not been satisfactory, the well making only about seventy-five barrels per day by heads. It was put on production at 6500 feet and at first the head production aroused the belief that a productive sand had been picked up at that depth, but repeated washing has failed to materially increase the flow.

The company's Hobson Fee No. 1, offsetting the Henry & Hamilton well, is drilling ahead at 6501 feet, and has picked up twenty-five feet of shale in the bottom of the hole which has looked encouraging.

Republic Wells

A faulty water shutoff has made it necessary for the Republic Petroleum Corporation to plug back to 4000 feet in its No. 32 well in the Midway field after drilling to 4400 feet. The company's newest well, Republic No. 33, is drilling ahead at 1240 feet.

The company's two producers in that area are maintaining their average of 500 barrels per day for the No. 25 and 1100 barrels per day for the No. 31 well.

G. P. Completion

The General Petroleum Corporation completed its No. 187-B at Santa Fe Springs yesterday for a flow of 2600 barrels in fourteen hours, or at the rate of 4500 barrels per day. The oil had a cut of 2 per cent, a gravity test of 34.3 deg., and was completed at 5785 feet.

Official Production

The American Petroleum Institute has figured it out that California produced 231,962,597 barrels of petroleum during 1928, the daily average output being placed at 633,833 barrels. The number of actual producing wells drilled and completed during the year is given as 712, and greatest number in any one field having been 245 for Signal Hill, compared with seventy-two for Kern River, fifty-four for Huntington Beach and forty-one for Ventura-avenue field.

Ring is Delayed

Decision to make changes in machinery and equipment has delayed the spudding in of the Ring Exploration Company's Simons No. 1-A wildcat at Inglewood, northwest of the Potrero field. The well was to have been spudded in several days ago.

Scene of Action and Participants in Jail Battle

SUPERVISORS ASK INQUIRY ON GUN BATTLE AT JAIL

One Convict Slain, Another Shot, Deputy Wounded When Pistols Blaze in Elevator Fight

With one convict dead, another wounded in the arm and a deputy sheriff suffering from a serious wound in the neck as the result of a gun battle in the County Jail elevator yesterday an intensive investigation was ordered by Sheriff Traeger to ascertain how an automatic pistol came into possession of the convict who met his death.

At the same time the county Board of Supervisors passed a resolution asking the county grand jury to investigate what was termed the "apparent negligence of jail officials" in permitting Jack Hawkins to smuggle an automatic pistol into a jail elevator, enabling him to start a gun battle which resulted in his death and the wounding of one deputy Sheriff. The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Wright.

The Sheriff's office also is investigating the records of two girls who, last Septemerber, eagerly were following trial procedure of Hawkins and Hayes at Sacramento, one of the women asserting that she was "Mrs. Hayes." These girls, deputy sheriffs declared last night, boarded the prisoner's train to Los Angeles, attempting to talk to the men.

The dead man is John N. Hawkins (not the former football star,) a Folsom convict who had been returned to Los Angeles for trial on eight felony counts of robbery, assault with a deadly weapon and kidnaping.

DEPUTY WOUNDED

Robert Elza "Zeke" Hayes, Hawkins's partner and codefendant, was shot in the right wrist in the gun battle while A. R. "Casey" Jones, deputy Sheriff, received a serious bullet wound in the throat.

The shooting occurred in the County Jail elevator just after it left the ninth floor to return the two convicts to their cells after they had appeared in Department Twenty-one of Superior Court to have their trial continued. The two men, handcuffed together, were in custody of Deputy Sheriffs Jones and Tom Higgins.

According to Deputy Sheriff Higgins, just as the elevator started for the tenth floor Hawkins drew the automatic pistol, leveled it at Higgins and said: "Down with the elevator. Stick 'em up!"

FIERCE BATTLE

Robert Pope, elevator operator, whirled and knocked Hawkins's gun to one side just as he fired. Deputy Sheriff Higgins sprang to his assistance and tried to disarm Hawkins but was blocked by Hayes who attempted to get the officer's gun.

Higgins then stepped back as his partner received a bullet in the neck and the two officers drew their guns and shot it out with the prisoners. When the fight was over Hawkins lay on the floor with five bullets in his body and Hayes was kneeling beside him with his hands in the air pleading for his life. Deputy Sheriff Jones had fired five shots and Higgins two. Hawkins had fired six shots.

Hayes's life was saved during the fight by a strange coincidence when a bullet fired at his heart by Deputy Sheriff Higgins struck the muzzle of Hawkins's pistol. The missile was deflected and at the same time it "jammed" the gun. Hawkins then threw it at the officers and collapsed on the floor.

ANOTHER IMPERILED

Throughout the fight James Cochrane, a bail-bond broker, crouched in one corner of the elevator while bullets ricocheted about him. He was uninjured. Pope, the elevator operator, escaped death narrowly when one of the bullets penetrated his sweater and shirt on the left shoulder, but did not break the skin. A seventh man, a county employees whose name could not be learned, also was in the elevator and escaped unharmed.

At the sound of the shooting Frank Dewar, jailer, and Charles Catlin, assistant jailer, ran to the elevator and found Hawkins dying, Hayes with a broken wrist, and Deputy Sheriff Jones severely injured. They ordered the elevator to the fourteenth floor and the men were rushed to the jail hospital.

While lying on the operating table there with his partner dying on a stretcher near-by Hayes cast a look of hate at the officers and said: "I wish I had had a rod. I'd have gotten some coppers, too," according to Jailer Dewar. A search of Hayes's clothing revealed that he had equipped himself with handcuff keys to free himself after the planned escape.

INJURY SERIOUS

Deputy Sheriff Jones was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, where his

QUARANTINE BAR LIFTED BY ARIZONA

Modification Ordered by Governor as Danger of Stock Disease Lessens

Further danger of any spread of the foot and mouth disease which broke out recently on a hog ranch near Whittier considered nullified, Gov. Phillips of Arizona yesterday modified the State-wide quarantine against California, except in the area originally affected, dispatches from Phoenix stated last night.

Under State and Federal control the disease, according to Secretary of Agriculture Hecke, has been stamped out. However, adequate precautionary measures against another outbreak have been taken. No new cases have been discovered in a broad co-operative survey.

Hecke asserts that the outbreak in the Whittier swine herd has been traced definitely to meat garbage unloaded the 9th inst. at San Pedro from a vessel in from South American ports.

On proof that the infection came from a ship, Hecke issued a proclamation forbidding vessels arriving at California ports from countries where the disease exists to unload any refuse except for incineration or disposal at sea.

The official restriction says:

"Vessels arriving at ports of entry in California from any foreign country where foot and mouth disease exists and vessels which have taken on board any fresh or frozen meat which has originated in any

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IF PEOPLE were as mean and unkind as they sometimes try to make themselves think they are, this would be a pretty tough old world.

It is amazing to see the effort to which letter writers go to try to hurt the feelings of writers of such columns as the Lancer. At times it amounts to a frenzy. And they usually make such a bad job of it. They are too frantic. They try too hard. There is an unwilling flattery in their zeal.

"OLD OBSERVER"

My curiosity has been piqued by an anonymous critic who has been writing to me for years—signing himself "Old Observer." The faults and frailties of the Lancer seem to be an almost intolerable burden upon his conscience. Oddly enough, his letters show remarkably fine qualities of mind. They are helpful and valuable.

OPTIMISTIC NOTE

Times are certainly looking up. The real estate faker who sells "agricultural lands" that wouldn't raise cactus or jackrabbits is again in the field.

WHY IS A SENATE?

The Senate is playing with peril in monkeying with the cruiser bill. The Navy Department's request for seventy-two ships has been cut to sixteen. And there seems to be not much prospect of getting the sixteen.

Modern wars pop suddenly out of a clear sky. There is no time in which to prepare for them. Fighting began in the Russian-Japanese War before the declaration of war. Europe was apparently at permanent peace when a murder in Serbia sent the armies into the field.

We might have our usual luck in being able to scramble together an army; but warships can't be improvised.

IN MYSTERIOUS WAY

Heaven created the flea, hives and halitosis for some good purpose; so we can rest assured that there is some good reason for the obstructionist Senator.

CONFIDING

The world is certainly coming to be a place of intimacies.

In every issue of every magazine the celebrities inform us with coos of delight as to their favorite cigarettes, their soulmate typewriter and the medicine that sets best on their tumtums.

Recently I participated in a brutal test of one of these confiding stars. He was blindfolded and six lighted cigarettes were given him in succession. His score was 100 per cent. He guessed wrong every time.

STARVE THEM OUT

In an attempt to put down the insurrection in the Mexican State of Jalisco the authorities are to take a cue from Gen. Sheridan in our own Civil War, when he ordered the Valley of Shenandoah be so destroyed that a crow flying over would have to carry its dinner with him. In a lush, rich country like Mexico it will not be so easy. Life is too simple and too easy.

SOUTHWEST MINING MAN SUCCUMBS

M. J. Conroy, Promoter of Mexican and California Properties, Passes On

M. J. Conroy, veteran Los Angeles mining operator, died yesterday morning as the result of a complication of stomach troubles, to relieve which he underwent a serious surgical operation several months ago.

He was born in Fonday, N. Y., in 1871, and long was identified with eastern financial circles. Early in life he engaged in railroading in the Northwest but of late years his attention had been directed to mining, his last twenty years being devoted to mining operations in Mexico, where he rounded out the Copalitos properties.

He also was interested in other Mexico properties, while he had mining interests in California and Arizona. Of his immediate family his widow and son Floyd survive him.

SNOWS MANTLE MOUNTAINS

Thousands of Winter Sport Lovers Swarm to High Altitudes to Frolic in Drifts

Mountains glistening white with snow proved an irresistible lure to Los Angeles winter sports enthusiasts yesterday and they trekked by the thousands through the orange groves to the snowfields and white-mantled forests in the high altitudes. There were nine inches of snow on the level at Mt. Lowe, the nearest winter resort and accessible by electric line to those who have no automobiles or do not wish to drive on snowy mountain grades. At Mt. Wilson, accessible by automobiles, or by auto stage, there were ten inches on the level.

Municipal Camp Seeley in San Bernardino Mountains is open for motorists, as is also Big Pines Camp, the county playground in the Blue Ridge of the Sierra Madres. A blizzard in the mountains Sunday and Sunday night left them with two feet or more of snow.

THOUSANDS AT PINES

Each of the places, as well as others in the mountains, are centers of tobogganing, snowshoeing, skiing and other cold outdoor sports. There were 7500 persons at Big Pines Sunday in spite of the blizzard. The snow is expected to remain for some days yet, dependent on altitude.

Even the low Verdugo Range was white-capped with snow at Birney's Peak early yesterday, an occurrence not often noticed for seasons at a time.

The last wet spell or "storm," as the Weather Bureau technically calls it, yielded 1.2 inches of water since it began last Friday evening.

SPANIARDS STUDY OUR HIGHWAYS

Two Engineers Visit City in Quest for Data to be Used in Homeland

All the way from Madrid, Spain, to Los Angeles county in quest of concrete highways!

To achieve this, by royal decree, two Spanish civil engineers yesterday dropped into Los Angeles to shake hands with city, county and State officials, to listen, see and learn. In another day or two, the Madrid men will take an eastbound train to New York and sail for home to roll up their sleeves to start on a $200,000,000 highway-building program.

ISIDORO FONTANA

The men are Isidore Fontana, son of Gen. Manuel Fontana, and Carlos Mendoza. They were accompanied by Prof. H. T. Cory, California engineer, on whose suggestion the Spanish government during the next few years will span all Spain with American concrete highways. Cory's home is in Hermosa Beach.

CARLOS MENDOZA

"We have highways in Spain," Fontana and Mendoza declared yesterday. "Some of them date back to the days of ancient Rome. Good roads they are, to a certain extent, but we wish to at-

Sentence Only Cure for Traffic Fatalities, Chief Tells Development Association Session

Only jail sentences imposed immediately and impartially on all reckless, drunken and other automobile drivers who disregard the rights of others on the public highways can remove the cause of accidents which bring five deaths daily in California.

This is the view expressed by Chief of Police Davis, talking to the safety conference of the California Development Association in session at the Alexandria yesterday.

The conference was held to hear reports of various committees of the association and to hear the attitude of various Los Angeles civic leaders on the subject of highway safety. Speakers other than Chief Davis were Municipal Judge Frank G. Swain of the traffic court, President Pontius of the Pacific Electric Railway, Hollis Thompson of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the Traffic Commission at Berkeley.

OFFICERS' TIME WASTED

In addition to his views on punishment of violators of traffic regulations Chief Davis emphasized the need of public co-operation in enforcement of the laws. Illustrating this need, he stated that school crossings are marked by an arrow with the words "School Crossing, Slow" in white paint on the pavement, and stated that motorists' disregard f ths warning to travel slowly requires the posting of 268 officers at these crossings. Their total salary at $185 a month would be practically $50,000 monthly.

In giving the views of the Traffic Court judge, Judge Swain stated that Los Angeles has progressed away from the measurement of the

THREE JUDGES HELD "PRISONER"

Evidently restraining orders and injunctions have no effect on mountain blizzards, else three Superior Court judges of Los Angeles county would not have been absent from their benches yesterday, all held fast and snowbound in the hills.

The three held prisoners are Superior Judges Fleming, Burnell and Bishop.

When court convened yesterday morning the three jurists were absent. About noon word began trickling in over the long-distance telephone wires to the effect that all of them were snowbound.

Judges Burnell and Fleming, according to word received by Presiding Judge Keetch, were in the grip of heavy snowdrifts on the Ridge Route, while Judge Bishop was being held a prisoner at Redwood at the new home he is building in the San Bernardino Mountains.

All the judges are reported safe and expect to be on their benches when court convenes this morning.

CRYER SECRETARY ASSAILED

Vail's Letter to Nix Accuses Kinney of Meddling in Affairs of Prosecutor's Investigator

Charges that H. H. Kinney, secretary to Mayor Cryer, attempted to usurp the functions of the office of the chief investigator for the City Prosecutor's office and interfere with the performance of duties were embodied in a letter yesterday to City Prosecutor Nix from Grove T. Vail, former chief investigator, whom Nix forced to resign.

Vail's letter to Nix, a Cryer appointee, confronts the latter with the charge that although Nix, upon his appointment to succeed E. J. Pickley, said there would be no change in the office personnel, the former chief investigator says he was called into conference immediately thereafter and his resignation demanded.

"I later have been informed," Vail wrote to Nix, "that you said this action was for the 'good of the service.' permit me, therefore to wound was pronounced serious, but not fatal.

Hawkins died in the jail hospital fifteen minutes after the shooting.

In reconstructing the plot to escape Capt. Bright, head of Sheriff Traeger's homicide detail, expressed the belief that the two men had planned to capture the jail elevator, run it to the basement and escape through the auto park at the back of the Hall of Justice. The fact that the two men had but a few dollars in their possession caused officers to believe that they had arranged to hide in the home of some friend.

How the prisoners came into possession of the gun which Hawkins used in the battle is a question that remains a mystery. The gun is said to have disappeared from an officer's gun locker December 30, last. Since that time turnkeys and guards have searched the jail daily in an attempt to find the weapon.

The pistol belongs to one of the County Jail turnkeys, it was learned at the Sheriff's office.

Both Hawkins and Hayes were serving sentences of from five years to life in Folsom prison after being convicted of a robbery in San Francisco. They were brought to Los Angeles September 17, 1928, for trial here in connection with a series of robberies.

ATTORNEY TELLS STORY

M. L. Roberts, attorney, who talked to the two men before they were returned from court, last night appeared before Capt. Bright, offering to report his conversation with the two prisoners. Roberts, was the last man who talked to Hawkins and Hayes.

According to Roberts, he was called by the two men into the prisoners' room in Superior Court. They asked him whether their case would be dismissed today.

"I went out to inquire and returned after a short time, informing the men that their case would be continued since their attorney was not present," Roberts declared.

SUSPECT IN GIRL'S DEATH PLOT JAILED

Intended Victim Tells of Escaping as Accused Writes Murder Note

Accused of preparing to k'' a girl who scorned his love, William A. Cuaron, said by the police to be a pardoned Texas girl-slayer, was arrested yesterday after a number of sequences which rival fiction.

Cuaron is a Spaniard, 22 years of age, living at 1183 Angeleno street. He is employed as a laborer by the Bureau of Light and Power. According to Detectives Enderson and McMahan, the prisoner admitted having served fifteen months' imprisonment in Texas, on a conviction of killing his sweetheart in Austin. He was pardoned, he said, by Gov. "Ma" Ferguson.

The police report is that Cuaron vainly wooed Dolly Sco'' of 416 South Spring street, who has a manicure shop at 222 West Third street. Yesterday, the detectives charge, Cuaron went to this shop and at the point of a revolver forced Miss Scott to enter a taxicab with him. They drove to his room. There, she says, he wrote a letter to his mother announcing he was going to kill his sweetheart and himself. While Cuaron was writing, Miss Scott obtained possession of his 32 caliber revolver and ejected the cartridges. She then escaped. Hurrying to Central Police Station, she told her story.

A trap was arranged, the girl telephoning Cuaron to meet her at her room to talk the matter over. When he arrived there, Enderson and McMahan grabbed him. They booked him on a charge of suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, and a charge of violating the law prohibiting aliens or ex-convicts from carrying weapons.

Actress Proves Divorce Rumor to be Unfounded

While Elise Bartlett, stage actress, was on a trip to New York and Cuba to recuperate from an operation, tongues began wagging in Hollywood that she left with a divorce in mind. Yesterday she returned to Hollywood and went to the home of her husband, Joseph Schildkraut, film actor.

ELISE BARTLETT SCHILDKRAUT

"It is absurd for people to think that we have any intention of a divorce or that we have been separated on account of any trouble," she said on her return. "I took a trip to New York and Cuba for a much-needed rest before a return to the stage."

Miss Bartlett stated that while she was in New York she was given a play which friends are anxious for her to produce in Los Angeles.

Close behind her in second place is Gladys Klunk, with 43.7 miles to her credit in the twenty-nine hours. Miss Klunk and Miss Manhart broke the record by swimming 103 lengths of the thirty-yard tank in one hour.

Hilda Walsh, who held the lead all during the contest until just two days ago, when aKtharine Manhart shot ahead, was passed again yesterday by Miss Klunk at the eleventh hour. Miss Walsh finished in third place with 43.4 miles.

The contest limited the swimmers to one hour's effort daily. Each of the fifty-two entries tried to cover as much distance as possible in twenty-nine hours, or twenty-nine days.

Miss Manhart will be presented with a loving cup from the Myers Jeweler Company. Miss Klunk and Miss Walsh will receive honorable mention for second and third places. The presentation of the cup will be made at the annual midwinter swimming contest next Thursday.

VAIL ASSAILS AIDE OF MAYOR

ware tried and convicted despite his intervention."

To substantiate his latter two charges Vail cites the case of Dave Lockhart, convicted "case fixer," about which Vail says Kinney summoned him and said: "I don't want anything to happen to this boy." Lockhart was sent to jail for one year.

HANDS OFF ASKED

On another occasion, Vail asserts, he arrested two men known as Rose and Doolan for making illegal and unauthorized collections for "political purposes" in "hot spots." Again, the former chief investigator wrote, Kinney called him in conference and said: "Vail, I don't want anything to happen to these boys." Vail says he refused to "lay off" and convictions were obtained.

Next, in the letter, Vail takes up the discussion of Walter R. Montgomery, his successor appointed by Nix, and asserts that although Montgomery was on the pay roll as an investigator for many months, he filled a position with a loan association and was devoting his time to that job.

GLORIFIED CHAUFFEUR

Furthermore, Vail says, another on the pay roll as an investigator, Rankin R. Price, was unavailable for duty because he was "a glorified messenger boy and chauffeur for Mr. Kinney." Because of Kinney's demands for the services of Rankin, Vail declares, his duties in the investigator's office were "neglected and slighted."

While the former chief investigator brought his charges out in the open a grand jury investigation of them seemed more probable, City Prosecutor Nix said he had not read the letter and therefore could make no reply.

Nix, however, announced the appointment of a new Deputy City Prosecutor and four new investigators yesterday. Stanley E. Fox, a graduate of the University of Southern California law school, was named complaint deputy and assumed his duties at once.

Wyckoff B. Westover, T. Ben Haggarty, C. C. McGonegal and T. S. Estabrook were appointed investigators to fill the places of William Morgan, Otis Osgood and John Fox, who were dismissed, and the vacancy created by the appointment of Walter Montgomery as chief investigator, following the forced resignation of Grover Vail, former chief investigator. All of the new investigators are World War veterans.

Harry Margid, trial deputy, in a letter to Nix yesterday denied the report that his resignation had been requested and declared that he intends to co-operate loyally with his new chief.

GASOLINE WAR NEARS END

Independent Association Perfects Plans to Work With Oil Companies to Eliminate Price Controversies

Definite settlement of the gasoline war with an agreement between the independent service stations and the large oil companies that will preclude chances of future controversies is expected this week following three meetings yesterday.

At one of the meetings held by the Independent Service Station Association at the Ambassador two attorneys were appointed to go to San Francisco today to join with the independent dealers there in a conference with a legislative committee of the State Assembly. The attorneys, Silas S. Meyer and Homer L. Breidenbach, will aid the San Francisco dealers in a demand for an investigation of the methods employed by the major oil companies in leasing stations to employees, according to L. W. Sockman, head of the local association.

Another meeting of independents, comprising dealers of communities adjacent to Los Angeles, resulted in a decision not to cut the price of gasoline unless an agreement of a proportionate cut can be obtained from the oil companies. Dealers from Glendale, Whittier, Montebello, Huntington Park, Santa Monica, Alhambra and other cities attended.

Lawrence Klinker of Huntington Park was appointed head of a committee to meet with the major oil companies to effect the agreement. According to Klinker, the outlying service stations do not intend to participate further in a price war.

POLICE SEEKING BANDIT CLEWS

Officers Would Circumvent Hawthorne Alibi

"Riveter" Identified With $600,000 Robbery

Whereabouts of Convict Six Years Ago Traced

The police check on the whereabouts of Jimmie Hawthorne, San Quentin prisoner, identified by three witnesses as one of the bandits who early on the morning of February 13, 1923, shot and killed a bank messenger and escaped with more than $600,000 in bonds, was put under way yesterday by Chief of Detectives Cline.

Efforts to trace former underworld companions of the bandit who is now serving five to seventy-five years in the State prison, are being conducted by Chief Cline with half a dozen officers. Instructions to the searching police are to bring in everyone known to have associated with Hawthorne during his career in this city.

NO ALIBI GIVEN

Hawthorne, who was identified Saturday, failed to give Chief Cline any alibi covering the week of February 13, six years ago. He stated, however, when informed that he had been identified as one of the slayers of Sam McGee, the negro bank messenger, that he would be able to prove his whereabouts on that morning.

The efforts of the police yesterday to locate his known associates were for the purpose of obtaining statements from them that would prevent them "building" an alibi for the suspected man. The only statement vouched by the San Quentin prisoner to Chief Cline was that he was not in Los Angeles at the time of the bank slaying.

From what could be learned yesterday there are still in Los Angeles a number of persons who knew "The Riveter," as Hawthorne was called in the underworld. It is believed by the police that from them can be obtained information which may shatter Hawthorne's asserte alibi.

SHOT FOUR TIMES

In the meantime San Francisco police who are assisting the local officers in the investigation are searching the northern city for clews to Hawthorne's whereabouts and companions during the month of February, 1923.

If additional information can be obtained by the police during their investigation the entire matter will be placed before the county grand jury.

Records show that Hawthorne was convicted and sentenced to San Quentin several years ago for the robbery of a San Francisco jewelry store. The police arrested him after he had been shot four times by an underworld companion in what the authorities believe was a quarrel over the division of the plunder.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The educaion of the public, both adult and juvenile, is a chief aim of the California Development Association. Adult education is carried on largely through the newspapers and through the efforts of civic bodies and auto clubs.

Education of children is carried on through the public schools and it is proposed to provide this education as part of the public-school curriculum. A bill providing this course is to be introduced in the Legislature.

Single control of highway officers under the supervision of the State Motor Vehicle Department instead of the present dual control and the adoption of a uniform traffic ordinance are also sought by the association.

Board Free for Alimony Dodger

Why Walter W. Davis didn't pay his wife's alimony was made the subject of inquiry by Superior Judge Rosecrans yesterday.

"I was only making $120 a month," Davis informed the court. "After I got through living there wasn't enough left for Mrs. Davis's alimony."

"I know a place where you can live for nothing," came from he bench. "It's the County Jail," said Superior Judge Rosecrans, "and you're going there for one month," said the judge.

ARTHUR DAVIS GIVEN TERM IN COUNTY JAIL

United States District Judge James yesterday sentenced Arthur Davis, 24 years of age, to six months in the County Jail for forgery of a small government check made out to another person. He previously had pleaded guilty. A sentence of eighteen months in a Federal prison on a second count was suspended.

...A pouch of more than fifty jars, ... some hits of gruesome ... which the State says veri... ...e charge that Northcott slew, ... buried and later removed bodies of his victims from the chickenhouse graves, passed before the jury and court during the morning session.

Cross-examination of Sellers, who identified the contents of the jars; Dr. Lytle, Dr. M. G. Varian and Albert M. Kelly, chief investigator of the Riverside District Attorney's office, by the accused slayer, who is acting as his own attorney, was limited to not more than half a dozen perfunctory questions.

Northcott created a mild sensation at the opening of court this morning when he demanded a continuance because of an asserted serious cold. Upon motion of the prosecution, two physicians, who have examined the youth in his cell, were placed on the witness stand. Both asserted the accused boy slayer was not so physically incapacitated that he cannot carry on his trial.

Northcott took issue with the physicians and requested another examination. After the medical men again pronounced him fit to carry on the court refused his request.

Immediately following his motion to the court for a delay Northcott indulged in a fit of coughing, but apparently he failed to make an impression.

Tonight Redwine announced that he expects to complete presentation of the State's case by Wednesday.

WEEK FOR DEFENSE

Northcott said he will utilize all of next week for his defense. Prosecution officials, however, doubt that the accused slayer has sufficient defense to take that much time.

"Well, I want you to understand that I am going to spend at least three days on the witness stand to question and answer myself and I will be able to tear down most of the testimony so far introduced against me," Northcott said today during the afternoon recess.

When Sellers appeared on the stand at the opening of the morning session he delivered another severe blow to Northcott when he declared the envelopes which contained messages to Mr. and Mrs. Winslow were of the same texture as those found in the Northcott home on Brittania street in Los Angeles.

When Kelly was called to the stand, Northcott asked him:

"You didn't find these envelopes on the ranch, did you?"

"No, I got them in your Los Angeles home," the detective answered.

"That's fine, in fact, that's all I wanted to be sure of," the youth replied.

Northcott, court attaches said, is being given more leeway than any other man that has appeared in a local court. Judge Freeman's attitude, it was said, is based on Northcott's action in taking his life into his own hands and discharging his battery of defense counsel in order to conduct his own case.

WIDENING PLAN ADOPTED

The City Council yesterday adopted a general ordinance providing for the opening, widening, laying out and extending of American avenue between Wilmington and Salt Works Road and Anaheim street.

GRADE COSTS ISSUE RAISED

City Attorney Holds Rail Companies Liable for Expense of Lowering Tracks at Crossings

Although in tentative negotiations for the lowering of the Pacific Electric tracks to grade at Dominguez, Sanford, Watson and Cristobal streets, the city's representatives have agreed to pay one-half the cost of the work, an opinion sent by the City Attorney's office yesterday to Roy A. Knox, director of the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency, holds that the railroad can be required to pay the total cost of the work, which amounts to $39,000. The tracks at the points mentioned now run four feet above the city streets.

The opinion, which was written by Deputy City Attorney Ronnow, says this contention undoubtedly would be contested by the railroad and in all probability it would be several years before the matter could be settled. The opinion adds that if, therefore, the Council determines there is an emergency existing which requires the immediate opening of these streets across the railroad's right of way, it has the authority to enter into an agreement with the railroad to share the cost of the work.

"In either event," the opinion concludes, "it is for the City Council to determine which policy should be followed."

There has never been a case in which the Supreme Court of the State specifically passed on a matter of this sort, but points out that the franchises under which the tracks in question were built require the railroad company, at its own expense, to lower its tracks to grade at the particular dedicated streets as were crossed by the railroad company's right of way at the time the ranchises were granted."

NEW BANK BUILDING DUE SOON

Federal Reserve Edifice Bill Passes Congress and Awaits Coolidge Signature

Congressional appropriation of $800,000 with which to build a Federal Reserve Bank Building in Los Angeles awaits only the approval of President Coolidge to make it effective, according to information received here yesterday.

Dispatches said the House of Representatives yesterday adopted the Senate resolution appropriating the money and that the measure now goes to the President for signature.

The appropriation, as heretofore announced, will go to erect a five-story building on a Tenth and Olive streets site bought by the Federal Reserve Board.

The bank now is in cramped quarters at Third and Spring streets.

Debate in the House of Representatives developed the fact that Los Angeles is the largest branch-bank city in the country and the largest city not having its own Federal Reserve building; also that the Los Angeles bank handles more business than any other branch bank in the United States.

The new building will double the accommodations of the bank from every standpoint and will be constructed on a plan that will permit addition of three extra stories or a wing if still more space is needed in the future.

Furnishings costing an estimated $400,000 are to be purchased out of funds which the Federal Reserve Bank has for purchases. These will include the latest type of vaults.

Suspect Sent to Leavenworth

"Let God strike me dead if I am not telling the truth," cried William M. Mouse, convicted of mistreating two small Mexican boys, as he pleaded for leniency yesterday in the court of United States District Judge McCormick.

Mouse had been convicted in the State courts, but the case was transferred to the United States court, as the asserted offense occurred on the grounds of the Old Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle. He was sentenced to three years at Leavenworth prison.

STREET ORDINANCE ADOPTED

The final ordinance for the improvement of streets in the Grace-street and Santa Ana Boulevard Improvement District was adopted by the City Council yesterday.

AIR ORDINANCES BEFORE COUNCIL

Griffith Park Project Goes to Finance Committee

Report Back on Proposition Expected in Week

Plan to Make Landing Fields Utilities Offered

The ordinance setting aside 200 acres of park lands adjoining Griffith Park as a site for a municipal airport was introduced in the City Council yesterday but there was no discussion on it and it was referred immediately to the Finance Committee, which will report on it within a week. In its consideration of the ordinance the Finance Committee probably will attempt to get a definite expression of the views of all the members of the Park Commission, since City Attorney Stephens has rendered an opinion that this area cannot be used for airport purposes without the consent of that commission.

Another ordinance dealing with airports was introduced in the Council yesterday. It would establish all airports and landing fields as public utilities and its purpose is understood to be to pave the way for the passage of another ordinance providing for municipal regulation of airports and landing fields. An attempt was made to suspend the rules to obtain immediate adoption of the ordinance, but on objection of Councilman Colden, its consideration was put over a week.

The necessary improvements desired by Director of Airports Henderson before the formal opening of the municipal airport at Mines Field, which include resurfacing of runways, construction of taxiways, aprons for cars and a road leading to One Hundred and Fourteenth street, were authorized by the Council yesterday when it approved a recommendation of its Finance Committee that Mr. Henderson be allowed to draw on the airport fund up to $23,000 for these purposes.

PLUMMER COMMANDS DRY SQUAD

Veteran Police Official Takes Oath as Head of Fitts Enforcement Bureau

Another picturesque figure in the law enforcement ranks of Los Angeles for two decades became attached to the staff of Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday when Clyde I. Plummer, retired deputy Chief of Police, took control of the Wright Act enforcement bureau in the District Attorney's office.

CLYDE I. PLUMMER

With twenty officers under his command Plummer, in an informal statement on taking office, said he will attempt to reach the actual sources of liquor supply in the county rather than spend time chasing "hip-pocket" violators, although the latter will not be entirely overlooked.

Plummer's first official day in county service was spent in being sworn in to his post and in conferences with Dist.-Atty. Fitts, L. C. Wheeler, chief of the bureau of criminal investigation, and Tom O'Brien, head of the county bunko squad, who has been acting temporarily as liquor-law enforcement chief.

The new county anti-liquor chief is accredited with breaking down the organized and lawless demonstrations of the I.W.W. in the hectic day of the water front strike at San Pedro several years ago, where he alone faced the mob on the so-called "Liberty Hill," overlooking the harbor, and forced them to respect the law.

He retired from the police department after twenty years' duty, starting as a patrolman "in the sticks" and ending his period of city service as deputy chief in charge of traffic.

FILIPINOS TO FORM SERVICE MEN'S BODY

Filipino ex-service men who have seen service in the United States Army and Navy are requested to attend a meeting at Rizal Hall, 126 Weller street, next Sunday at 7 p.m. The purpose of the meeting, according to L. Angeles Antony, is to organize a Filipino veterans' organization, which will be composed of ex-service men residing in the city and vicinity. There are about 600 of these young men, all of whom are working in various lines of trade.

CIGAR MANUFACTURER TO BE BURIED TODAY

The funeral services of Calvin D. Collins, retired cigar manufacturer of Pittsburgh, will be conducted today at 10 a.m. from the L. F. Utier Chapel, 4254 South Broadway. Rev. Ervin Engle, pastor of St. Marks Methodist Episcopal Church, of which Mr. Collins was a member, will officiate. The Masonic rites will be held at both the chapel and at the grave in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

THORNTON RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha B. Thornton will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at Bresee Brothers' undertaking parlors. Mrs. Thornton, who was 91 years of age, came to Los Angeles from New Jersey twenty-five years ago. She leaves two sons, Dr. David D. Thornton of Los Angeles and John P. Thornton of Adrian, Mich. Burial will be in Joliet, Ill.

AIR LINE CHOOSES TERMINAL

Transcontinental Company Decides on Grand Central Field in Glendale for Western Base

The Grand Central Air Terminal at Glendale was chosen yesterday as the western terminus of the Transcontinental Air Transport Company, it was announced in a statement issued by Col. Paul Henderson, vice-president and general manager.

The selection was made with the approval of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was consulted by Henderson and his associates by long-distance telephone before the choice was made, according to the statement. Lindbergh is in New York.

The statement points out that Henderson and others of the company have been in Los Angeles for ten days making a study of various landing fields to determine which would be the most suitable terminal by reason of location, size and general flying characteristics.

It also declares that the company has been assured that the field will be in a satisfactory condition for use by the transcontinental planes by May 15, next, and the company's plans call for the initial operation of the air line between that date and June 1. Arrangements for the erection of a hangar 100 by 220 feet have been made, according to the statement.

The field is located north of the Southern Pacific Railroad station in Glendale and adjacent to the National Guard air base in Griffith Park, Los Angeles, and this should insure air-line passengers a minimum delay in reaching any part of the metropolitan district, according to Henderson.

"Facilities which will be included in our establishment of this airport will embrace a private telephone line, with Los Angeles as its west terminus and Columbus, O., as its east terminus, and radio equipment which will insure us constant communication by radio with the airplanes of our line. This radio communication will be a two-way communication, the crews of the airplanes will be able to communicate at any moment with our managers on the ground and the ship dispatchers, and weather men on the ground will have the ability to communicate with the pilots at any second, should occasion require," the statement reads.

"It is our ambition to establish this line with everything which the art of aviation now knows making for safety and regularity included in our system."

Instruction in the writing of news and publicity articles will be given tomorrow by the University of California at Los Angeles extension division at 7 p.m. in Room 818 of the Hillstreet Building. BURIAL OF VETERAN PHONE WORKER TODAY

The funeral of Lauman Kaster, employee of the Home Telephone Company for the past fourteen years, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today from the Draper and Butt Funeral Chapel, 1717 South Flower street. Burial will be made in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mr. Kaster, who resides at 429 East Sixtieth street, died Saturday. He was born in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, and had lived in Los Angeles since 1904. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Kaster.

TARIFF REDUCTION

If the Democrats want a burning issue in the next campaign let them come out strong for a deep slash in the cover charges at the night clubs.

PUNCTUATION NOTE

Printers say that the Question Mark graduated into an exclamation point. Anyhow, the plane remained aloft for a long period after a nonpareil dash.

STILL RUNNING

In Chicago Bath House John Coughlin, who has served the first ward as alderman for thirty-eight consecutive years, is running for another term. Seems to have formed the habit.

GETTING BETTER

Man was fined $350 for fishing without a license. All our hardened malefactors do not get away, by a long shot. Gradually the world is being made safe for our loved ones—albeit a bit unsafe for some of the democracy.

NEVER CAN TELL

A Pennsylvania preacher is suing an actress for breach of promise. This may sound like press-agent stuff, but the dispatches carry the story. Perhaps the pastor wished to reform the lady by marrying her and feels that he is sadly damaged by losing his chance.

THE BIG MONEY

Those who have dug in the files find that during his lifetime Tex Rickard promoted no less than 289 prize fights of all sorts and sizes and that the gate money amounted to more than $24,500,000. Rickard always declared that Dempsey was the greatest drawing card in the world. At any rate the fights in which Dempsey appeared under Rickard's direction grossed to the tune of $9,164,862 on the cash register. And they still say that Jack is good for another million or two.

A WIRELESS WORLD

The gentleman from Wall street declares that the American people last year spent nearly $650,000,000 on radios and their belongings. This is a heap of money for what some folk would call a new toy, but it may be only a start. There are more than 28,000,000 homes in the country and nearly 20,000,000 of them are wired for electricity. There are still many more phonographs than radios in commission so that the wireless will have a big margin to trade on for some time ahead. It is a poor time to talk of slumps. Look what the radio fans got for their money last year. There must have been a dozen speeches by Al Smith.

RATS OF RUSSIA

To add to its other troubles Russia is being eaten up by rats. It is odd that a country or community having a food problem is right away infested by hordes of bold and rapacious rodents. It is said that there are literally millions of rats in Leningrad and they seem to have invaded every home. Rats are not particular as to diet. They will eat almost anything, but with all their carelessness they have never accustomed themselves to prey upon one another. A hungry rat may be tempted to tackle a tender mousie, but will not sink his fangs into his fellow—unless it chance to be a family quarrel. But to solve the rodent problem the soviet scientists are developing a rat-eating rat. They selected some of the larger specimens and starved them for a while. When they were ravenous they began to give them rat flesh—at first in disguise. As they grew fond of the diet they were interbred and the source of their food supply revealed. This selective process went on until now there are families of super rats that get a thrill from harrying the whole rat family. These big guys are now being bred and turned loose in a general clean-up and it is hoped and expected that the day will come when the soviet rats will have eaten one another up until there is but one survivor. Then the council will have the last one shot and the troubles of the country will be over. It sounds like a Moscow program, anyhow.

THE PARALYZED SENATE

That there is a majority of Senators favorable to the passage of the bill for the construction of fifteen cruisers and an aircraft carrier to replace obsolete and obsolescent vessels, there is no doubt in the mind of anyone in Washington, or outside of it for that matter. That this majority is unable to function is also plain. It is prevented from coming to a vote by a determined minority, which, from present indications, may be able to block action during the remaining six weeks of the life of the Seventieth Congress. This minority has seized every pretext, made use of every delaying maneuver, and is likely to bring the bill at last to a position where it may be filibustered out of existence.

The country at large wants these cruisers built. It understands the importance of the navy to the plans of national defense, and it understands that if the navy is not maintained it might as well be junked outright. But the country at large is powerless to act. It has delegated its authority to its representatives; and its representatives in the Senate have paralyzed themselves with a set of rules which prevent them from enacting the popular will.

In the present session they are not even fearful of popular disfavor since the election at which this disfavor might have been manifested is past. Several of the minority now crusading against the cruisers have already been voted out of office.

These circumstances and others like them are powerful arguments for changes in the Senate rules and for the abolition of "lame duck" sessions. Reforms which will terminate this ridiculous spectacle of legislators who will not legislate, who are tied hand and foot so that they cannot legislate, and who do not care what the public thinks because they are no longer accountable to it, are urgently needed.

There was a good deal of business before this closing session of the present Congress, but if there had been diligence and devotion to duty it could all have been disposed of, with plenty of time for proper debate and discussion. It is not as if the cruiser bill was new legislation; it has been in Congress for a year and every single Senator has had plenty of time to inform himself about it. The House passed it last spring, and so far as the Senate's need for time to study it is concerned, it could have been brought up and passed the first day of the present session. The discussion had added nothing to the knowledge of any Senator, or to the knowledge of the country, and has resulted in no changes either in the bill or in public sentiment. It represents not the maximum or what should be done for the Navy, but the very minimum. The original Navy Department program called for seventy-one new vessels—too many, perhaps, yet if all had been authorized there would have been a tremendous impetus toward international action for naval limitation.

THE CHILDREN'S FRIEND

No man or woman can win a nobler reward than the affection of a whole community. To have earned this fully and unreservedly from all classes among whom she lived and labored is the wreath a great city lays on the bier of Mary E. Hurd, the children's friend, who has just passed to her eternal rest. Though born in the beautiful foothill city of Placerville, where the last rites will be paid her, she none the less belongs to Los Angeles—and Los Angeles today joins with Placerville in paying tribute to one whose life was filled with the spirit of unselfish devotion to those who most urgently needed the care and love of their fellow-kind.

The larger part of her life was spent in the Southwest metropolis and in Los Angeles the seed of her activities has borne its fruit of a kindlier attitude toward the unfortunate and a higher consideration for the life of the little child. For Mrs. Hurd made child welfare work and the rescue of those "more sinned against than sinning" the chief object in life. As president of the Florence Crittenton Home she was best known to her fellow-citizens of Los Angeles and through the ministrations of that Christian institution she proved her love for the mother and the child in a way that the mothers and children of the Southwest will hold in eternal remembrance.

But her community interest was not confined to this single charity, in spite of the demand it made on her time and energies. Wherever the cause of the children called for attention Mrs. Hurd was always ready to hear, to help, to serve. She belonged to many philanthropic societies and to clubs and orders designed to promote patriotism and better citizenship. She even found time in the midst of her many other duties to take an active part in politics and was a member of the Republican State Committee.

This rare combination of the head and the heart, consecrated to any cause that appeared to be for the betterment of our common humanity, made Mary E. Hurd a citizen of California who will be mourned and missed by hosts of friends in every walk and calling of life. But before all else she will be remembered as the friend of the children.

SAVE US FROM "SOVIET"

It irritates the national mind of the world to be told that use of the word "Russia" and all its derivatives, except in reference to the old imperial regime, has been forbidden by those who rule at Moscow. This rule probably will be obeyed in Russia, for Red dominance there is more circumspect and tyrannical than that of the Czar ever was, but it is useless for the present government to serve notice on foreign nations, as it is said to have done, that their people must call Russia the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, and that the word "soviet" must be used by them instead of "Russian." As for English-speaking people, they have no fear of the commissars, and Russia will continue to be Russia to them, and Russians will remain Russians.

"Soviet" and its derivatives have been decreed as the proper and only permissible nomenclature for the government and the people. If we followed the rule laid down by the Reds we probably would have to refer to a Russian citizen as a "sovieter" or "sovietan," and are little likely to do so. In this name-changing business we went about as far as we care to go when we accepted Petrograd for St. Petersburg and very reluctantly acquiesced in Leningrad. "Soviet" is just a little too much for us.

One is inclined to agree with the New York Times that it was "something more than a crying shame" to change the name of Peking to Peiping. Peking stood for much in history and romance. Peiping stands for little or nothing.

While one hardly can question the right, one does question the propriety of a nation making the whole world swallow new and unmeaning geographical names. Russia, St. Petersburg and Peking were all right. If those who changed them deem them an improvement in any way they will not find many foreigners, and probably no great numbers of their own people, who concur in that opinion.

DR. COOPER ADVANCES

From a rather obscure position as City Superintendent of Schools of Piedmont, Dr. William John Cooper has in ten years risen to the post of Commissioner of Education of the United States, head of one of the most important bureaus of the Interior Department, which may soon achieve Cabinet dignity if Congress acts on pending legislation to make it a separate department. Dr. Cooper has been State Superintendent of Public Instruction less than two years, but in that time he has made noteworthy improvement in the educational system of the State. He has contemplated resigning his State post ever since the voters defeated, at the November election, a constitutional amendment designed to take the position out of political control.

Dr. Cooper's educational experience has been: Head of the history department of Berkeley High School, Superintendent at Piedmont, Superintendent at Fresno, educational work at San Diego, and president of San Jose Teachers' College. His work has been recognized nationally, as at the National Education Association at Dallas in 1927 he was section-president of child study and adult education. His promotion to higher honors is well deserved.

"THE MAN WITH THE HOE"

Few men have done enough in this world to have the front page for a morning. But when a fictitious character, the creation of the imagination in a poem, has a natal day surprise party, it is a distinct achievement. This is the peculiar honor to be accorded to Edwin Markham's "The Man With the Hoe."

In the latter part of February that most noted worker with his hands, "The Man With the Hoe," will be feted and toasted by a group of prominent literati, clergymen, educators, social and labor leaders in New York City. His horny hands will be grasped by those who appreciate him for once. He will be received in the best society!

Edwin Markham was born seventy-seven years ago, and his literary child will be 30 years old next month. Markham is now mellow with age and happy and simple-hearted as a child. But the man who "gazes on the ground" with "the emptiness of ages in his face" is made of the dust of the ground and his native California granite. Markham will die; but "The Man With the Hoe" will live forever.

The one-time professor in the University of California at Berkeley has been an honor to his State and nation. "The Man With the Hoe" may but dig in the ground; but he made Edwin Markham. He hoed more than dirt and grew more than grain.

SUCH A LIFE

By James J. Montague

For every job that science makes obsolete she creates three or four new ones

I always have found it distasteful to toil;
Being fond of a place in the shade,
I never got pleasure from tilling the soil
Which means plying a laboring spade.
Both of these I have done in an effort to thrive
And to add, now and then, to my means,
But I always have hoped that the time might arrive
When all work would be done by machines.

To science I looked for the dawn of the day
When life would gain savor and zest,
With leisure to spend in long nerve-easing play,
And abundance of soul-salving rest.
For me simple pleasure will amply suffice
Like sitting beneath a great tree,
And I hoped that some day I might have some device
To bring home the bacon for me.

But from this pleasant dream I awake with a start
To discover I'm utterly wrong,
For science is wholly devoid of a heart,
She's creating new jobs, right along.
She releases a few million men from the plow
And more from the mills, it is true,
But before they can give her a glad grateful bow
She hunts them up more work to do.

No sooner a fellow gets rid of one job
And a smile starts to lighten his face
And his heart gives an eager and palpitant throb,
Than another turns up in its place.
Thus existence continues unspeakably hard,
Till at last we are under the sod,
I suppose when I'm quit of my task as a bard
I'll be told off to carry a hod!

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

WE'VE seen some mighty funny things hiking up Mt. Wilson, but evidently they're getting more and more so, for in the Sierra Madre News we note this advertisement:

"Men's Outing Gowns, 89c."

Doubly Blawsted

He formed a most ardent attachment for her
And courted with ardor and vim,
Then grew fickle and skipped. But she didn't, no, sir—
She got out an attachment for him.

Hollywood Correspondence

Sideswiper: The talkie epidemic has brought a horde of strange new faces and types to the film studios, and the courteous casting directors, some of whom are said by the extras to have learned their manners in a correspondence school, at last are getting punishment. All the young lady elocutionists who used to dream only of the stage now are casting longing eyes and tongues at the screen.

And, alas! some of the cowboyest-looking wild west atmosphere now must be given the air for inability to talk cowboy. Western pictures have been down for some months, but the talkies have put them out, also.

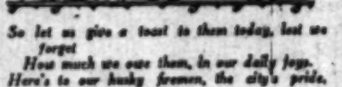
Our "Finest"

I surely do admire all the champions so strong,
In sportdom they are quite the biggest noise.
But those to whom I doff my lid, in all the heroic throng,
Are the brave and ready hook and ladder boys.

If your bungalow's on fire they will be there with a flood
And risk their lives to save your happy home.
They give their brain and muscle, and sometimes they give their blood—
To list the ways they serve would fill a tome.



So let us give a toast to them today, lest we forget
How much we owe them, in our daily jogs.
Here's to our husky firemen, the city's pride, you bet!
Salute the fearless hook and ladder boys!

Pretty rotten poem, for you, Carroll, but the subject's so good we can't reject the sentiment.

We suspect, though, that the last thing a fireman yearns for is to be toasted.

Over-Hospitality

J. R. E. says it was all right for the University of California band to refrain from "Marching Through Georgia" but it was carrying courtesy a little too far for the football team to abstain from it, too.

Icicles in Pasadena

It was as haughty-looking a turnout as ever rolled majestically down Orange Grove avenue—one of those imported cars which are almost as good as the best of our home product and cost three times as much, driven by a liveried chauffeur and occupied by two other glaciers and a human being. The latter was a child of about 5, a little boy who sat between the two in the rear seat and looked out wistfully at the free children he saw selling papers or otherwise enjoying themselves on the streets.

But suddenly even his unaccustomed eyes lit with genuine childish delight, as he spied a balloon vender above whose head floated the flag of the juvenile free of all the world, a sunset-colored cloud of toy balloons.

The child squealed. The feminine icicle on his left looked shocked and pained, but the male berg melted instantaneously. The car stopped, the balloon vender was signaled that he might dare to approach it.

Sudden Thaw

There were red balloons, yellow balloons, green balloons, twenty different colors of balloons, and of course the little boy couldn't decide between so many delights. So the indulgent father let him pick out about a dozen.

Did you ever try carrying a dozen toy balloons in a car? There's only one way—open a window and let them float out. So father held the strings on all but one, when the car stopped before a store on Colorado avenue and mother got out.

And just then three tousled, ordinary street kids dashed up, each holding out a nickel in a grimy paw.

"Hi, sport," they commanded the man holding the balloons, "give us a floater, pronto!"

Mother almost swooned. Father let go the strings as if they burned—and all was lost save honor and the one balloon sonny still held.

From Tennessee

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Jan. 15. [To the Editor of The Times:] A copy of the Midwinter Edition of The Times has just fallen into my hands; and although I am to you a total stranger in far-away Tennessee, I must submit to the urge, through a sense of appreciation, to commend ypu most earnestly for your wonderful achievement in inaugurating the new year with an issue which, in my opinion, equals, if indeed it does not surpass, anything I have yet seen in the form of a metropolitan journal.

Being a practical printer of forty years' experience, I can fully appreciate the vast amount of detail work involved in the production of a master paper like your Midwinter Number. The manner in which your editorial, reportorial and printorial staffs performed their numerous tasks is worthy the highest praise. It is an accomplishment in which you and your associates may, without the slightest apology, feel enthusiastic pride.

Difference in Cost—Why?

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] While we are investigating the so-called cement trust, why not also investigate the agreement that the asphalt association and cement association have in regard to bids on city paving jobs.

I have a letter of recent date, which I will be glad to show, where the United States government says that on a six-inch asphalt-concrete job near Pasadena last year they only paid $1.17 per square yard, while in a statement, also in my possession, from the Los Angeles City Engineer's office, they state that the city paid an average of $1.67 per square yard for the same kind of a job. Is the city of Los Angeles paid nearly 50 per cent more than the United States for the same kind of a job? Why?

In a letter from the United States Bureau of Public Roads of recent date they advise that for a paving cement-concrete job near Hueneme, they paid $2.17 per square yard, while the City Engineer's report from Los Angeles says they paid an average of $2.43, or about 15 per cent more than the government for the same kind of a job. Why? You will note that there is quite a difference in the cost of asphalt-concrete and cement concrete as paid by the government, while the price on these two style pavings are practically the same to Los Angeles. So it looks to me that there is understanding between the asphalt and cement associations for jobs done for the city of Los Angeles, and I have other evidence that seems to prove this.

Old-Time Printing

COLTON, Jan. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In a recent issue of The Times under the caption, "The Good Old Days," I find this paragraph:

"The good old days! The country printing press but a half century ago was the old folding affair that could turn out from fifty to 100 copies an hour, depending on the athletic ability of the editor. An issue of 500 copies a day was not just an edition, it was a feat."

The writer must have got lost in his history. "Half century ago" I was pulling a Washington hand press in the office of the Visalia Delta, where we printed an issue of over 1200 every week, four to six pages, eight columns to the page. The regular stunt of a pressman was not less than a "token" an hour, or 240 impressions. Half century ago there were a number of weekly country papers in California with an average circulation of 1000 or more all printed on a hand press. However, there were a few exceptions. Some of them had the Hoe drum cylinder press, capable of 1500 per hour. The Hoe cylinder was placed on the market as long ago as 1848. Some years before that the Adams flat-bed press was adopted by Harper Brothers for their publications and some eighty years ago an Adams was brought to Salem, Or., by the Methodist missionaries and later was in use many years by the Salem Daily Statesman. It had a speed of some 800 an hour and turned out excellent work. It might also be remarked that the quality of the old Washington hand press printing has never been excelled even to this day.

No Truck With Cheaters

BALBOA, Jan. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is to be hoped that everyone that had the Los Angeles Times January 13 read carefully what Alma Whitaker says about "Deliberate Graft." She certainly fills a long-felt want, and a vote of thanks from the good citizens of this country is due to her.

If honest people in business and society would refuse to play with cheaters and shunned them it would be a severe punishment, but too many unscrupulous people push themselves ahead and are not frowned upon as they deserve for the good of society at large. It is well for us to give serious thought to conditions and especially to what we are doing for the children in the schools.

POLITICS VS. MEDICINE

By Edward Huntington Williams

[Extract from an article in the Medical Journal and Record of New York.]

"Insanity is not a disease; it is a political plum." This was the assertion of an old ward boss in New York over a quarter of a century ago. Yet within a few months after this statement was made, the "plum" crop in New York, at least, had been harvested. The helm of the agencies that cared for the insane patients in the State had been placed in the hands of an experienced alienist. It was a distinct step forward.

But this step, that has now been taken by several of the eastern States, has not yet been taken by California. Despite our claim of advanced leadership in so many things, we still permit the care and treatment of the most important form of disease, insanity, to be under the immediate control of an inexperienced layman.

This state of affairs is not a reflection upon the officer appointed to hold the position, but rather upon the officials of the medical profession, who sit calmly by and allow such an absurdity. The medical board of health dictates the control of such diseases, tuberculosis, syphilis, leprosy, enteric fever, and practically every other form of disease. Why not insanity? Do we still believe it a "possession by devils," or take the legal view that it is more of a mental misdemeanor than a real disease? One is justified in the suspicion, from the fact that the helmsman in this State, at present, is an attorney, and none of his immediate predecessors have been physicians.

Political appointments have their place, of course, in every State machine. But, since the engineering department is bossed by a trained engineer; the building department by an architect, and the legal department by an attorney; why not a physician of corresponding special training to direct the care of the especially complex disease called insanity?

At the present time California is confronted with the dilemma that always results when any layman, no matter how intelligent or well meaning, attempts to direct medical care and treatment. Especially so, when general rules are suggested for the care of individual cases—the impossible, that no one but a physician, it appears, can really appreciate. Apparently it takes medical training to acquire the mere fundamental that each patient is an individual study where one man's food may literally kill his neighbor who, to lay observation, may be similarly afflicted.

The fundamental error in any set of general rules is that generalities cannot be applied to advantage in practical scientific medical treatment. This fact needs no repetition or emphasis for medical men; but is not well appreciated by laymen. For example, one might suppose that some general rule could be laid down for the treatment of such a well-understood condition as tuberculosis, fresh desert air, sunlight, rest, etc. It seems simplicity itself. Yet the experienced physician knows that desert air and sunlight, if prescribed in definite dosage, would actually kill one patient while curing another one who, to lay observation, is similarly afflicted. Illustrating this, there is one large and well advertised desert sanatorium now in operation, into which no tuberculosis patients are admitted at present. It was opened on specially selected ground for the special purpose of treating such cases, and a small fortune was spent in advertising it for this treatment. But it was found, when put to practical test, that tuberculosis patients grew worse there instead of better. Just why, no one can explain satisfactorily; yet the practical fact remains. And the tuberculosis patients were finally excluded.

If there had been some State rule governing the treatment in this institution, one can picture the difficulties and evasions and trickery that would have followed—at the expense of the patients' lives. For, of course, the "rules" could not have been changed—once they got on the statute books! But, luckily, unlike insanity, tuberculosis is considered a disease for medical treatment, not some "plum" for lay exploitation or experiment.

TO COMMANDER BYRD

Must both the frozen poles be thine—
Would'st see what but the gods have seen—
That land where neither palm nor pine,
Nor any foot of man has been?

Must there be nothing left unknown?
No land too cold or be untrod,
No sea so wide, so tempest-blown,
No place almost forgot by God?

We know not whether good may come
From godless seas, or lands forlorn,
Where all but groaning ice is dumb
As on the day the world was born.

With eyes half-closed we see thee there
Beneath yon polar's secret spell—
And now along the viewless air
We hear thee say that "all is well."

And this to thee, brave heart, a world
Waits breathless till it all is done:
Thy flag at yonder pole unfurled
That moment Fame and thou art one.

TAIL TO VOTE ON NEW PILOT

Some Matter of Leader May Not be Brought Up

Club Season Idea is Again Vetoed by Magnates

Teams Allowed to Schedule More Practice Tilts

BY BOB RAY

After four hours of hemming and hawing, Pacific Coast League magnates accomplished absolutely nothing of an exciting nature in their meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel, Hollywood, yesterday. The issue of electing a president didn't even come up before the club owners, who evidently held off trying to clear up the business before them so they could make it a two-day holiday in Southern California.

The magnates are to gather again this morning at the Roosevelt and maybe something exciting will take place, but everything is quiet so far.

In case you are interested, the missing items of more or less interest were brought up at yesterday's session:

WHAT THEY DID

1) The schedule for the coming season, which was prepared by Bernie McFarland, league secretary, was adopted.

2) The provision allowing first league clubs to play only exhibition games against each other outside of league territory was amended to allow each team to play all other

TROJAN COACH GIVEN RAISE

Will Handle Football Duties Through 1933 Season

Pay Increase from $10,000 to $12,000 is Voted

Has Best Record of Any Coach on Pacific Coast

BY BRAVEN DYER

Howard Jones yesterday signed a five-year contract to coach football at the University of Southern California. The Trojan mentor will therefore be in charge of gridiron activities at Bovard Field through the 1933 season. Jones's new contract calls for an increase in salary bringing his annual stipend to $12,000. It was $10,000 when he came here from Duke University in the spring of 1925.

The Trojan mentor, when he signed in 1925, was given a three-year contract. One year before that expired a new three-year contract was drawn up. This was to run through the 1930 season. The new contract, which was drawn up and signed yesterday, naturally makes the old one null and void, and calls for Jones to be in charge of football until the spring of 1934.

BROKE PRECEDENT

In signing Jones for a five-year period the University of Southern California broke a precedent in that no coaches have ever been tendered a contract for more than three years in the past. It was necessary for the board of trustees to authorize the procedure, and this they did, at the same time expressing their appreciation of the fine work which Jones has done in developing men of high sportsmanship and exceptional character. This point was stressed more strongly than his winning of games, which is a tribute to Jones's own character.

The popular coach completed his fourth season at Southern California last fall. During that time he has made an enviable record, one which stands out more prominently than that of any other coach on the Pacific Coast.

In four years Jones has won more games than any other coach on the Coast, he has lost fewer and tied less, which is a record that defies competition. He has suffered but

PEDLEY, POLO STAR, HURT

Midwick Ace Injured in Squash Match on Eve of High Goal Tournament Here

BY FRANK ROCHE

An accident suffered by young Eric Pedley, the white knight of west coast polo, during a squash match at the Los Angeles Athletic Club last Sunday in which the mallet star was hit in the right eye has thrown a monkey wrench into the polo plans of the Midwick Country Club this week.

Pedley, while playing with Hal Roach and George Pope, two well-known polo stars, had his right optic so badly injured that he may not be able to take part in the polo tilts at Midwick for two weeks. The iris of the eye was almost detached by the blow from the squash ball.

The injury to Pedley has caused the Midwick officials to revamp the Purple Big Four for games tomorrow and Friday with the Rancho San Carlo riders. The Midwick team is now minus the services of two of the original Big Four for the game, as Carleton Burke, the captain of the team, will not be able to play. He is still recuperating from an attack of the flu. Pedley's place will no doubt be taken by Hal Roach and Burke's by Capt. Wesley White, the noted international polo official.

The Midwick team is expected to line up as follows: Teddy Miller at No. 1, Hal Roach at No. 2, El-

Nevada President Says Selection of Grid Coach Not Yet Made

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 21. "The Nevada football coach has not been selected. The committee has received at least twenty applications. Possible candidates have been narrowed to five, all of whom are receiving equal consideration. Philbrook's name is among the five."

The following telegram has been sent to Philbrook, according to Lyon: "Coach appointment report untrue. Our oral agreement stands."

Leo Calland Announces Three Changes in Team for Game Tonight With Occidental

Declaring Jess Mortensen to have gone stale from a too strenuous year of athletic activity, Leo Calland, varsity Trojan basketball coach, yesterday announced a line-up for tonight's game with Occidental, that contains three new performers. Capt. Lloyd Thomas and Johnny Lehners, guards, are enjoying enforced vacations. The contest will be played at the Trojan gym, starting at 8 o'clock.

Mortensen played a brilliant season of basketball last year, and immediately at its conclusion, went out for track, and entered the decathlon Olympic tryouts. This carried him halfway through the summer. On his return to the university in September, he went out for football, and joined the basketball team as soon as the grid schedule was complete.

The star center, named all-Coast forward last season, hasn't even approached his previous good form. He shows flashes of ability, but flounders badly, and hasn't been able to locate the basket with his old-time ability.

Neither Lehners nor Thomas has come through as expected. Thomas, like Mortensen, has gone stale through his football activity, while Lehners simply isn't playing his best game.

Calland's line-up tonight includes Cano and Nibley, his regular forwards; Smith, the all-around substitute, will be used at center, with Harris and Truher at guards.

If this combination proves effective against the Tigers tonight, it will start against the U.C.L.A. Bruins in the conference battle at the Olym-

Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, is en route to Los Angeles and will arrive here Thursday noon. He made a two-day stopover in Chicago and did not leave there until last night, according to a wire received at the Olympic offices from Loughran's manager, Joe Smith.

Emanuel stayed over in San Francisco on his way back from Minneapolis and will arrive here either today or tomorrow. The Emanuel family have moved to Los Angeles permanently. These are the big games of the Trojan frosh, as the yearling teams of Southern California, California and Stanford have a traditional "Little Big Three championship to decide annually. DON MILLER AWAITS OFFER TO TAKE BAGSHAW'S BERTH

DEFIANCE (O.) Jan. 21. (AP)—Don Miller, one of the famous "four horsemen of Notre Dame" of several years ago, and now backfield coach at Georgia Tech, said today at his home here that he would go to Cleveland tomorrow to get final word from the University of Washington on an offer to become head coach of football there. After telephoning to Seattle at about noon tomorrow, he said, he would give Coach Sam Willaman of Ohio State, his answer to an offer to assist him at Columbus next year.

Miller said he was approached by the faculty manager of athletics at the time of the Georgia Tech-California game in the Tournament of Roses January 1. Coach Enoch Bagshaw has been virtually dismissed by the student board of athletic control of the coast school, but his case is still before the president of the Washington University.

Newsboy Brown Faces Ernie Peters in Olympic Auditorium Feature Bout Tonight

WINNER TO GET FRANCIS CLASH

Rival Bantams to Battle in Ten-Round Tilt

Speedy Fight Expected as Ring Stars Mingle

Knockout Hero Gets Chance in Special Event

Newsboy Brown and Ernie Peters headline the Olympic show tonight. They are boxing at 117 pounds. The winner will box Kid Francis some time next month.

Peters, who is a Chippewa Indian from a reservation near Duluth, Minn., is making his debut here. He has been handed about the toughest hurdle in the division as a starter.

Brown is a comfortable favorite. The Newsboy has always made great fights in Los Angeles. Aside from two draws with Fidel La Barba he has never been defeated.

BEAT VACCA

One of his greatest battles was when he whipped Johnny Vacca soon after Vacca had beaten La Barba in Boston. Brown had to get up off the floor to win, but he fought like a tiger and had a clear margin at the finish.

Brown also made a nice showing when he defeated Johnny McCoy for the Pacific Coast flyweight title. He never had any trouble taking Corp. Izzy Schwartz over the bumps in California, but back in New York Izzy was given a decision over Brown.

The defeat by Schwartz cost him the honor of being declared the American flyweight champion. As La Barba's most dangerous contender as a flyweight Brown is now Fidel's chief rival for bantam honors.

Although Francis has sold himself well to California fans it is doubtful that he would be any better than even money against Brown.

Peters is said to be a great club fighter and able to hold his own in any company which Brown or La Barba keep. But until he proves himself the edge goes decidedly toward Brown.

LOST TO BROWN

In Chicago Peters lost a close decision to Brown a year ago. He also lost to Frankie Genaro about the same time.

Peters won easily over Britt Gorman his last fight which took place in Minneapolis about a month ago.

The Olympic preliminaries look about as attractive tonight as they did a week ago when they stole the show all the way through.

Goldie Hess, star 136-pounder from Ocean Park, is paired with Charley Lapica over the six-round route. Lapica is said to have given Wildcat Carter a furious encounter up in the Northwest a short time ago.

Jose Peregrini, hard-hitting Mexican who has become such a big card at the Main Street Saturday night shows, boxes Tim Charles in the special event.

Unfortunately the only time Olympic patrons saw Peregrini in action he had stage fright and lost. Over at the Main Street where the Mexican fans carry him out of the ring on their shoulders he has knocked out ten out of eleven opponents.

They say that Peregrini finishes a man off with as much ferocity as Jack Dempsey used to do when he felt that way.

The two fours on the card are Louis Ramos vs. Mike Stankovitch and Vernon Jackson vs. Richard "Kiba" Fraser.

This is the third boxing show held this year with the lower scale of prices.

RICKARD NAGGED INTO GAME AS A PROMOTER FOLLOWING GANS-NELSON NEVADA FIGHT

This is the only autobiography written by Tex Rickard. It was prepared in collaboration with Bozeman Bulger, for publication exclusively by The Times and The North American Newspaper Alliance. Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. Following is the thirteenth installment of the autobiography, which is appearing in daily chapters.

BY TEX RICKARD
(In Collaboration With Bozeman Bulger.)

[Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance. [Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

Even after the Gans-Nelson fight at Goldfield I had no idea of ever getting into the game as a promoter.

That naturally gave me a lot of publicity—unexpected publicity, as I have explained — and to tell the truth, I was sort of nagged into the game.

There had been much talk in the newspapers about the many offers for the Jeffries - Johnson fight, and about the location. All the promoters, it seemed, were in a deadlock.

Finally an artist on a San Francisco paper turned out a cartoon showing a big jackass braying and saying: "Where is Tex Rickard?"

The intimation to me was plain. I got the idea that they thought me sort or an ass—a fly-by-night fellow. It sort of nettled me. In fact, I took it as a challenge. I think I can safely say that but for tha cartoon I never would have gone into fight promoting as a business. I had to go to Duluth, Minn., to see Thomas F. Cole, a copper magnate, for whom I had been buying properties in Nevada. He is a prominent man in business affairs.

"Tex," he said to me, "why don't you go after this Jeffries-Johnson fight?"

SET TO THINKING

I was amazed at his interest. The fact of a man of his standing suggesting such a thing got me to thinking.

On the way back I went to Minneapolis to meet Mr. Piper, another prominent business man. He asked me the same question.

With these two suggestions on top of that jackass cartoon I got my neck bowed and started on the trail. I went back to Nevada, though, and kept quiet. A little later I packed up and started east without saying a word to anybody.

It occurred to me that the only way to be sure of a fight was to nail one of the fighters first. That would be an ace in the hole. I felt, of course, that Jeffries had been tied up in San Francisco by somebody—probably Sam Berger, his manager. That later proved to be correct.

Anyway, I headed for Chicago, looking for Jack Johnson. I found that he was showing in Pittsburgh. I went there and found him. We talked for quite a while and I learned that Johnson, as usual, was pretty nearly broke.

"Mister Tex," he said to me, "I'm goin' to tell you sump'n—they almost got that thing fixed up. There ain't none of 'em helpin' me, though. I'm telling the world I needs help."

"How much you need, Jack?"

"Boss, if I could git hold of twenty-five hundred dollars it would help a whole armful. "I'd like to fight for you."

"I think I can fix that," I told him, and I took the money out of my pocket. I had taken care to go loaded with plenty of New York exchange checks.

MAKES LOAN

I told him that if he would agree to fight for me I would be glad to help him.

"Yassuh, I will, an' I'm goin' to tell you sump'n. They'rs going to bid $100,000 for the fight. Now you put in a bid for $101,000 and you'll get it, sho."

"Yes, if you'll agree to fight for me and me only," I reminded him.

I then handed him the loan of $2500 which he agreed to pay back—and he did, too.

We started for New York on the some train, and figured out an agreement which Johnson signed without any hesitation. I now had my ace in the hole. Whatever they did about Jeffries, I had Johnson all sewed up. Nobody had any idea of such a contingency as this.

I said nothing, though, and made Johnson promise to keep quiet until the right time.

I slipped into New York quiet like and thought nobody in the world knew I was there. At the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel I ran into Vincent Treanor, a sporting writer.

"What are you doing here?" he asked, surprised.

"Oh, nothing—just looking around to see what's going on."

He darted out of the place and telephoned. That night the sporting pages carried a big headline announcing that I was in New York to get the fight. It was like a bombshell to the other promoters, and Jeffries. Though I had not said so, the story was right in almost every detail.

SIZES UP SITUATION

The next day I went around to get the lay of the land. I found that a scheme had been framed up by which Sam Berger, Jack Gleason and another man were to get in on the fight some way. In fact, it had all been set. They were to bid $100,000 and would get the fight, no matter what other offers came in.

I always liked Jeffries and went to see him. They all treated me a little coldly, acting as if they didn't want me around. They didn't know I had Johnson sewed up, and I didn't tell them—for a while.

In the meantime all kinds of offers were coming in. Finally I tipped my hand. They saw I had the ace. I agreed to bid $101,000, and was to take Jack Gleason in as a compromise. Also I agreed to allow Jeffries a bonus of $10,000 if he would sign. Incidentally, to play fair, I told Johnson of this and agreed, also, to give him a bonus of $10,000. That fixed everything.

It was all set and dried. We went to New Jersey to open the bids as a matter of form, but I was to get the fight, anyway.

A big crowd of sporting writers was there to see the bids opened. Most of the bidders inclosed certified checks with "ifs" and "ands" on the back. Those checks didn't mean anything. Still thinking in Klondike terms and using Klondike methods, I had inclosed with my bid the whole required deposit of $20,000 in $1000 bills.

You should have seen the crowd cheer the sight of actual money—and also Jack Johnson's eyes. They almost popped out of his head.

FIFTEEN OFFERS

There was a long reading of the various offers—fifteen of them.

"Never mind 'bout them other bids, Mister Chairman," said Johnson frequently, "jes' read dat one of Mr. Rickard's again. I jes' nacherally loves the sight of it."

Again and again they showed him the bills. His gold teeth glittered in a smile, his eyes rolled. Johnson was never anything more than a child in his nature. He kept the crowd laughing for an hour.

And so it happened I got the fight on my bid of $101,000. The sight of real money with Johnson and the crowd had had its effect.

There was a long detailed agreement with Jeffries, Johnson, Gleason and others about the respective shares, the picture rights, and so on.

Then came the question of finding a location for the fight. Personally I wanted Salt Lake City, thinking it more central. The others held out bitterly for San Francisco.

Then our troubles really began. I was getting my high school course in promoting. There were rumors of trouble with the law; another that Johnson had agreed to lay down—all sorts of things.

I will take those up in my next article.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

WILD OPTIMISM

STANFORD has 57¼ of the 90½ points scored against California in the "big meet" last year back on the campus this season. California has 18½ points on the job again. This is in terms of veterans. It takes 66 points to win a "big meet."

Although "Dink" Templeton lost Bud Spencer, world's record holder in the 400 meters; Bob King, a great high jumper who was unbeaten in this country and at the Olympic Games, and seven other veterans, Stanford looks like a cinch to repeat.

And yet I recall the words of Walter Christie during secret practice of the Bears just before the New Year's Day game. "We'll take Stanford this year," he said.

The veteran's words don't jibe with what both Stanford and California have in the way of returning veterans, and the only assumption is that he has some dark horses tucked away on the the campus at Berkeley.

These can't be the freshmen from last year because the peagreens were horribly swamped by the Stanford frosh. But it might be junior college transfers, who were stocked heavily at Berkeley last year.

The Hon. Mr. Christi refused to commit himself when pressed for further information on his startling statement, and made only one qualification of his declaration of a California victory. "If the faculty ax doesn't get 'em."

DON MILLER BESIEGED

FROM Ohio come loud cheers over the selection of Sam Williaman as head coach vice Dr. John Wilce at Ohio State. And particularly of Willaman's desire to obtain Don Miller, one of the "Four Horsemen," as backfield coach.

A columnist of the Columbus Dispatch credits Don Miller with being the man responsible for producing Georgia Tech's great backfield of last fall, and quotes Bill Alexander, the head coach, on the easy victory over Notre Dame as follows:

"Miller's the reason," said Alexander.. "He knows Rockne so well and Rockne football so well that he knew just how to coach our boys to meet it. As a result they seemed to know what Notre Dame was going to do before Notre Dame did it."

Nice praise for the former "Four Horseman." And there must be a lot to his qualifications. One of the first rumors in connection with Bagshaw's dismissal at Washington was one dealing with Miller as a backfield coach at the Husky institution.

Must be tough picking out your spots when popularity strikes that way.

THE BAGSHAW SITUATION

ENTIRELY aside from the merits of the Bagshaw incident it does seem passing strange that a board of control composed entirely of undergraduates should hold enough power to fire a football coach.

The ordinary system is to have a board of athletic control made up of representatives from the student body, alumni and faculty. I believe every major university on the Coast with the exception of Washington operates in this way.

Giving free reign to the campus hotheads is something new and novel. And the manner in which the Washington student board of control lit on Bagshaw is nothing else but.

Bagshaw is anything but the most popular coach on the Coast, but letting a bunch of fickle-headed young men decide the head coach's status is as wild an idea as giving a 2-year-old a bunch of matches for investigation.

ABOUT GOLF JURISDICTION

NOT that it makes any particular difference, but noting a contemporary writer's squawk over the Agua Caliente $25,000 golf open next December, what in the world has the United States Golf Association to do with it?

The U.S.G.A. has little or nothing to say about the professional golfers. They operate under the jurisdiction of the P.G.A., and I understand that even the P.G.A. has nothing to say about the tourneys in which the pros compete except in the national P.G.A. championship.

The U.S.G.A. might rule out the amateurs from competing at Agua Caliente, but inasmuch as there are never more than two or three who have a ghost of a chance to pace with the pros that wouldn't make any particular difference.

And the pros don't care particularly where they play—Agua Caliente or Ensenada—if they get the money.

ROGERS HORNSBY BELIEVES ALEXANDER WAS GREATEST PITCHER HE EVER FACED

[Rogers Hornsby is one of baseball's famous figures. Next season he will be seen in Chicago Cub uniform, at second base. His salary, it is said, will exceed $50,000 a year. Hornsby writes here, for the first time, his own story of his remarkable climb from the sandlots to big league stardom. The story following is the eighth of the series.]

BY ROGERS HORSBY

[Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance. Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

There are two questions I have been asked many times in recent years, and I can't answer either of them with any assurance of being correct:

(1.) Who was the greatest pitcher you ever faced?

(2.) Are pitchers today better or worse than ten or twelve years ago.

Taking up the first question, all I can say is that I always have rated Grover Cleveland Alexander as the best moundsman of my time. Mathewson was about through when I came up. I batted against him only a few times.

I don't doubt some one might prove to me, if figures were available, that more than one among the many other pitchers of that period established better records against me than Aleck, but that can't change my feeling.

When I first made good in the majors, in 1916, Alec was already at the top of them all in the record book, and perhaps for that reason caused me to have a wholesome respect for him. Even if I was successful in hitting well against him his record placed him on the heights in my mind and consequently caused me to consider him with awe when I went to bat.

Early in my big-league experiences I decided it was better to forget who was pitching when I went to bat and just go up with the intention of watching the ball and hitting it when it came over.

WATCH BALL, NOT PITCHER

Of course, there were pitchers then, and there are now, who simply will not let one forget who they are. If one does forget them he is likely to be beaned. But as a general thing I think it better for the batter to keep his attention on the ball instead of on the man throwing it.

Regarding the second question, one can look at the record books and believe that the pitchers of ten or a dozen years back were better than those of today. Anyway, the books will show that in the earlier days Alexander, outstanding pitcher of that time, was winning about thirty games a season, while Dazzy Vance, outstanding pitcher of the later period, was winning about twenty. At the same time the records will show that almost twice as many players now are hitting over .300.

"The lively ball is making it tough for pitchers," Alexander said to me in 1926.

"Do you think you would have won thirty games ten years ago with the present ball in use?" I asked, and the big fellow's answer was: "With a lot of luck."

I guess Alec had the right dope. The lively ball has caused the difference. I can recall Jim Vaughn, big left-hander of the Cubs ten years ago. He was a whale of a pitcher. But maybe he would be no more effective than Sherdel or Blake or Rixey.

Dick Rudolph of those earlier times was a tough man for most of us, though he always said he couldn't do a thing with me. But I doubt if he would do any better with the lively ball than fellows like Donohue of the Reds, Grimes of Pittsburgh or Haines of St. Louis.

GOT RUDOLPH'S "GOAT"

I remember one day that Rudolph struck me out and the next time I came up he fed me the same thing. I swung and connected, for some reason or other, and knocked the ball over the fence.

"Is there anything you can't hit, you big busher?" he growled as I was jogging in from third.

My own records in batting would indicate that it was tougher to get the base hits in the earlier days. For instance, I hit only .313 in 1916, .327 in 1917, .281 in 1918 and .318 in 1919. The lively ball made its appearance in 1920 and I hit .370. Ever since I have been able to make high marks, and yet it seems to me that I'm no better hitter than then.

My biggest year was in 1922, when I hit .434 and knocked forty-two home runs. It just seemed that year that I could hit 'em where they ain't, as the saying goes. At one stage of that season I got fourteen hits in sixteen times at bat. Johnny Morrison of the Pirates, a great curveball pitcher, was a top-notcher that year. One day I got three drives off him, every one for extra bases.

CHANGE IN HOLLYWOOD FIGHT BILL

Piela and Torres to Meet in Semi-Wind-up to Head Dado Fight

A switch in the line-up of the Hollywood American Legion Stadium fight card has apparently added considerable strength to the bill. In the semi-wind-up Jimmy Piela will fight Johnny Torres and Johnny Barry fights Young Firpo in the special event. The card had been arranged differently but Chet Gibson and Bobby Hayden are not on the special as had previously been announced.

The Filipino flyweight sensation, Speedy Dado, is working hard for his fight with Chuck Hood. Dado is preparing for a hard campaign that will end in his meeting the best flyweight in the world this year. Promoter Churchill wants Dado to win the title before 1930 rolls around and each fight that the little Filipino has from now on will call for stiffer competition. Chuck Hood has been developing slowly and now he has arrived to where he is entitled to main events at big clubs.

Jimmy Piela and Johnny Torres have been seen in main events but the boys didn't have enough experience to warrant their meeting top notch fighters. They are both clever semi-wind-ups so they can get plenty wise and know what to do when they are up against real competition. Piela and Torres are both stiff punchers, capable of scoring knockouts.

The fight that all the fans are interested in is the special that features Johnny Barry and Young Firpo. Barry has grown to a fine heavyweight and is fighting better than ever. Firpo was the sensation of the Olympic show last Tuesday night. The way he flattened Kelvin Riffe brought down the house.

Montgomery Knocked Out by Stribling

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Jan. 21. (AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., contender for the heavyweight championship, tonight knocked out Sully Montgomery, Fort Worth, former Centre College football player, in the second round of the eight-round battle. Montgomery, who weighed 208 pounds, had the advantage of nearly twenty pounds

Boxing Board Plans Confab at San Diego

The State Athletic Commission will hold a meeting at San Diego Thursday and Friday with all members present, Chairman Charles Traung, James Wood and William B. Hanlon, according to an announcement yesterday by State Inspector Bill Bomb.

Bomb said there were no matters of particular import to come up at this meeting, but that out of respect to former Commissioner Louis Almgren and the peerless San Diego climate the gathering was held in the southern city.

The new secretary of the commission, Joe Genshlea, also will try the San Diego climate, Bomb said.

Dempsey Picks New Site for Bout at Miami

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—The battle of the Southland between Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling at Miami Beach February 27 has assumed such proportions that need for a new and more commodious site forced securing of Flamingo Park, Jack Dempsey today wired officials of the Madison Square Garden here.

The former heavyweight king, now actively engaged in the promotion of the last fistic spectacle Tex Rickard scheduled before his death, wired that the park would hold an arena seating between 40,000 and 60,000. Dempsey signed a contract with the City of Miami Beach today for use of the site rent free.

JOE DUNDEE REINSTATED

was later reinstated, but barred from fighting in San Francisco because of Traung's objecting. Traung lives here and each member of the State commission has jurisdiction over certain territory including the city of his residence.

Ancil Hoffman, leading promoter of the West, announced that he would start working on a championship bout between Dundee and Jackie Fields of Los Angeles. Hoffman said that his offer of a $40,000 guarantee to Dundee still stood and that he will get in touch with Max Waxman, manager of the champion, as soon as possible.

Announcement of Philbrook's appointment to the Nevada post was carried in Monday's Times, following receipt here of an Associated Press dispatch from Reno which stated that the Whittier mentor had been named football coach at the Nevada institution. Philbrook was naturally surprised to learn last night that Sunday evening's announcement was premature. "They have sure put me in a fine hole, haven't they?" was his comment.

TROJAN SQUAD FACES TIGERS

pic Auditorium Saturday night, Calland said.

Calland's offensive system is working. Charts of the Stanford game show that the Trojans had no less than eighty-seven shots at the Card basket, more than fifty of which were within a fifteen-foot zone. But they only found the hoop twelve times. Stanford, on the other hand, had fifty-seven shots, and successfully completed thirteen, one more than the Trojans did, on thirty less chances. Also the Cards completed seven out of fourteen free throws, while the Trojans made two out of six. Inability of the players to locate the basket lost that particular game.

Occidental, with three successive victories, is topping the Southern California Conference standing, and is expected to give the Trojans a fast battle tonight. In Ketchersid, Elliott, Ellsworth, Beebe and Getts they have a veteran crew, and a competent one. Getts is a flashy performer, and is being hailed as the most valuable man on the team.

The Trojan frosh will meet the Trojan junior varsity in a preliminary game. The varsity lineups:

JONES SIGNS CONTRACT

five defeats in four years and but one in the last two seasons. During the four years he has won thirty-six games and tied two.

Over the same period Jones's teams led the entire nation in points scored. The Trojans have rolled up 1060 points in thirty-three games and had but 178 scored against them.

POPULAR FOOTBALL

This feature of Jones's system—his offensive driving that brings thrills to the fans—has been one of his biggest selling points, for in years before his coming to S.C. the Trojans played defensive football.

The Trojan mentor has developed four all-American stars in Morton Kaer, Morley Drury, Jess Hibbs and Don Williams. However, he attained his greatest success in the season just closed when the all-around team play of his eleven brought the Coast Conference championship. In 1928 the Trojans tied Stanford for the title.

When asked about his new contract last night Jones declared that it gave him a great deal of pleasure to sign it. "I have enjoyed working with the administration at the University of Southern California and hope that we may be able to continue on the same amicable relation for many years to come," was his comment. "I like Southern California and enjoy coaching football here and no coach could ask for better co-operation than I have had from the authorities."

Right now the Trojan mentor is spending a lot of time on his golf game. In April he will call his boys out for spring practice, which precedes one of the most auspicious schedules ever undertaken by Southern California, a program which will take the Trojans to Seattle, Palo Alto and Chicago.

ELKS DISCUSS TRACKFEST

Plans for the first annual Los Angeles national indoor sports exhibition and carnival, to be staged at Washington and Hill streets, under the auspices of the Elks' Lodge, No. 99, from May 9 to 19, were discussed last night at the Elks' Club, Sixth and Parkview.

Events in all branches of sports are to be held there, according to Bob Weaver, athletic commissioner of the lodge, who presided at the meeting. Heading the list of events is an indoor track and field meet which will be held on the 16th and the 17th of May, which dates are just prior to the departure of the Trojans for the I.C.A.A.A.A. track-and-field meet.

A special indoor track is to be constructed under the supervision of Kinter Hamilton, chairman of the track-and-field committee, Dean Cromwell, track coach of U.S.C. and Joe (Timberwolf) Pipal, Occidental coach. The track is to be made of dirt and will conform to indoor A.A.U. regulations. It is proposed to hold the first indoor Pacific Coast track-and-field championships at this time. All clubs, colleges and university teams will be invited to enter.

Other events proposed were: Prep championship meets under the sanction of the C.I.F.; playground championships; archery meets; horse shows; May Day pageants; Los Angeles Pigeon Club meet; horseshoe throwing contests; indoor baseball, volleyball, soccer, polo and tennis; swimming and diving events; golf exhibits; shooting and trapshooting; fly-casting championship meet; ice hockey and lacrosse games; fencing championships; bike racing; basketball games, and numerous exhibitions by the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Western Rangers and Turnverein and like organizations.

J. J. Doyle, Exalted Ruler of the local lodge, announced that the manager of the entire show would be Harry Lawson, who can be reached at 601 Pershing Square Building. The money to be derived from the show this year will be used to help defray expenses of the Elks' Grand Lodge convention in Los Angeles from July 8 to 13.

Nevers May Coach Idaho

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Ernie Nevers, all-American football player at Stanford in 1926, is being considered for football coach at the University of Idaho. Nevers said that he has been approached on the subject, but is undecided as to whether he will accept. At present, the former fullback star is a member of the Stanford coaching staff and is also on the pitching staff of the San Francisco Missions of the Coast League.

CALIFORNIA OARSMEN BACK AT WORK FOR CREW RACES

BERKELEY, Jan. 21. (Exclusive) The University of California's world championship varsity rowing crew today introduced the final half of the yearly training period, the goal of which will be the third consecutive defeat of the University of Washington and the retention of the national intercollegiate title.

Coach Ky Ebright welcomed back seven members of the 1928 crew. The only two vacant positions were those of Don Blessing, three-year coxswain, and Curly Stalder, bow. Ward Con Tillow, bow in 1927 and out of school last year, will replace Stalder, while Moon Mullins, Blessing's understudy, is considered a capable pilot to take over the latter's duties.

It is not all certain that all the world's champions will keep their berths, however. As a reward for their victory, Ebright gave them a rest all last semester, a rest that was spent in touring Europe by bicycle. Other rowing aspirants practiced all last semester and consequently are physically ahead. Ebright may accommodate his champions with only junior varsity positions, which would necessarily be a fall for the mighty.

OILERS TAKE SECOND PLACE IN PUCK LOOP WITH 2-1 WIN

The Los Angeles Richfields went into second place in the California Ice Hockey League last night, defeating the San Francisco Seals, 2 to 1, in a furious puck battle at the Winter Garden. Sammy Larkin's goal in the first five minutes of play in the third period was the deciding factor.

The Oilers were first to score when Burke escorted the puck the entire length of the floor and slipped it into the net in a wild mix-up. The Seals struggled hard to overcome the lead, but found themselves too busy keeping the home team away from the goal to do any scoring.

Ganton Scott netted the puck in the second period, but no goal was scored, as a penalty had been called on Richfield. But he sent a short pass to "Smoky" Harris a few minutes later to tie up the score. Richfield had three wide-open shots in succession a short time before the period ended, but couldn't find the net.

Larkin's winning score came in a wild scramble at the Seal net. While Broadfoot was spread out like a ballet dancer trying to stop shots from three different directions, Larkin slid the puck between the goal-tender's legs. Richfield had two more easy chances to score in the last two minutes, but missed again.

Leo Cook spent a good part of his time on the back of his neck, much to the enjoyment of the fans, who crowded the stands. Jack Lawrence and Irving, as usual, were the outstanding performers for Richfield. Murray sparkled at the goal.

DATES FOR S.C. GAMES FIXED

The Cardinal babes will be a preliminary contest to the Southern California varsity meeting with Occidental College at the Los Angeles Coliseum, the scheduling of the freshman game as a curtain raiser for the varsity affair assuring fans of a big double-header.

The Trobabe contest with California will be staged at Berkeley on the same day that Coach Howard Jones's S.C. varsity is meeting the Golden Bear varsity at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Practice games to precede the "Little Big Three" schedule are now being obtained for the Southern California freshmen. The first to be scheduled is a game with the Chaffey Union Junior College eleven on October 12 at the Chaffey field. The junior college team is coached by Bert Heiser, a former University of Southern California varsity star.

Traung Decides Ring Squabble

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21. (AP)—A squabble between two promoters seeking the same boxing plum was settled satisfactorily to all concerned today when Boxing Commissioner Charles F. Traung ruled Promoters Ancil Hoffman and Frank Schuler to jointly put on a nontitle bout between Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, and Jack Willis of San Francisco. It will be a February 22 scrap at the San Francisco Ball park; ten rounds with Walker weighing in at 163 pounds. The two met last year with Walker getting the decision, but only after Willis had given him a hard battle.

Both Hoffman of the Hollywood Athletic Club and Schuler of the Olympic Observatory Club were signed for the match, but were ordered because the former had not signed, while Schuler had broken agreement.

Line Up Shots With the Hole

BY SOL METZGER

Although the putting method of Tommy Armour is perfect from a mechanical standpoint he will tell you, as he has told me, that the big thing is holing the ball and keeping that idea uppermost in mind. "If you do that," says Tommy, "the mechanical matters will take care of themselves."

Years ago I spent three months in Florida where the late Walter J. Travers was staying. It was my good fortune to putt with him for at least an hour each day of that stay. The point that he stressed about putting was to line up everything with the hole—blade, hands, toes, elbows and shoulders, and to keep the ball under the eyes. Then a pendulum-like swing was bound to send the ball true to its line.

Armour thinks the same way. His stance is absolutely square. Note how his left elbow points toward the hole. He plays the ball off his left heel, but his eyes are on a plumb line above it. Tommy makes a right-hand stroke of the putt all the way through, whereas most golfers take the club back with the left and stroke it forward with the right. As his wrists and hands are opposed to each other and Armour is a grand putter it stands to reason that good results can be obtained by either method as long as the hands are properly placed on the shaft. Tommy also divides his weight equally between both feet. Tomorrow—Glenna Collett and her putting.

NICK LUTZE CHALLENGES MAT VICTOR

Chicago Wrestling Star Defies Winner of Lou Daro's Olympic Show

Nick Lutze, the young Chicago mat star, yesterday wired a challenge to the winners of either or both of the two big bouts "Carnation" Lou Daro has scheduled for his wrestling card at the Olympic tomorrow night.

Paul Jones of Texas will clash with Joe Stecher, the scissor king, in the feature event of the evening, while Dick Daviscourt, the rough 220-pound Kansan, will tackle Jack O'Malley, a young 215-pounder from the East, in the special bout. Lutze declared he would prefer to meet the winner of the special event at this time. Pete Sauer, local star, has also challenged the winner of the feature event.

Only a light workout has been scheduled for Stecher today. The big Nebraskan and former mat champion who came out of retirement two weeks ago for a campaign which he hopes will lead him to the heavyweight title, is declared to be in near-perfect condition for one of the toughest matches of his comeback.

Stecher has been working on various holds in addition to his powerful body-scissors during his training grind. One of the grips is said to be the hook body-scissors, Jones's winning hold. Stecher evidently intends to take the battle to the Texan and beat the youngster who hopes to win the title of scissor king with his own hold.

Dr. P. A. Mullikan, wrestling chiropractor from Hollywood, will clash with Jack Roller in the opener. They will wrestle in the jiu-jitsu style.

PEDLEY INJURED AS POLO LOOMS

mer Boeseke at No. 3 and White at back.

The Rancho San Carlos riders who arrive today with thirty ponies will take the field in the following order: George Gordon Moore at No. 1, Capt. Forrester at No. 2, Arden Roark at No. 3 and Capt. Woolfort at back. The last three named are English malletmen, which gives the game an international touch tomorrow.

The San Carlos players will entertain the Midwick four again on Friday in the order named above. On Sunday Tommy Hitchcock, the ace of polo aces, will ride at No. 3 for the San Carlos team.

HITCHCOCK ON WAY HERE

Tommy arrives in the Southland next Saturday from Hawaii, where he has been on a honeymoon trip. Hitchcock is conceded to be the champion of the mallet game and his appearance here Sunday is expected to bring out the largest crowd in Midwick history.

Midwick officials announced yesterday that ample space has been provided for the general public so that Southland fans can see polo as Hitchcock plays it.

Hitchcock's ponies arrive today with the rest of the San Carlos mounts.

The game tomorrow will get under way at 2:30 p.m.

HITCHCOCK SOLE TEN-GOAL MAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Tommy Hitchcock today was named to rule alone as ten-goal king of the country's polo players. Winston Guest is the new crown prince with a handicap rating of nine goals.

This hard-riding, hard-hitting pair—Hitchcock, the youthful veteran with eight years of ten-goal polo now to his credit, and Guest, the former Yale captain who rode with him on the United States team that won the championship of the Americas last fall—top all the rest. No other player in the entire country has a rating of more than eight goals.

The charmed circle of seventeen players ranker at seven goals or more:

Ten goals—Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Aiken (S. C.) Polo Club.
Nine goals—H. W. C. Guest, Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, N. Y.
Eight goals — Malcolm Stevenson, Meadowbrook Club; Walter L. Webb, Meadowbrook Club; Harry East, Riverside (Cal.) Polo Club; J. Cheever Cowdin, Rockaway Hunting Club, Cedarhurst, N. Y.; Eric Pedley, Midwick Country Club, Pasadena; Thomas S. Perkins, Midwick Country Club; F. A. E. Hopping, unattached; Averell Harriman, Sands Point Polo Club; W. A. Harriman, Sands Point Polo Club; Peter Washington, unattached.
Seven goals—W. Hopping, Bryn Mawr (Pa.) Polo Club; H. E. Bravyerridge, Jr., Bryn Mawr Polo Club; R. E. Strawbridge, Bryn Mawr Polo Club; Polo Club; Capt. Charles Barhara (Cuba) Polo Club; Capt. Peter P. Hodes, United States Army Polo Association; Stephen Sanford, Westchester Polo Club, Harrison, N. Y.; Capt. C. H. Gerhardt, United States Army Polo Association; Capt. C. A. Wilkinson, United States Army Polo Association.

Cook Painters to Meet H.A.C.

Cook's Painters of Kansas City, national A.A.U. basketball champs, will tackle the strong Hollywood Athletic Club quintet in the Circle-H club's gymnasium, this evening. "Red" DeBernardi, seven times all-American cage star, in charge of the Midwest aggregation, will start his best line-up in tonight's Hollywood clash. DeBernardi, with five additional all-American players to choose from, will have little difficulty presenting the fastest casaba squad ever grouped on the west coast.

PAINTERS CLEAN UP GLENDALE

Cook Painter basketballers from Kansas City, Mo., made a successful entry into the Southern California casaba picture last night when they soundly trounced the Glendale Studio Cleaners team by a 45-to-35 margin in a game staged at the Broadway High School, Glendale.

In a preliminary game the Franklin High School five defeated the Glendale High team, 31 to 24.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

HEAVY TRAFFIC ON PORT SLATE

Many Cargo Carriers Due to Arrive and Depart

Total Tonnage for Week Set at Near 100,000

Crescent Stevedoring Will Handle 33,400

One stevedoring concern, the Crescent Wharf and Warehouse Company will this week handle 33,400 tons of general cargo over Los Angeles Harbor wharves from fourteen offshort ships; the high point of a seven-day period in which approximately 100,000 tons is received from or dispatched to foreign ports, handled by the four leading stevedores.

The outstanding outbound cargo will be the 7000 measurement tons of Los Angeles freight now being loaded by the Japanese "K" liner Belfast Maru, for the Orient. She arrived from Shanghai yesterday with 1800 tons for discharge here. The Belfast Maru, sailing on the 26th inst., will load an entire shiploaad here, the chief item being 125,000 cases of gasoline and kerosene.

Five of the ships loaded or discharged this week by Crescent stevedores will be units of the Luckenbach fleet, with 5500 tons of intercoastal freight; the freighter West Mingo, from Philadelphia with 3000 tons from Philadelphia and Norfolk for Los Angeles, on her last voyage for the California and Eastern Line before being turned over to the C. & E. fleet's new operators, the Quaker Line; 3000 tons on the British Kerr liner Silverpine, out on Saturday for Java, and her sister, the Silvereim, out for the same range a day later with 2400 tons; the Norwegian motorliner Brandanger, out Saturday for Buenos Aires and way ports with 600 tons in Westfal-Larsen service; the Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company of Sweden's motorliner Mirrabooka, out on her third around-the-world tour Thursday with 2500 tons of Southland case oil, canned goods and machinery for Australia; the Kerr liner Silveray, out tomorrow night for the East Indies with 2500 tons, 1100 tons out to Valparaiso and other west coast ports Saturday on the Japanese N.Y.K. liner Ginyo Maru.

TRAVEL OVER PANAMA ROUTE SHOWING GAIN

Migrations from the cold Atlantic to sunny California via the Panama Mail Line have increased almost 100 per cent within the last year, according to W. A. Young, passenger traffic manager, down yesterday from San Francisco to meet the liner Ecuador.

Additions of two liners to this intercoastal trade in the last few months have in no way reduced the average passenger list per ship; rather they have attained an entirely additional quota of travelers, he said. Panama Pacific's two great ships, he added, also have popularized sea travel between the two coasts to an unheard of degree.

Panama Mail Line, however, has been developing the Central American travel and trade as well as the intercoastal, and have definitely won the Latin Americans to the West Coast, who used to pass their visits on the Atlantic or in Europe.

The Ecuador yesterday disembarked thirty passengers here, including Emilio Escamillo, former Secretary of War of Guatemala. Escamillo, while a member of the party opposing President Chacon, expressed amasement yesterday at reports of a revolution in his country, and was loud in his praise of Chacon. He opined the revolt would be stamped out promptly by the 6000 well-trained troops.

Others disembarking included Mrs. W. P. Lawson, whose husband is a coffee planter in Guatemala; John M. Gates, oil man of Colombia; Ferdinand Gastens, manager of a chain of hotels in Central America, and Edwin Burrows, carriage manufacturer of Cleveland.

Yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation resumed old appearances yesterday when the Lasco liner Yale went to dry dock for her annual overhaul. She will be at the yards until February 8, when the Harvard will succeed her, remaining at the yards until February 31. During the overhaul period one liner will maintain the coastwise passenger service, sailing for San Francisco, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The shipyard, now under H. C. Haubold, new superintendent, is back at her old busy paces, with a number of commerce carriers in the yard.

Joseph Scott, general manager of the Transmarine Corporation is due in Los Angeles the latter part of the week. He is on his annual visit of Pacific ports out of Newark, whence he operates a fleet of intercoastal freighters.

The French steamer Lena L. D. arrived from Antwerp yesterday with 4000 tons for discharge at Los Angeles. She is under charter to the Flood Line, having recently been transferred to French from the Norwegian flag, under which she has visited here before.

CHUCKLES from LIFE

An embarrassing moment—the elephant who forgot.

Joshua Little

BY LEE SHIPPEY

Looking around at all the things my friends are buying, but haven't bought yet, I think I know how some Democrat can be elected President. He could catch the great majority with a platform saying only surplus incomes could be taxed, and the government would have to pay the rest of us outgo taxes on all we owe at the end of each year.

AUSTRALIA'S DRAWBACKS SET FORTH

Government Ownership, Union Labor and Politics Held Nation's Burden

Government ownership, superorganized labor and politics combined serve to prevent the development of Australia, and only the great richness of its natural resources keep it from national bankruptcy, in the opinion of John M. Hood, Jr., a bottle-top manufacturer of this city, who recently returned from a tour of the South Seas. Prices of many American commonplaces of living, he said, are double those in the United States, citing Ford cars at $1150 each produced in the Ford Australian factory. "Labor restrictions," he said, "keep the factory from operating on more than one cylinder."

The various governments, he said, operate all sorts of business, even the butcher shops, and including the railroads, and interstate jealousies keep the latter on three different gauges so that through traffic is impossible, either for freight or passengers. There is no automobile road to Canberra, the capital, because the government wants a monopoly of transportation for its railroad.

"In Melbourne," he said, "I went to the government tourist bureau to inquire about a sixty-mile scenic trip, and was told the only way of making it involved starting at 8 a.m. and returning at 9 p.m., partly by rail and partly by auto. I afterward discovered I could have made the whole trip by auto in three or four hours, but that the tourist bureau suppresses that information in the interests of the state-owned railroad.

"In New South Wales the state railroad is forced to give every employee three weeks' vacation a year and a pass for his whole family. It costs the state more than $500,000 a year to transport the families of employees, construed as including sisters, aunts and even cousins-in-law.

"Thousands are out of work over the Commonwealth, and there is work for thousands of industrial plants, closed down by exorbitant union demands, were allowed to operate. The open shop and private enterprise would do wonders for Australia, but union labor is so intrenched politically that nothing short of a revolution or a dictator can bring about a reform."

ARGUMENT ON LASKER DUE TODAY

Defense Group Will Seek to Have Charges Killed on Prior Jeopardy Basis

Arguments will be heard today by Judge Wilson of Superior Court on a motion to dismiss eight felony counts against A. I. Lasker, former head of the Lasker Finance Corporation, who has been on trial for the past month. The motion is based on the theory that Lasker previously was placed in jeopardy on the same counts as those on which he now is being tried.

Lasker is charged with two counts of grand theft and eight of making false entries in the books of the Lasker Finance Corporation. He also is under indictment for the asserted fixing of charges brought against him during the regime of former Dist.-Atty. Keyes.

The defense attorneys contend in their motion for dismissal of the present case that Lasker was placed in jeopardy when the previous charges were filed against him and then dropped.

PROTESTS HEARD TODAY

The City Council is scheduled to hear protests today against the ordinances of intention for the improvement of Dracena Drive between Ambrose avenue and a point 95.6 feet south of Greenwood Place and of streets in the Colgate avenue and Le Doux Road Improvement District.

DEEP SNOWS DRAW CROWDS

It brought up the season's total precipitation to 5.86 inches, which is but .65 of an inch less than the normal for this time of the year. At that the total is .10 of an inch more than last year's record at corresponding date.

WARM WEATHER RETURNS

In the Big Creek area of the high Sierras, where the Southern California Edison Company gets most of the electric energy for the Southland, there was a downpour of 1.25 inches of rain. A snow blanket almost four feet thick covers this important watershed. The total precipitation there this season is 8.62 inches, against a normal of 13.28 for the period.

The county flood control, roads and drains department, and the city drains and street departments received no reports of consequential damage from the storm, it was announced.

So far as the Weather Bureau is able to forecast the storm appeared last night to have blown over and the customary Southern California balmy winter days have returned. The official forecast for today is fair and cool today with frost in exposed places.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 21.—"The storm looked crasier than anything I ever saw, the 'juice' seemed to come right out of the mountains when the lightning flashed," is the way Louis Meister, an aviator, described yesterday's storm as seen from the air. Lieut. Duff Willson, municipal airport manager, said Meister and a party of friends flew above the storm for two hours watching it from that angle.

FOUR GIRLS AND BOY RESCUED FROM DRIFTS

Rescued from snow drifts on Mt. Baldy after an alarming experience, four girls and a boy, all of South Pasadena, reached their homes early yesterday. They were Agnes Large, Irma Hall, Vera Toombs, Marion Brown and Dick Schaffnit, who drove Saturday with a party of thirty Epworth Leaguers of the First Methodist Church on a week-end visit to a Boy Scout camp. Heavy snow made roads impassable, and the party became panicstricken Archie MacGregor, who was driving a car, was overcome by cold, and had to be taken to a physician in Palmdale. He left his car in charge of Schaffnit.

The latter was unable to drive through snowdrifts blocking the road. When the car stalled, Schaffnit and the four girls started to wade through drifts, heading for Palmdale, seventeen miles distant. Roy Mason, a Chaffey College student, and Frances Smith, a U.S.C. coed, driving on a search for the missing quintet, rescued them and took them into Palmdale. All of the girls were suffering from frostbitten feet and legs.

Testimony in Legislative Inquiry on Check Will Begin Next Week

Subpoenas requiring the presence of witnesses in the legislative investigation of Superior Judge Hardy's asserted acceptance of a $2500 check from Aimee Semple McPherson will be issued within a few days and the taking of testimony will begin next week, according to the statement yesterday of Assemblyman Little of Santa Monica, chairman of the committee.

The committee is clothed with full authority to summon witnesses, take testimony and require the production of documents. The investigation is not limited to inquiry into the check. A report will be filed with the Assembly when the Legislature reconvenes February 18, next. Assemblymen Sewell of Whittier, Woolwine of Los Angeles, Clowdsley of Stockton and Hornblower of San Francisco make up the committee.

SEYFRIEDT OBSEQUIES SET FOR TOMORROW

Funeral services for William Charles Seyfriedt, 75 years of age, 4856 West Seventeenth street, will be conducted by Dean Harry Beal of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral at The Little Church of the Flowers at 2 p.m. tomorrow, followed by a Masonic ritual at the grave in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mr. Seyfriedt had been in the jewelry business for many years in Los Angeles, coming to California eighteen years ago from St. Louis. He was a member of Golden State Lodge No. 358, F. & A. M., and Wilshire Lodge No. 239, Knights of Pythias.

State Nautical School Measure Gains Support

Legislators of Southern California will be asked to support Senator Carter's bill creating a Southern California State nautical school, by action of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is declared already to have indorsed the bill.

The measure, which now is in the hands of the Committee of Commerce and Navigation of the State Senate, will be reported back next session.

It provides an appropriation of $25,000 to establish and carry on, for two years, the school which would be located at Los Angeles Harbor.

It provides the Governor appoint a State government body of three members to take up with the Federal government assignment of a proper naval craft and for assignment of naval officers for an instruction staff.

Instruction will be given in navigation, ship design, engineering, sailing and equipment.

Promoter Denies Fraud Charges

J. W. Alford, promoter, pleaded not guilty yesterday in the court of United States District Judge McCormick to a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of so-called oil and agricultural lands in Cimarron county, Oklahoma. His case was set for trial on April 1, next.

While maintaining offices in a downtown office building, Alford is said to have obtained about $100,000 from investors, upon asserted misrepresentations as to the value of the Oklahoma lands. He is at liberty on bail of $3500.

TUNNEL PLANS APPROVED

Board of Public Works Acts on Bore Under Mulholland Drive at Sepulveda Boulevard

The Board of Public Works yesterday approved the plans presented by City Engineer Shaw for the construction of a tunnel under the Mulholland Drive at Sepulveda Boulevard and the grading of more than seven miles of the latter highway on both sides of the tunnel. Unofficial estimates of the cost of this project have placed it at $350,000 and the city and the county have each allocated $275,000 to pay for it.

According to Merrill Butler, engineer in charge of the structural-design division of Maj. Shaw's office, the tunnel will be 650 feet in length and forty-two feet in width and will be tile-glazed to a height of seven feet. The tunnel plans have not yet been officially approved by the Municipal Art Commission but the members of the commission have indicated that the plans will be approved by them.

The Board of Public Works will receive bids on the construction of the tunnel on February 27, but the awarding of the contract will probably be delayed until some minor differences over rights of way for drainage ditches have been adjusted.

Master Painter Group Gathering

Coming from all parts of California and Nevada, delegates to the silver anniversary convention of the Master Painters' and Decorators' Association of California began to arrive in Los Angeles yesterday.

Sessions of the organization will be held at the Biltmore for three days, beginning Thursday. The final feature of the gathering, which is expected to attract about 650 members of the association, will be a banquet in the Sala de Oro Saturday night.

Addresses on the use and meaning of color and on late trends in the painting industry will be delivered. Election of officers and selection of next year's convention city will take place at the Saturday morning session.

BANKRUPTCY INVOLVED IN NEW ACTION

Attorney Surrenders Three Clients Now Charged With Concealing Assets

One woman and two men were surrendered to United States Marshal Sittel yesterday by their attorney, S. S. Hahn, to answer to charges of concealing assets in a bankruptcy proceeding involving about $280,000. The three are Robert F. Myers and his wife, Mrs. Rosabelle Myers, who owned a large radio and battery company in Los Angeles, and Paul M. McCulloch. Each of the three furnished bonds of $5000 and were released pending arraignment in the United States District Court on Monday.

These and four others are accused in an indictment of having concealed the assets of the radio and battery concern during the bankruptcy proceedings. Joseph M. De Vere, said to be manager of El Molino Oil Company, was arrested Friday and furnished $5000 cash bail. Claude S. Jamieson also was arrested, but was placed in the County Jail in lieu of bail. The other two have not been arrested.

Miss Helen Irwin entertained a group of sorority sisters Sunday, the 13th inst., at her home in Santa Monica, when the feature of the bridge-tea was the formal announcement of her engagement to Walter Whidden and came as a great surprise to the guests assembled.

The announcement cards were hidden in the decks of cards used in the bridge games and the secret was not disclosed until the games began. They carried out a novel idea in the form of doctors' prescriptions and were signed by Cupid, M.D., being especially interesting, as Mr. Whidden is a pharmacist. The ice creams were molded in the forms of Cupids, engagement rings, wedding rings, old shoes, lover's knots and hearts.

Miss Irwin is an active member of Alpha Chi chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority at University of Southern California, while Mr. Whidden is affiliated with Delta Phi Delta Fraternity.

No date is given as yet for the wedding.

This is the second betrothal announced recently by members of Delta Zeta Sorority, that of Miss Mabel Russell to Meldrim Burrell having been told a week previous. Mr. Burrell is a Phi Kappa Tau member.

Visiting Here

During the past week Commander Raph Parr, U.S.N., and Mrs. Parr have been houseguests of Mrs. Ernest Lisle Henefin (Helen Starr) at her home in Beverly Hills.

Commander and Mrs. Parr are en route to Manila, where the former will be squadron commander of the flying forces in the Asiatic. Lieut. Henefin is at present in China with the U.S.S. Henderson.

Betrothal Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Paine of Toledo, O., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to Edward S. Graham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smyth Graham of Pasadena. The wedding is planned for the early summer.

Miss Paine is a graduate of the Baldwin School at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania. She has been a frequent visitor to the home of her aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Nye W. Goodman of Los Angeles.

Mr. Graham was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles, and was affiliated with Zeta Psi Fraternity and Alpha Kappa Psi commercial fraternity.

Returns

Mrs. A. L. Swobdi Meade, 356 South Manhattan, has returned from the East, where she spent Christmas in Toronto with Mrs. Bruce Clendenning, and New Year's in New York City. Mrs. Meade is now at Palm Springs, where she has just completed her new desert home.

Felicitations

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Martin (Eyrd Wallis,) 532 South Bronson, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, the 19th inst., to be named Elizabeth Browning.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. David Gordon, 629 South June street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Malca, to Dr. Jack Seldman of Richmond, Cal., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Seldman of Montreal, Can.

Miss Gordon is now attending the University of Southern California and Dr. Seldman is a graduate of McGill University in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon will be at home Sunday evening, February 3, from 7 to 12 o'clock.

Novel Entertainment

Something quite new in the form of a Spanish fiesta is promised for the opening dinner and ball at the Hotel Huntington tomorrow evening. With the historic old mill as the inspiration a novel program has been prepared under the direction of Miss Marjorie Day.

The dining-room and the tables lavishly decorated with flowers and novel favors brought from Paris will add distinctive touches to the color scheme. The ballroom is to present a glimpse of Spain. Paintings of the old missions will form a frieze and there will be gorgeous color effects produced by flags, flowers and lights. Famous artists will appear in dances and songs.

For this brilliant event reservations have given assurance that there will be a capacity number of guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin of Minneapolis will entertain twenty guests at dinner. Other hosts include Mr. and Mrs. Henry May, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Munroe, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Scovel, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Story, Mr. and Mrs. S. Silberman, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Darsie, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnston, Dr. and Mrs. D'Eliscu, Mrs. W. G. Pippitt, Mrs. J. J. Reimer, Miss E. R. Dean, Mrs. John B. Mhoon, Mrs. Lorenzo Leland, Mrs. B. E. Davis, Mrs. Frank M. Edlin and Mrs. A. Galland.

Campus Notes

Judging from the number of engagement and marriage announcements that have been made recently at fraternity and sorority houses on the Trojan campus Cupid has been unusually active at the University of Southern California.

An engagement announcement of interest, especially in collegiate dramatic circles, is that of Miss Aileen Powers, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and Zeta Phi Eta sororities at S.C., to George Dougher, a member of Gamma Epsilon at the University of Southern California, where the young couple met. The bride-elect is now at her home in Minneapolis, where the wedding will take place in the early part of June.

Another Southern California-Minnesota alliance was formed in the recent marriage of Miss Dorothy Machomich of Pi Beta Phi Sorority at S.C. to Edwin S. Sater, Phi Delta Chi from the University of Minnesota.

From the Trojan college of music comes the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Amelia Edmonds to Harold Patterson Owen, a member of Alpha Rho Chi, architectural fraternity, at the University of Illinois. May 5 has been set as the date of the wedding.

Delta Delta Delta Sorority announces the marriage of Miss Aileen Brown to Frank Becker at the Arlington Presbyterian Church, and Kappa Delta Sorority at S.C. announces the marriage of Miss Winnie Finch to Howard Bell of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, solemnized at St. Thomas Parish, with Miss Nettie Rowland of Kappa Delta as the bride's only attendant and Thomas Graham as best man.

A GAY BEACH OUTFIT

As the warm weather approaches, we begin to plan long lazy days on the beaches and in the water. For this the ensemble shown above is designed so that the home dressmaker may easily make an attractive bathing suit with a beach coat. The two-piece suit, consisting of trunks and a long blouse, may be made of jersey, while the jaunty coat, with its comfortable drop shoulders, may be made of printed cretonne or of colored and plain flannel.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

It Will Fit Nicely

If the candle seems too large for the candlestick, dip the end for a minute in very hot water. This will soften the wax and it can easily be pushed into the holder. On the other hand if the candle is too small for the stick, wrap a small piece of paper around the end and force the ring of paper into the stick along with the candle. When pushed down securely it does not show and is much nicer than melting the candle to hold it firm.

The Dress for Service

A washable house dress is the only practical one for the woman who does her own work. These days we prepare our dinner in the morning and when we change our clothes in the afternoon all dirty work is over and there is little danger of hurting one's frock. But the morning dress must be washable in order to keep fresh and clean at all times.

AUTHOR TO GIVE ADDRESS HERE

Appearance Sponsored by Friday Morning Club

Soroptimists Scheduled for Foreign Trade Talk

BY MYRA NYE

"Astounding America" is the subject of an address to be delivered by Richard Washburn Child next Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the Friday Morning Club auditorium, under the auspices of the club. This is to be Mr Child's only public appearance in Los Angeles.

An analysis with diverting examples from at home and abroad of the things Americans mean to themselves and to the world is expected from this noted author and lecturer. He announces that he will speak of the new type of civilization in the United States and the reasons for its apparent newness. He will speak, he says, of the unparalleled and wholly new economic, spiritual and social forms which grow to amazing proportions before we realize it.

Mr. Child served as Ambassador to Italy through the period of the Fascist revolt and represented the United States at the International conference in Genoa and Lausanne. He has published a number of books of importance on his diplomatic experiences and his contributions to magazines of fiction and his serious articles on political and economic subjects have attracted wide attention for more than twenty years. He is a graduate of Harvard and of the Harvard Law School. He began writing for newspapers and national magazines while an undergraduate. Before his entrance into diplomacy he served as editor of Collier's Magazine.

Heineman will preside. Prof. Gunther's subject will be "Impressions of Spain." She was the American representative of the Council of the International Federation of University Women in Madrid, September, 1928. During a former sabbatical year she taught in three Chinese universities for women and was invited to become head of the Women's International University at Geneva.

Prof. Gunther was one of a group which put on at Columbia University an institute on "The Modern Woman and Her Part-Time Job" and today as an incidental she will discuss the problems of the woman who cares for her home, her children and yet keeps alert on outside activities, either for remuneration or because of a personal interest.

Mrs. Jack Vallely will give the second of the literary afternoons of the California Parlor, Native Daughters, this afternoon in the ballroom of the Garden Court.

Mrs. Isabella Del Valle Cram and Mrs. T. G. Duffy will preside at the coffee urns in the lounge, assisted by Mrs. Edward Taber, Mrs. Lisita Pico Williamson, Mrs. V. B. McClurg and Mrs. Irving Chappel.

A benefit card party and luncheon will be held by the University Book Club this afternoon at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. D. M. Thies as hostess. The proceeds will be used by the child welfare department in its work.

The club will study Panama, with Mrs. E. P. Stewart giving "The Story of the Canal." The round-table, under the leadership of Mrs. C. B. Lang, will discuss Balboa, Sir Francis Drake, Henry Morgan and the San Blas Indians. Spanish songs, with words written by the club president, Mrs. Mynooma De Groff, will be sung by the club.

Mrs. Burton also will give a recitation set to music by Gabriel Fierne, and Winifred Hooke will play four short selections by Honegger on the piano. Tea will be served after the program.

Under the division of public health, a federation program will be given this morning at Highland Park Ebell Club, the speakers being Dr. Belle-Wood Comstock, district chairman; Miss Elsie Noel Forte, from the Sargent School of Dramatic Art, who will give "The Secret of Keeping Young," and Dr. Mary Lawson Neff, lecturer, University of California extension division, who will speak on "Habit and Personality." The Shakespeare section, Mrs. Mabel B. Dunn, curator, will meet in the afternoon.

Frederic T. Clanchard, Ph.D., will speak on "Ibsen and Society" at the meeting of the drama committee of the Friday Morning Club today at 12 o'clock.

CHEF WYMAN'S Suggestions for TOMORROW'S MENU

Veal Pot Pie, Dumplings
Artichokes, Hallandaise Sauce
Cole Slaw, Sour Cream Dressing

BAKED LIVER PIE

One pound of beef liver, two slices of bacon, five small potatoes, one onion, two tablespoonfuls of flour, salt and pepper. Cut the liver into strips and parboil in boiling water for five minutes; drain and roll in the flour; fry the bacon crisp, remove, saute the liver in the bacon fat until nicely browned. Arrange the liver in a baking dish, add the boiling water to the fat in the pan and stir until well blended; cover the liver with the bacon, cut the potatoes into cubes, chop the onions, and mix with the flour and salt. Spread over the top of the liver, pour over the gravy, cover and bake in a medium oven until the potatoes are tender.

VEAL POT PIE

Place in a large sauce pan two and a half pounds of veal, cut in two-inch cubes, add two onions cut in slices and just enough water to cover; bring to a boil; simmer thirty minutes, add half a cupful of salt pork cut in small cubes, a seasoning of pepper and four peeled and halved potatoes; cover and simmer thirty minutes or until the meat is tender. Place dumplings around the edge of a hot platter, lift out the meat and potatoes and place in the center. Add one tablespoonful of flour to the gravy, boil up and strain over the meat and dumplings.

DUMPLINGS

Sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one teaspoonful of salt; rub into these one tablespoonful of butter and mix to a smooth dough with about two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Roll out one inch thick, cut with a biscuit cutter, place on a plate, set in a steamer and steam twenty-five minutes.

COFFEE MOUSSE

One cupful sugar, two cupfuls of good coffee, one cupful milk, two cupfuls of whipping cream, one teaspoonful vanilla, one tablespoonful gelatine.

Dissolve sugar in coffee and add gelatine which has been softened in a little cold water. Set aside till it cools and begins to thicken slightly; then add the milk and cream, whipping stiff. To do this successfully, beat the cream until it commences to get thick and add the milk a little at a time till all is in, beating between additions. Pour into a mold; put parrafin paper over top and set on lid, which should fit tightly. Pack in ice and salt and let stand for three hours.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES published every Tuesday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr Frank McCoy

author of "The Next Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

THE CURE OF EPILEPSY

Some investigators such as the famous English surgeon, Sir Arbuthnot Lane, have pointed out that there is a connection between intestinal poisoning and certain forms of epilepsy. Dr Lane even went so far as to try to cure patients by removing a section of the intestine. This was an attempt to get rid of a particularly weak place in the intestine, where there was evidence that much absorption of poison was taking place. The cases operated on showed a marked improvement for the first few months but after a short time the trouble usually returned.

The theory that a definite intestinal toxemia is the most frequent cause of an attack of epilepsy seems to be proven by the fact that if the colon and small intestines are kept thoroughly clean, future attacks may be avoided. In order to get the best results, it is advisable, at the start of the treatment, to take a fruit fast for two or three weeks. Only one of the acid fruits may be used, or a different one each day. With this disease, as with many others, either the orange or the grapefruit seems to be the best fruit to use to assist in producing the best elimination of toxins.

Occasionally the spells increase in number during the first few days of the fast and then abruptly disappear, but in most cases the seizures stop at once as soon as the fast is started. In some of the cases coming under my supervision, patients having as many as twenty-five spells a day had no recurrence after starting the eliminative treatment.

If the patient has been taking luminal, bromids, nitroglycerin, chloral or other sedatives or depressors, such treatment must be discontinued at the start of the fasting treatment or no good results can be expected. While these drugs are excellent in warding off attacks and have proved a great relief to sufferers from epilepsy, their action interferes with the real cure through fasting and dieting.

A treatment by manual manipulation of the bowels will prove helpful in stimulating peristaltic action and will assist in intestinal elimination. A prolapsed or kinked colon, which would result in intestinal putrefaction, should be corrected by suitable physiotherapy treatment. If this is not done, it would be necessary for the patient to continue the use of enemas indefinitely.

Two or three enemas should be used daily all during the fasting period and at least one each day for a month or two after starting on the regular diet regime. The diet following the fast needs to be well balanced, but with a complete elimination of carbohydrates for several months. The menus described in my newspaper columns may be used by leaving out the meals where starches are suggested, and substituting a meal of fruit or nonstarchy vegetables.

The enemas will guarantee a clean colon until such time as it seems wise to wait for the bowels to move normally. This should not be attempted for at least a month or two after the fast.

If these directions are carefully adhered to the majority of the cases of epilepsy will prove to be readily curable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

PIN WORMS

Question: Mrs. E. asks: "Will you please give your advice on pin worms both in adults and children? And how to treat them. Are they serious?"

Answer: Pin worms are not particularly injurious but indicate an unclean condition of your colon, which you can quickly get rid of through a short course of enemas, using them at least twice daily for several days.

RAISINS

Q.: Mrs. A. C. T. writes: "I am on your diet for rheumatism. You state to use cooked raisins. Is it all right to eat them uncooked, also, as a fruit?"

A.: It is just as well to use the dried raisins without being cooked, but raisins are a very nourishing food and should not be used in too large quantities.

OILY SKIN

Q.: G. T. S. asks: "What would cause oily skin and hair when plenty of vegetables and milk are taken, and sweets and pastry but seldom? How can this be overcome?"

A.: The butter fat from milk or cream, and the oil from olives, avocados, and such oily fruit may tend to promote the oil skin if these foods are used in excess. Stop all vegetable, animal and fruit fats for a short time and then learn to use the right amount which your system needs.

Five Hundred Dogs Impounded in December

Five hundred and fifty-four dogs were impounded in December by the city humane department, according to the monthly report issued yesterday. Homes were found for eighty. A total of 654 cats were destroyed and thirty-four are being held for possible owners. Nine rabbits were impounded.

Total receipts of the humane department for the fiscal year to date are $77,431, compared with $68,876 for the same length of time during the previous fiscal year. License fees for dogs in December totaled $6216.

A total of 250 cases were investigated during December.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stye and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

ONe MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE WITH NAIL BITING

Mrs. Z. G. D. writes: "Everyone is glad to offer a panacea. My experience with nail biting was short-lived and although the treatment was successful it may not be generally applicable.

"My son is 2½ years of age, weighs 33 pounds and is of good size, good disposition and color. At first I remonstrated with him and he evidently considered it was a good teasing medium with him and would come to me and bite his nails and say: 'See mama.' When I recognized this I resolved to ignore him, which I did. I bought a good scissors and cut his nails and any hangnails carefully and then I gave him no more attention. He ceased to bite his nails.

"I think there were a few contributory causes. First a young high-school girl who was taking care of him in the afternoon for a few hours bit her nails. Before and after sister was born he probably did not get as much attention to his diet. There was the excitement of more people about and his grandmother visited us. All the excitement and the strain of this period were communicated to him and the biting also coincided with his first excursions into the street to play with other children. I should say that the habit started due to seeing another person bite her nails and later became an instrument of escape from strained nerves and lowered resistance. When these conditions were corrected the habit ended."

Answer

I think you have summed up the case exceedingly well and your observation of causes and your recognition of the temporariness of this situation have helped you to deal with it by avoiding a dramatization of the situation which would merely have impressed the small boy with the desirability of continuing the habit. This habit, too, was no doubt encouraged by the presence of a younger child who was diverting your attention and while small son saw that he could draw attention to himself by biting his nails he did this. When he found that it no longer had any power to attract your attention he stopped using it as a means to this end.

This is so much more sensible a method of handling such a problem than by mechanical reminders, though it has to be done some time with the child who has so long bitten the nails that he does it without being conscious of it.

Things Domestic

To know young lamb, look for a tinge of red in the bones, very white fat and pale pink meat.

A slice of orange peel placed in a tea canister will give an imported flavor to fancy tea.

Vegetables should be cooked whole and with the skins on whenever possible to prevent loss of food value.

Like Freshly Baked

The stale rolls will be like freshly baked ones if put in a paper bag, the bag dampened with warm water, tied tightly shut and placed in a hot oven. By the time the bag is dry the rolls will be freshened and hot.

LOMBARDA SAUCE

Place in a saucepan one tablespoonful of butter and one tablespoonful of flour, stir and cook until smooth, do not brown; add slowly, beating constantly, one cupful of milk and stir and cook until smooth; add the slightly beaten yolks of two eggs, and half a cupful of clear chicken stock and the juice of half a lemon, stir and cook until smooth, do not boil. WINTER CASABA COCKTAIL

R. C. McC., Van Nuys, Cal.: I do not answer questions by mail. Please do not inclose stamped and addressed envelope.

To two cupfuls of casaba balls that have been cut with a small potato cutter, add one cupful of pitted Queen Anne cherries, one cupful of canned pears, cut in balls, to this add the juice of the cherries, the juice of the pears and sufficient lemon juice to make quite tart. Note: With this melon you can use the honeydew melon, pineapple, and almost any other fruit combination.

Cover tight and cook slowly for forty-five minutes. Add three peeled and diced potatoes and cook until tender. Noodles can be served with this in place of the potatoes.

FIRST RUM FELONY SUIT UP TODAY

Case Involves Pair of Bootleg Suspects Accused of Liquor Conspiracy

The first felony charge filed by the District Attorney's office against bootleg suspects will be argued before Municipal Judge Russell today. Newt J. Kendall, attorney for Clarence Haley and George Conroy, accused of conspiracy to violate the Wright Act, has filed a motion to dismiss, which will be contested by John Barnes, deputy District Attorney.

Police Officer Geyer testified he gave Haley a $5 bill and was given a card by him and told to put it in a box some distance down the road, which he did. A short time later he returned and found a half-gallon of moonshine liquor in the box, he said. Policeman Hargrove testified he saw Conroy place the liquor in the box. More cards of the same kind were found on Haley's person after the arrest, the officers said.

Barnes contends that the testimony is proof of conspiracy, while Kendall maintains that the overt acts charged are not in themselves proof that a conspiracy to violate the law existed.

Huge Crowd at Banquet Given Telephone Man

More than 2000 telephone workers in all branches of the service attended a banquet at the Shrine Auditorium last night in honor of I. F. Dix, general plant manager of the Southern California Telephone Company, who recently was appointed assistant to the general manager for Oregon and Washington. Only one other dinner gathering, that given by the Trojan Club recently, when there were 1200 present, compares with the dinner last night.

Unique among such affairs also was the fact that the dinner was sponsored by the employees' associations and that company executives were not allowed to make any speeches.

The chairman was W. S. Rogers, cable splicer employed in Glendale. Invitations for the event were given entirely by telephone. Mr. Dix will leave for his new duties, with headquarters at Seattle, soon.

Treat Promised by Mrs. Wyman

COLLEGE BODY VOTING ON NEW CNSTITUTION

Balloting on a new constitution for the student body of the college of commerce of the University of Southern California will take place today when students vote on a new document which will conform to the provisions of the new all-university constitution which became effective last September. Art Neelley, president of the college, states that the new document is designed to give the college a separate government from the rest of the university, such as was done recently by the college of liberal arts. Richard Kirtland has charge of today's election.

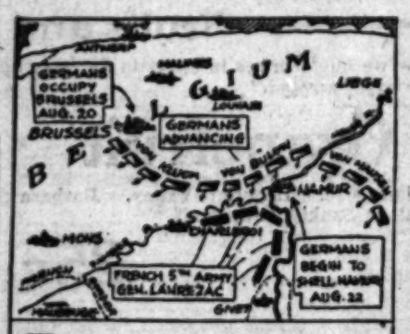
The Story of the World War
XIV—The Fall of Namur

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



AUGUST 22, 1914, TWO DAYS AFTER THE GERMAN FORCES TOOK POSSESSION OF BRUSSELS, THE BELGIAN CAPITAL, GERMAN SIEGE GUNS BEGAN TO BOMBARD THE STRONG FORTS OF NAMUR, A BELGIAN CITY SITUATED AT THE JUNCTION OF THE MEUSE AND SAMBRE RIVERS, 33 MILES SOUTHWEST OF LIEGE.

NAMUR WAS IMPORTANT TO THE ALLIES AS IT COMMANDED THE ENTRANCE TO TWO VALLEYS LEADING ACROSS THE SOUTHERN FRONTIER OF BELGIUM INTO FRANCE. WHILE THE GERMAN HOWITZERS BATTERED THE FORTS, THE GERMAN LINE PUSHED SOUTHWARD AND WESTWARD ON BOTH SIDES OF NAMUR.

LIEGE, CONSIDERED IMPREGNABLE, HAD BEEN TAKEN BY THE GERMANS IN FOUR DAYS. NAMUR WAS EQUALLY STRONG AND AS BRAVELY DEFENDED, BUT IN 48 HOURS THE GERMAN HIGH EXPLOSIVE SHELLS COMPLETED THEIR WORK OF DESTRUCTION, AND GERMAN INFANTRYMEN ENTERED SINGING.

ON THE DAY PRECEDING THE CAPTURE OF NAMUR, THE GERMANS HAD SWEPT WITH FULL FORCE AGAINST THE FRENCH 5TH ARMY WHICH UNDER THE COMMAND OF GENERAL LANREZAC, WAS HOLDING THE ANGLE FORMED BY THE SAMBRE AND MEUSE.

CLERGY TALKS ON CHARACTER

Religious Education Congress Opens Conference

Community Consciousness Needed, Says Dr. Soares

Sociological Work Done in Public Schools Sketched

Unlike Topsy, who "just growed," the children of California can hardly escape having good, strong characters if all of the recipes and remedies which were under discussion at the opening session of the fourth annual California Congress of Religious Education at St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday afternoon will only take effect.

"Character Education, a Community Responsibility" was the theme for the afternoon and several speakers discussed it from a variety of angles, leaving no doubt that there is much to be done in this field.

Dr. W. Bertrand Stevens, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, who presided, said that he felt there is a significant underlying value to be found in this congress comprised of so many co-operating religious groups and that it will result in some very worthwhile accomplishments. He introduced the first speaker, Dr. Theodore G. Soares, professor of religious education of the University of Chicago, whose topic was "What May Be Gained From a Study of This Subject."

CONSCIOUSNESS NEED

"Our special problem today," said Dr. Soares, "is the development of a community consciousness. A real community consciousness realizes that all elements, good and bad, belong to it, that its children are as much a part of it as the adults and that its conception of sin needs a social interpretation. On the other hand, a child must realize that it belongs to a community. A juvenile criminal is often a child without a community who doesn't know that the community belongs to him."

Dr. Soares declared that the greatest difficulty in the way of teaching children their part in the community, is that each agency dealing with the child, the family, the school and the church, considers itself the prime factor and a great rivalry between them results. Thorough-going co-operation is what is needed, he said. Parents must be educators, he believes, and schools must first find out what character means and then put the development of that before anything else.

SCHOOL WORK OUTLINED

Miss Ethel Salisbury, director of the department of course of study in the Los Angeles public schools, next told of the work that is being done by the public schools of this city in the field of character education.

Every activity in the schools is directed primarily toward character building, she stated. Physical health in its relation to behavior is an important consideration, courses in citizenship, wherein the children can meet actual problems and work them out, experiments concerning the child's own idea of honesty and similar traits, the grading of students on traits of character, technique for teachers in the manner of developing good traits in children, a study of the right way to handle cases of dishonesty and the like, are only a few of the things which are being made the subject of exhaustive study and experiment in the schools.

The subject next was discussed by Pro. Charles E. Rugh, department of education, University of California, Berkeley.

"Character building," he said, "is a fundamental issue which must be faced. We first must come to an understanding of what character means and how to develop it before we can get anywhere, for there is no issue of the present day concerning which our views are more confused. The school is indispensable in the development of character, but at present its field is limited, and what a teacher can do in that line is determined more by the respect a child has for its parents, than by any other one factor. The parent's respect for the teacher and the school is also an important thing."

Mrs. C. E. Hunter, chairman of the spiritual training department of the California Parent-Teacher Association, spoke on "What Co-operation May the Home Expect from the Community in Character Education?"

DEBATE ENDS SESSION

Already, she said, Los Angeles is provided with prenatal, dental and baby clinics which are doing a vast amount of good. The Parent-Teacher Association is stressing the need of character education in the home, not only of children but of parents and it is seeking to tie into a closer relationship the home, teacher, church and community, she said.

The afternoon session closed with a general discussion of the topics under consideration.

The evening meeting was presided over by Dr. Ernest R. Trattner, rabbi of the City Temple, and the general subject was "Wherein Has Our Community Failed to Assume Its Responsibility in Character Education?" The speakers were Prof. Cecil F. Cheverton of the California Christian College, I. Irving Lipsitch, director of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations, and Dr. George A. Coe of Columbia University.

Today's sessions will be from 9:30 a.m. to noon, a luncheon meeting at the Alexandria at which Dr. Soares will be the principal speaker, an afternoon meeting from 2 to 4 p.m. and the last session at 7:30 p.m.

OFFICIAL NAMED FOR FOUNDATION

Miss Ava B. Blank

Appointment of Miss Ava B. Blank as secretary of the Los Angeles Community Foundation was announced yesterday by W. L. Valentine, chairman of the advisory committee of the organization. The foundation was established to act as the recipient of funds for public and philanthropic purposes.

Miss Blank will handle the details in the campaign, which soon is to be launched to bring the foundation to the attention of the people of Los Angeles.

Miss Blank graduated from the Teachers' College at Des Moines, Iowa and entered the University of Chicago for specialized study along educational lines. During the past year she has been financial secretary of the Scripps College for Women, Claremont. In her new position, her offices will be located at the head office of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, trustee for the foundation.

PHYSICIANS BAFFLED BY TWO DEATHS

Autopsy Ordered as Man and Woman Succumb in Mysterious Manner

Post-mortem examinations will be made by County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner in an effort to determine the cause of the mysterious deaths, yesterday, of Mrs. Sylvia Giron, 40 years of age, and Paul Gonzales, 53.

Mrs. Giron died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital several hours after she was conveyed from her home at 560 North Hill street. In a moment of consciousness she told Detective Lieutenant Kynette that she had taken "several pills," according to the detective's report. Police surgeons stated that she appeared to be under the influence of a heavy opiate.

Gonzales's death was tentatively reported as the result of alcoholic poisoning. According to Kynette the man was stricken at 510 North Justicia street while in the company of Mrs. Mary Lang, 25 years of age, an Indian girl. He died on the way to the Receiving Hospital.

The girl is held as a material witness pending the outcome of the autopsy and inquest. Kynette stated he learned that the girl and Gonzales had quarreled in a Chinese cafe on North Spring street several hours before his death.

DEMURRER ARGUMENTS SCHEDULED

Action on Rev. Bob Shuler Libel Suit Today Will Precede Minister's Plea

Arguments on the demurrer of attorneys for Rev. R. P. (Bob) Shuler on the complaint of criminal libel on which he was recently arrested are scheduled to be heard before Municipal Judge Reed this morning. Shuler will not plead to the charge until after the court has ruled on the demurrer.

The demurrer, filed by Paul Burkedale D'Orr, who came into prominence locally when he defended the Ku Klux Klan members in the Inglewood raid in 1922, and Thomas Bunn, as attorney for Shuler, asserts that the law was not violated and that even though their client did publish the assertedly false oath of the Knights of Columbus, that this does not constitute libel.

Deputy City Prosecutor Margid declares that he has California decisions upholding conviction on practically the same set of facts on which the libel complaint against Mr. Shuler was based and involving the same oath in question.

Red Handbill Suspect Asks Trial by Jury

Jury trial was requested by Alfred E. Senior, asserted member of the Young Workers' Communist League, following his plea of not guilty to charges of violating the city handbill ordinance before Municipal Judge Sheldon's court, where a date for trial will be set today.

Senior, who resides at 3537 Ninth avenue, is accused of distributing inflammatory communistic literature among the students of Roosevelt High School. Following his arrest he denied having the Communist literature in his possession.

BULLET MISSES HOUSE PROWLER

Woman Fires on Man Trying to Enter Window

Another Reports Telephoned Death Threat

Police Seek Identity of Slain Marauder

Although the Wilshire prowler is dead, in the opinion of Detective Captain Cato of the Wilshire division, a young woman reported yesterday that she had shot at a man trying to enter her room and a police sergeant's wife reported she had received telephone death threats. Capt. Cato said he believes Gustave Lehman, who was shot and killed by Policeman Jaynes on the 18th inst. was the Wilshire prowler. The man was killed while lurking at the rear of 2701 South Mansfield avenue. The captain ordered detectives to find specimens of the man's handwriting to compare with the chirography of the threatening notes left on doorknobs.

Gertrude Campbell of 616 South Bixel street early yesterday telephoned to the police she had shot at a man she found entering her bedroom window. She said that after drinking coffee with her landlady at 1 a.m. she had gone to her apartment, where she confronted a man crawling in a window. She seized a revolver and fired, but no evidence was found that she hit anyone. A friend, Edward McGee of 301 North Figueroa street, who was leaving by the door at the time, gave chase, but failed to overtake any prowler. Miss Campbell told the police the intruder was the same man who had tried to break into her room two weeks ago.

Mrs. Patrick Gillis of 1232 Dewey avenue, wife of a police sergeant, reported that a gruff-voiced man telephoned her Sunday night to "come across with the stuff or you'll be dead within an hour."

An hour later a woman telephoned, urging her to come at once to a casting office on Santa Monica Boulevard. This woman called up a second time Sunday night, and a third time yesterday. Sergt. Gillis asked the Wilshire detectives to trace the mystery calls.

WOMAN SUES ARTIST EARLE

Charges Breach of Promise and Betrayal

Mexico Marriage Recounted; $180,000 Sought

Paris Trip With Five-Times Married Man Told

Another chapter was added yesterday to the story of the love affairs of Ferdinand Pinney Earle, widely known artist, when he was named defendant in a suit for $180,000 damages filed in Superior Court by Dolores L'Salazar, 22 years of age. Miss Salazar charges Earle with breach of promise to marry and with betrayal.

FERDINAND PINNEY EARLE

According to the complaint, which was filed by Attorney Roger Marchetti, Miss Salazar and Earle became engaged in January, 1927, at which time Earle is said to have agreed to deposit $15,000 in a Los Angeles bank for the use of the plaintiff. Earle is said to have broken the asserted promise by marrying Denise Loncin in Paris, in January, 1928.

Miss Salazar says her asserted romance with Earle began in April, 1926, when she was 19 and Earle was 40. She declares a "course of ardent love-making" ensued and Earle wrote her "passionate letters" designed to "sweep her off her feet."

MARRIAGE IN MEXICO

At the time, the complaint continues, Earle told Miss Salazar he previously had been married, but had been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce and that he would marry the plaintiff as soon as the decree became final. Taking advantage of her youth and inexperience, Miss Salazar charges, Earle induced her to go to Mexico with him under the representation that a Mexican marriage would be valid during the period intervening between the granting of Earle's interlocutory and final divorce decrees.

Following the Mexican marriage, Miss Salazar states, she and Earle resided in the southern republic for a time.

After leaving Mexico, the complaint recites, Earle and Miss Salazar went to Paris. There, Miss Salazar asserts, Earle tired of her and "after a course of cruel and inhuman treatment" abandoned her "without funds or money for medical care or attention."

Miss Salazar declares she became a charge on the generosity of Ambassador Herrick at Paris, who later arranged for her to return to California.

TELLS OF ABUSES

According to Miss Salazar, Earle frequently was abusive and cruel toward her during the time she says she lived with him as his wife. Not only did Earle beat and choke her, the complaint asserts, but once he also threatened to throw her out of a window and on another occasion shaved her head for the purpose of humiliating and embarassing her.

Attached to the complaint are a number of notes couched in endearing terms and said to have been written by Earle to Miss Salazar. Attorney Marchetti declares he will ask that these be admitted into evidence when the case comes to trial.

MARRIED FIVE TIMES

Ferdinand Pinney Earle's marital record commenced in 1903, when he married Emille Fischbacher. She divorced him in 1908. In the same year he married Julia Kuttner, who procured an annulment in 1910. Next he married Gertrude Dunn, with whom he traveled abroad for one year, only to be divorced. He married Helen Theodora Gilford upon his return to this country. In 1913 he married Charlotte Herman, society woman and pianist, who divorced him in January, 1927.

MRS. MIX TO COME BACK FROM PARIS

So Say Her Friends But Tom Declares He Knows Nothing About Plans

Whether or not Victoria Ford Mix, wife of Tom Mix, cowboy hero of the screen, is coming back to the United States from Europe to resume her residence in Hollywood, became a matter of keen speculation yesterday. A number of her friends in the cinema colony assert they have received information from her indicating she is planning an immediate return.

The question of her return, however, became more perplexing when Mix was asked about it. He said that he has not heard from his wife for several months and that if she is coming back it is news to him.

"I haven't heard a word from her for some time," Mix said. "If she does return the door will be open for her and our daughter. I still insist that I do not want a divorce and I am quite positive Mrs. Mix will not seek one. But you can never tell.

"I write every week to her and our daughter but strangely I do not hear from them. Several of our mutual friends have told me that she has written she plans to return but she hasn't written that fact to me."

Still more mystery was added to the reports of her return when Herbert T. Morrow, attorney for Mrs. Mix was asked. He declined to make a statement one way or the other, asserting it was impossible for him to discuss his client's affairs.

Mrs. Mix left for Europe with her young daughter last September and since that time reports have persisted she would seek marital freedom in Europe. Mix has just as emphatically denied this.

The cowboy actor has finished his contract with F.B.O. pictures and is now planning another vaudeville tour, he said. His statement regarding Mrs. Mix was also accompanied by a declaration that he himself has no intention of going to Europe to visit Mrs. Mix.

COURT GIVES DAMAGES IN ANTIQUE FIRE

Transfer Company Ordered to Pay $17,000 for Chinese Collection Destroyed

Damages in the sum of $17,000 were awarded yesterday in favor of Mildred S. Wood, wife of N. G. Wood, manager of the Standard Oil Company at Tien-Tsin, China, by Superior Judge Haslett in the lawsuit she brought against the Wilmington Transfer and Storage Company and others over the loss of a large collection of Chinese antiques burned on one of the company's trucks while being transported from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara.

The judgment was entered yesterday by Judge Haslett after his decision under submission since the end of the trial of the suit, November 21, last. It is entered against J. R. Puckett and J. A. Puckett, who are held liable by the court in the action by virtue of being principal stockholders in the Wilmington Transfer and Storage Company.

Mrs. Wood in her complaint asked $90,000 damages. In their defense of the suit the transportation company contended that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion, therefore it was not liable for the damage done to the collection.

Pair Who Met Once in Africa Reunited Here

"If you ever come to Los Angeles drop around at 1117 South Isabel street, Glendale, and pay me a visit," said A. G. Bowman, when he parted a year ago with David R. Ballentine, whom he accidentally met while on business in South Africa.

Mr. Bowman came home and young Ballantine returned to his home at Kilwining, Scotland, later traveling through India, Japan, China and Australia. Yesterday Mr. Bowman answered a knock on his door and there stood Ballantine.

"I am going to stay as long as my visa allows and then, after a trip through South America I intend to return home and persuade the folks to come back to Los Angeles with me," said Ballantine. "For climate and beauty Southern California has the world beaten."

Mr. Ballantine's uncle, Arrol Johnson, is head of the Aster Engineering Company at Glasgow.

Schedule Given for S. P. Special to Inauguration

Carrying home-town neighbors and friends of President-elect Hoover as well as residents of many other California cities to attend the inaugural ceremonies, a special train will be operated through to Washington, D. C., by the Southern Pacific, according to announcement yesterday by C. L. McPaul, assistant passenger traffic manager.

The train will leave Los Angeles at 10 p.m. February 26, and en route to Washington will pass through Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

The party will have the distinction of being the first solid trainload of Republicans to be officially entertained in the South. At San Antonio, Tex., a short stop will be made for a sightseeing tour.

The train will reach New Orleans at 10:30 a.m. March 1, and will remain there until 10:10 p.m.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, is to have a twenty-two-story office building patterned after those in this country.

Marquis Unable to Attend Club

Don Marquis, who was to have been guest of honor at the Writers' program of the MacDowell Club of Allied Arts tonight in the Beaux Arts Building, will be prevented by illness from being present. A group of Mr. Marquis's most distinctive poems will be presented on the club program, however, including "Wood Smoke" and "A Gentleman of Fifty Soliloquises," from his volume, "Poems and Portraits."

These will be read by Jessie Way Hardie of the drama department of the San Pedro High School, who will read also a group of poems by Dorothy Haddox of the English department of the Lafayette Junior High School, president of the Verse Writers' Club of Southern California.

A tribute to the late Charles Fletcher Lummis, California poet, historian and archeologist, will be given by Henry Herbert Knibbs, poet and novelist, author of the preface to Dr. Lummis's last book, "A Bronco Pegasus," and by L. E. Behymer, who will speak on his long years of friendship with Dr. Lummis. Mary Carr Moore, composer of operas, songs and ensemble numbers, will present a group of her compositions for voice and piano.

WILSON CLUB SPEAKER

Stanley B. Wilson will be the speaker guest of the Masonic Club tomorrow noon. His subject will be "What's Wrong With the United States?" Carl Pirie and his Masonic Club Orchestra will play.

ACTRESS RETURNS TO PATHE

Laemmle Engages Negro Star of "Show Boat" for Film; Jack Mulhall Given New Contract to Make Talkers; Fox Signs Promising Juvenile on Long Term

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

That lively young actress, Carol Lombard, Pathe featured player, must really be wondering these days whether, to use a colloquialism, she is coming or going.

First she was to have played opposite William Boyd in "High Voltage," Boyd's next starring vehicle for Pathe. Then she was borrowed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Cecil B De Mille to play the lead in De Mille's "Dynamite."

Yesterday, however, it was all settled that, since De Mille has decided to make many changes in his script, taking some time for the process, and as Miss Lombard is very much wanted for the Boyd picture, she is leaving the M.-G.-M. picture for the Boyd Pathe production.

Howard Higgin, who will direct "High Voltage," and Elliott Clawson, its author, have just returned from a location hunting trip in the Northwest, where arrangements were made to film the majority of this picture along the electric lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, amidst the heavy snows in the Cascade Mountains between Seattle and Spokane, Wash. As soon as the balance of the cast is signed, the company will leave for the selected location.

COLORED STAR WILL BE IN "SHOW BOAT"

After all the hoo-how and worry by Universal officials over whether they would be able to obtain the talking and song rights to "Show Boat," Carl Laemmle has once more proved himself a diplomat, and has secured those rights from Flo Ziegfeld.

LAURA LA PLANTE

Moreover, he has signed two of the stage stars appearing in a New York production to appear in a feature prologue which will be made for the picture. These players are Jules Bledsoe, the negro baritone, and Helen Morgan, both of whom will sing the songs in the talking picture which they are now singing on the stage. "Ol' Man River" is one of the principal songs which Bledsoe is singing, and this will be incorporated in the film.

In the meantime Laura La Plante and Joseph Schildkraut are to start at once on the talking sequences, directed by Harry Pollard.

What is more, Florenz Ziegfeld himself is to aid in the production of the prologue, which will be made in New York.

Jack Mulhall Signs Again

No fear of the howling wolf at the door need assail Jack Mulhall for the next few years anyway.

Mulhall, whose popularity in First National pictures has been increasing during the past few years, has just signed a new contract with that organization which provides for his appearance in ten starring vehicles during the next three years. Al Rockett made the announcement yesterday.

JACK MULHALL

Most, if not all these features, will be talking pictures, it was also learned. Mulhall's new contract being the result of his voice test, which it is said demonstrated that he has one of the best voices in Hollywood for reproduction. Jack is no novice in this line, he having appeared in the first Edison talkies years ago.

His first picture will be "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," a story suggested by Ernest Ball's song of that name.

Harry Albers With Fox

That promising juvenile, Harry Albers, is going to do all of his pleasing acting for Fox Films during the next few years, it was learned yesterday.

Albers, who has been appearing in films for various companies during the past few months and whose rise has been steady, has just signed a long-term contract with the above-named concern. His first assignment is not yet definitely settled.

Gilbert Roland in Lead

Those romantic figures of the screen, Norma Talmadge and Gilbert Roland, are not to be separated in Miss Talmadge's next starring picture, after all. Roland will once more appear opposite Miss Talmadge in "The Sign on the Door," her next United Artists' offering.

Thelma Todd at Montmartre

Thelma Todd is to have the honor of sponsoring the Montmartre's sixth anniversary, which occurs tomorrow.

Miss Todd is to appear tomorrow evening as guest of honor at the Montmartre, when it is promised that a unique fashion show will be given and when a special musical surprise program will be presented by Roy Fox and his orchestra.

Laura La Plante's Next

Already, before Laura La Plante has completed "Show Boat," Universal has found something for her to do following that engagement.

"The Luxury Husband," a novel by Maisie Gregg, is to be Miss La Plante's next starring vehicle, and William Wyler will direct it.

Three With Corinne Griffith

Probably Corinne Griffith has never had a more excellent cast than that which will surround her in her next picture, "Prisoners," which will be directed by William Seiter.

LORETTA YOUNG

Three more players for important parts were signed yesterday. They are Loretta Young, who will play the next most important feminine role to Miss Griffith; James Ford, the young actor whom Miss Griffith discovered recently, and Bela Lugosi, who made such a hit in "Dracula" when that drama was presented at the Biltmore recently.

William Le Baron Leaves

William Le Baron, chief of R.K.O. organization in the West, left last night for New York, where he will confer with Joseph I. Schnitzer, president of the organization, regarding next year's program.

It is predicted that Le Baron will probably buy a couple of New York plays while he is in the East, and he may also sign some Broadway players.

Vera Reynolds to Sign

If everything goes as now expected our little friend Vera Reynolds will not be out of employment much longer.

Miss Reynolds is slated to sign with one of the big companies during the next few days.

'Half-Pint' and 'Runt' Battle Cry in Divorce

"Don't 'runt' me, half-pint!" replied Mrs. Marion C. Baum to her husband, James T., she testified at her divorce hearing yesterday. "I may be little, but I can take care of myself!"

MRS. MARION C. BAUM

Both Mrs. Baum and her husband are short of stature and, according to Attorney E. A. Everett, for the plaintiff, Baum's use of the word runt was not only cruel treatment, but also comparatively unjustified.

Because Baum had filed a cross-complaint Judge Rosecrans postponed the hearing a week. At that time Attorney A. E. Cager will produce witnesses for Baum.

Judging by the Gesture

From a story: "She was smiling at him. He fancied he had seen her or met her before somewhere."

At the altar, we suspect.—[Boston Transcript.

STRANGE LOVE TALE TOLD

Complaint in Lawsuit for Division of Property More Like Story of Fiction Than Page of Life

Baring a story of love and asserted deception that reads more like a novel than a complaint in a lawsuit, Blanche McDonald has filed suit in Superior Court against John R. McDonald for an accounting and share of several parcels of real estate and about $26,000 in personal property she declares was acquired while she was living with McDonald under his asserted promise to marry her.

The story of an ill-fated love revealed in the complaint dates back to the time when she was 15 years of age, and joined a traveling show of which Harry Lyons was the manager. According to the plaintiff, Lyons told her she was too young to travel alone and induced her to go through a marriage ceremony with him that he might "protect" her.

GIRL LEAVES SHOW

Some time later, Mrs. McDonald states, Lyons insisted that she live with him as his wife, with the result that she left the show. That was in Las Vegas, Nev., according to Mrs. McDonald, who states her landlord arranged for her to go to Los Angeles in the care of McDonald, a railroad man. McDonald is said to have persuaded her to become his wife by telling her that he would substitute his name for that of Lyons in the marriage certificate she possessed.

It was while she was living with McDonald, the complaint recites, that most of the property involved in the suit was accumulated. According to the plaintiff, McDonald promised many times to marry her and sent her to Reno where her marriage to Lyons was annulled in 1923.

McDonald, however, failed to keep his asserted promise, the complaint continues, and Mrs. McDonald met and married J. L. Edmunds in Boise City, Idaho, in 1924. After this ceremony was performed, Mrs. McDonald charges, McDonald came to her and professed his love for her anew, causing her to leave Edmunds and return to the defendant late in 1924. Mrs. McDonald, who says she obtained a divorce from Edmunds in 1926, asserts McDonald still refused to marry her and that she left him last October. She declares he has refused to give her what she considers a fair share of the community property, so she has filed the suit for accounting.

HAINES AND OTHERS TO TAKE BOWS

Loew's State Inaugurates "Jimmy Valentine" With Ceremonies

William Haines is to make his first personal appearance on the stage of a downtown theater. A veritable parade of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's stars will be with him, Thursday night at Loew's State, to celebrate the premiere of his picture, "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature talkie, and also the new opening date at the Seventh and Broadway theater.

Conrad Nagel will be master of ceremonies and will introduce, on the stage, Haines, Lionel Barrymore, Lella Hyams, Bessie Love, Jack Conway, Gwen Lee, John Mack Brown, Josephine Dunn, Dorothy Sebastian, Julia Faye, Renee Adoree and others.

Powerful sun arcs will illuminate the sky in the vicinity of the theater and the event will have all the aspects of a brilliant opening, it is said.

Edwin Lyles Taylor, organist, has just been signed for the new shows. Panchon and Marco's California youth-and-beauty girls will be featured each week as a stage attraction.

June Collyer and a number of Mack Sennett comedians appear in person as this evening's whoopee event. The current show, "Let's Make Whoopee," Lina Basquette dancing on the stage and Mack Sennett's first comedy talkie, "The Lion's Roar," will close tomorrow to make way for the new show.

Tomorrow night will be Pom Pom cafe night with the entire revue of the cafe on the stage.

Metropolitan to Pass From Theater List

The Metropolitan Theater, which Thursday becomes the Paramount, will not close its doors tomorrow as originally announced. Arrangements made to facilitate the working of a double night shift of stage artisans have been followed successfully for the past week and more.

Because of the demand on the part of patrons who desired to view Colleen Moore's latest First National picture, "Synthetic Sin," the management caused the night work to be rushed by the addition of an extra force of workmen.

Commencing this week, the motion picture theater at Sixth and Hill streets will change program every Thursday instead of Friday as in the past. This new policy is effective with the renaming of the house to Paramount.

The initial motion picture to be presented under the new regime is to be William De Mille's first talking picture, "The Doctor's Secret," with H. B. Warner and Ruth Chatterton in the principal roles. This production is termed a 100 per cent talkie and is declared to be the greatest picture De Mille has yet filmed. It was selected for the opening pictorial attraction in preference to "The Wolf of Wall Street," the picture originally announced as the first film under the new policy, because it is shorter in length, thus allowing for a greater stage show.

The footlight presentations for the opening of the Paramount will include the "Beaux Arts Frolic," a Frank Cambria production created especially for Publix Theaters, and a locally arranged revue to be staged under the direction of Paul Oscard.

Milton Charles, recently brought here from the East, will offer a variety of organ selections.

'Bad Woman' to be Seen Monday

Monday evening, the world premiere of "The Bad Woman," a new comedy-drama, will take place at the Egan Theater, it is announced by Tom Kress, manager of that playhouse. This piece is the work of Mrs. E. Magnus Ingleton.

"The Bad Woman" is described as "slightly risque," and "filled with pathos, laugh-provoking situations."

Fritzi Ridgway, one of the most popular members of the Hollywood and Beverly Hills motion-picture colony, portrays the title role of "The Bad Woman."

Philip Morris, who first attracted local notice to himself in "Sun-Up," and who is playing the leading role in "Ghosts," will have the male lead. Treva Lawler, also in "Ghosts," plays a prominent part. Jimmy Elroy of Christie Comedies, William Morgan, Frank Ball, Greta Granstedt, Flora Snyder and little Anita Louise round out the cast.

Public Curious to See Scribes

More than 400 Los Angeles newsgatherers will assemble at the Belasco Theater at mid-night Saturday to witness a performance of "The Front Page" as guests of Belasco, Butler and Curran, the producers of this comedy of newspaperdom, according to present indications.

That the public also expects to enjoy the "reactions" of the real newspapermen is indicated, the Belasco management avers, by the demand, from outsiders, for seats to the midnight matinee.

The late Saturday show will be the only one to be given by "The Front Page" company while at the Belasco.

KERRY ENTANGLED

Norman Kerry has commenced work in "Anybody's Wife" as one of the featured players. George Melford directing, for R.K.O., formerly F.B.O. Kerry plays opposite Leota Lorraine, who makes her return to the screen after two years in this picture, and Margaret Morris. This is one of those pictures of "entanglements."

GRIBBON'S GOOD TIMES

Harry Gribbon is having a lot of fun these days out at the Mack Sennett studios, where he is starring in Photophone productions which Sennett himself is directing. Full leeway is given this comedian, it is said.

Griffith Makes Film That Sings

Lupe Velez and William Boyd

Are two "angles" of a triangle completed by Jetta Goudal in the United Artists picture, "Lady of the Pavements," which comes tomorrow to the theater named after the producers. It is the first photoplay to bear the "DG" stamp since "Battle of the Sexes."

UTAH NIGHT CELEBRATED

The Utah State Society officers and members will be present, and all former residents of Salt Lake City, Ogden and points south, north, east and west are invited to the Criterion Theater tonight. Virtually all of "In Old Arizona," the talkie feature, was voice and sound filmed in Zion Park and Bryce Canyon, Utah, and the State's scenic beauties will be visible to all native sons.

Tomorrow brings Union Pacific night, with railroad officials expected to be present. The Union Pacific orchestra of twenty pieces will be an attraction.

Thursday evening the Santa Fe Railroad officials will have a special performance of their own at the theater. A film, "The Grand Canyon in Glorious Color," will be shown.

The story of "In Old Arizona," was laid by O. Henry in the Grand Canyon country near Wolf's Crossing in the middle '90's of the past century, at about the time the Spanish-American War started. The railroad which figures in several of the scenes is the Santa Fe.

CHARACTER COMEDY TO BE STAGED

Lightnin' Bill Jones Will Join Roster of Notable Duffy Portraits

Henry Duffy has chosen "Lightnin'" as his next production at El Capitan. Frank Bacon's comedy will be produced by the Henry Duffy Players, starting February 3, next.

That the production will be a noteworthy one is seen in the announcement that Percy Pollock, well-known character actor, who followed Frank Bacon in the role of Bill Jones, is being brought from New York to act the part in the El Capital presentation. Bessie Bacon, daughter of the actor-playwright, will be seen as Margaret Davis, in the role in which she appeared for several seasons, and Charles E. Evans, the veteran character man, will be seen as the Judge, a role he acted for two seasons.

"Lightnin'" is the best known character comedy of modern times. It ran for 1291 performances in New York, setting a record exceeded by only one other production, and has been given in London, Berlin, Paris and in Australia. The story of Bill Jones, the shiftless, lovable idler who runs a hotel on the dividing line between Nevada and California, was written by Frank Bacon, the famous California actor, who was starring in it at the time of his death. It was John Golden's greatest success. It has been seen here only once before and then for a comparatively brief period.

"So This Is London," with Edmund Breese in his original role of the American father, is now in the last two weeks of its run at El Capitan.

AUTHOR HAS LEAD IN SPANISH PLAY

"Wife Martyr," a play by Juan De Homa, former Spanish motion-picture actor, dealing with a pathological state brought upon a person by excessive drinking, was presented in Spanish at the Philharmonic Auditorium last Saturday evening, with the author himself enacting the leading role. It drew a small, but enthusiastic, audience which tendered De Homa a very sincere and deserving ovation at the close of his play.

He was ably supported by Luz Segovia, Mexican dramatic actress of note, who shared the honors of the evening with him.

The presentation was followed by a varied program of well-chosen musical numbers among which the songs of Miss Segovia were the feature. Spanish dances by pupils of the ballet classes of Matildita, songs by Rosita Granada, a Russian dramatic dance by Miss Penelope Luvana and a piano solo by Howard Coombs completed the program.

ROWLAND LEE ALL SET

Rowland V. Lee is now ready to start production of his first picture of the year with "The Woman Who Needed Killing," starring Baclanova for Paramount. This will make the third time Lee has directed the Russian actress.

GIBSON DEPARTS

Having fully recovered from his recent accident to his ankle "Hoot" Gibson, Universal's western star, today will depart for King City to film exterior scenes for "Birds of a Feather," which Arthur Rosson is directing.

THEY'RE FROM HAPPYLAND

"Girls From Happyland," current burlesque offering at the Burbank, is described as filled with amusing situations and novel surprises. Sam Weston furnishes laughs, assisted by Charles Goldie, Emily Clark, Estelle Nack and Hazel Miller, featured soubrettes, presented a trio of dance numbers that prove to be outstanding hits. Will Kraemer and Ann Myers sing. The chorus steps out in unison.

PLAY SHOP ACTIVE TONIGHT

Tonight the Cordova Play Shop will present "The Vanishing Jury," a mystery play from the pen of Anna B. Briggs. Directed by Frank Sims, the cast includes Dan Mason, Magdalene Schaeffer, Warren Washburn, Symona Ferner Boniface, Ralph Holly, George Bodge, Ethel Parvin Forbes, Cecil Storm and Theodore S. Solomons. "The Vanishing Jury" will play a five-day engagement at the Play Shop.

COMEDIAN CONFIRMS REPORTS

Edward Everett Horton Leases Majestic Theater for Long Term

Edward Everett Horton, one of the most popular and versatile actors ever to grace the local boards, is returning to his first love—the Majestic Theater, in the heart of the downtown theatrical district, it is formally announced. February 17 is the date set for Horton to return to the scene of his first Los Angeles triumphs. In 1919, exactly ten years ago, Horton made his first appearance here.

One year ago, Edward Everett, with his brother, Winter D. Horton, took over the reins of the Vine-street Theater in Hollywood, where he enjoyed instantaneous success.

In transferring his activities to the downtown theater, Horton has received the commendation of many playgoers. The Majestic is being renovated and redecorated for Horton's February 17 arrival.

The actor's current all-star piece at the Vine-street, "The Swan," which opened last Sunday, will continue its run at the new location.

The lease on the Majestic extends over a period of three years. Performances at the Vine-street will continue on the regular schedule until moving time.

'Guardsman' to be Seen Later in Bay City

Ferenc Molnar's ingenious comedy, "The Guardsman," in which Lowell Sherman is starring in the second offering of the Los Angeles Repertory Theater, has begun its second week at the Figueroa Playhouse.

Plans are being made for this erstwhile New York Theater Guild play to be given in San Francisco following the run of "The Silver Cord," another Repertory Theater production which opened at the Geary Theater, December 31.

Appearing in the cast with Sherman are Doris Lloyd, Blanche Friderici, Claude Flemming, Hans Herbert, Betty Middleton and Jane Elton.

ACTOR SAYS VARIETY STAGE TRAINS MIND

Walter E. Percival, who is one of the bachelors in the Henry Duffy Players' production of "Daddies" at the Hollywood Playhouse, was a vaudeville headliner for seasons before he came here for picture work.

"I think every actor should have a season or two of vaudeville training," asserts Percival. "It develops mental resource as nothing else does. You have possibly twelve minutes in which to make good with the audience. In that time you must impress yourself favorably on the audience, or you are a failure. In a full-length play you may not score in the first act, but you have two others in which to make good."

WALLACE BREAKS RECORDS

The box-office records set by "McFadden's Flats" two years ago are being surpassed by the same director. The "Shopworn Angel," produced by Paramount, is shattering receipt records in many theaters throughout the country, it is claimed. Wallace is now making "The Innocents of Paris."

Mysterious Companion of Victim Not Located

Sailor Tells of Seeing Body Hurtle from Doorway

FULLERTON, Jan. 21. — With more credence placed in the theory that Ferdinand Merz of Pasco, Wash., met death by suicide when he leaped from a Santa Fe train near Anaheim shortly before noon Saturday, deputy sheriffs continued their search for a mysterious stranger, whom they believe can cast some light on the strange tragedy.

Roy Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff of Orange county, declared that he was convinced that Merz took his own life, indicating that the man was apparently not in his right mind, at least during his erratic wanderings of the day preceding his death.

Howard declared that he interviewed W. M. Thompson, United States Navy recruiting officer in Los Angeles, who was riding in the car from which Merz is said to have leaped to his death. Thompson told Howard he saw Merz leap. The naval man said he had his eyes on the vestibule door at all times and at no time was there any one else at that point. Thompson told Howard that he immediately sought the conductor, R. C. Bacon, and told him of the episode. When the train stopped at Anaheim an investigation was made.

ATTACK DISCOUNTED

The story told by Thompson clears up any possibility that Merz was attacked in the vestibule of the car and thrown from the train, Howard declared. Thompson's testimony is expected to have considerable bearing at the inquest to be held tomorrow afternoon at the McAulay & Suiters mortuary here. He is stationed at a recruiting office in the Frost Building at 145 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

Sheriff Jernigan today was pressing additional search to determine whether the death of Merz was suicide or murder. Officials of the Santa Fe railroad declare it was suicide. Jernigan announced that he is seeking a man who was said to have accompanied Merz from Los Angeles to Colton last Friday, and then came with Merz to Fullerton, where both boarded the Santa Fe train for San Diego Saturday morning. The man left the train at Anaheim, after Merz's body fell from the train a short distance south of Orangethorpe avenue. He was reported seen walking back toward the point where Merz's body was found. Jernigan desires to question this man regarding his knowledge of the case, he said.

THREAT DISCLOSED

A remark dropped by Merz Friday in Colton as he was wiring $7400 east to his brother, added suspicion to the case. "Somebody is trying to get this money away from me, but they won't get it. I'll burn it first." Merz was quoted as saying.

Merz had purchased a ticket from Los Angeles to New Orleans at Los Angeles Friday. The man now being sought here was with him. Both left the train at Colton. Merz immediately wired the money to his brother in Bronxville, N. Y., and then procured a room at the Alexander Annex Hotel. He did not sleep there, however, though his bag was left there. When the conductor of the New Orleans train wired back to the Colton agent that one of his passengers was missing, Colton police searched hotels and found Merz's room and bag. Merz had, for some unaccountable reason, changed his destination and started for Fullerton. His companion was seen with him when they changed cars at Fullerton.

F. L. Elisadle of Oceanside, a passenger on the same train, said he saw Merz enter the smoker and take a seat, followed by the other man, who sat across the aisle. Merz, Elisadle said, appeared nervous and agitated. After the train left Fullerton, Merz arose and walked to the rear of the car. Almost immediately the other man followed him, according to Elisadle.

COMPANION VANISHES

In a few moments Elisadle said he heard one of a group of sailors exclaim that he had seen a man's body drop from the train. In a moment the other man returned to the car, walked back and forth in the aisle, with his hands in his pockets for a while, and then resumed his seat. He left the train at Anaheim.

MERZ DEPARTED SUDDENLY AFTER CONVERTING ASSETS

PASCO (Wash.) Jan. 21. (AP)—Ferdinand Merz, railroad man, who was reported to have died in California under mysterious circumstances, was believed here today to have converted his funds into cash before leaving Monday for Germany.

Merz had lived here for about seven years, and was alone following a separation from his wife. He was a passenger car inspector for the Northern Pacific Railroad. Before coming here he had worked as a car inspector for the Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation Company at Pendleton, Or.

Although not wealthy, Merz was reported to have "been worth $12,000." He often loaned money here as an avocation.

He was naturalized here in May, 1926. Before he left here he was believed to have left all of his papers, together with the address of his brother in New York, in the hands of an attorney. Reports were current here that, although he was awaiting his transportation to New York from the Northern Pacific, he complained suddenly that he was not well, then departed without even resigning his position.

Harris: And your brother, who was trying to get a government job, what is he doing now?

ACCIDENT DEATHS INCREASE

Coroner's Report at San Diego Shows Total of 738 Cases for Last Year

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 21.—Deaths from vehicular accidents during 1928 increased 31 over 1927 in San Diego city and county, an official report issued today by Coroner Schuyler Kelly, revealed. The total deaths from traffic during the last year totaled 100, while only 69 occurred during 1927, the report shows.

These 100 deaths increase the grand total of cases handled by the County Coroner's office during the past year to 738, according to the report.

Airplane accidents claimed twenty-two victims during 1928, while suicides numbered seventy for the city and county. There were seventeen murder victims during the year, the report shows.

There were sixty-six suicides during 1927, and fourteen murders during the same year, Kelly's report said.

What is probably a record which will stand for years to come, has been established by Coroner Kelly since he took office in 1918. From April 1, 1918, until December 31, 1928, Coroner Kelly and his staff have handled 957 deaths.

During the past three years Kelly has been assisted by Deputy County Coroner Mrs. A. Virginia Wright. The pressure of increasing affairs has caused another deputy to be added to Kelly's staff recently. This position is filled by E. F. Matthews, a World War veteran.

With 107 cases handled during December, that month established a record for the number of deaths occurring within a specified time. November was next with seventy, according to the report. Many of these deaths were attributed indirectly to the influenza epidemic.

SNOWBALLS CAUSE TWO ARRESTS

Storm in Mountain Attracts Many Who Like Winter Frolic

UPLAND, Jan. 21.—Tomorrow afternoon Merritt Emerick of Whittier will find out how much it costs to make a direct hit with a snowball in the face of a policeman.

Emerick was among the hundreds who flocked into San Antonio Canyon yesterday to enjoy a frolic in the snow. Seeing a man standing nonchalantly across the highway, Emerick reached for a snowball, took careful aim of his target and let fly.

The snowball crashed full into Ashby Powell's face. Powell is a special policeman. Powell couldn't see who was behind the barrage, but Officer C. S. Lehman was standing near Powell and had seen the episode. While Emerick was wondering what to do next Lehman decided for him by placing him under arrest.

Lewis Minkle, 1021 West Fifty-first street, Los Angeles, was arrested by Officer T. E. Adams for throwing snowballs. Both men posted $25 bail and were released pending hearing before Judge George R. Crane tomorrow.

Several automobile parties who went to Camp Baldy yesterday for a winter outing were returning to their homes today, not having dared previously to make the descent of the mountain highway due to an icy coating at Hogsback and above. During the day police halted cars at Prison Camp, not allowing them to proceed further into the canyon, as the highway was lined with automobiles unable to travel with safety over the icy surface. Two automobiles slid off the highway, ran into the heavy wire fence guarding he road and turned over. No one was injured.

Snowbound in Mountains

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 21.—A request to institute search for Mr. and Mrs. William Hosterman of Pasadena, said to be overdue at home from their cabin in Green Valley, was received here today by forest rangers from Mrs. George Watson of Pasadena, mother of Mrs. Hosterman. They went to the mountains Friday and were expected back yesterday.

Green Valley is midway between Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear and is fifteen miles from the nearest ranger station. Rangers expressed the opinion that the couple were snowed in and would return in a day or two. There is a colony in Green Valley and ample provisions to weather a few days' snow are available, it was said. Rangers plan to go into the valley if the couple do not appear within a day or two.

LEGION POST WINS CUP

Given Prize for Citizenship Campaign

Proud of Their Accomplishment

Left to right—Arthur I. Peterson, Past Commander; Walter V. Combs, present Commander; Harold J. Caldwell, Past Post Commander, present Commander of the Twenty-first District; Henry Hickey, Past Commander; James R. Austin, chairman of the membership campaign, and H. A. Cramer, Past Commander.

ONTARIO, Jan. 21.—Harry L. Allison, County Clerk for San Bernardino county, wanted to do something in a big way for the local post of the American Legion members for their pioneer movement in helping get out the vote at State and national elections.

So he took $300 or $400 and purchased the biggest silver loving cup he could find, and at the annual membership victory banquet of the post presented the cup to the ex-servicemen.

At each election the post sent workers into the field, first to get the eligibles registered and, second, to get the registered ones to the polls.

Consequently this city has been close to the top right along in the county in large percentage of voters. The Legion provided all the workers needed on election boards, and otherwise has bade the post useful to the community.

The smaller cup was presented to the Legion post by the Pasadena Tournament of Roses committee for having three entries in the New Year's Day parade, a band, a drum corps and a float.

Anderson was grilled by local detectives this afternoon and stated that he did not remember shooting anyone.

Mrs. Winnie Anderson and James Ware, eyewitnesses, told the police that Homer Anderson returned home after an all-night party and placed his revolver against his wife's side and pulled the trigger when she complained that she would "rather sleep than joy-ride."

The police found a .45 caliber army revolver in Anderson's room and another at the Los Angeles General Hospital, where he was arrested by Sergt. Ralph Schad after driving his wife to that institution for first-aid treatment.

PRISONERS BY MISTAKE

Snapping of Spring Lock Holds Man and Wife in Room Eight Stories Above Ground, Forcing Couple to Use Strange Methods to Gain Release

GLENDALE, Jan. 21.—The trick lock of the door of a room on the eighth floor of the new Masonic Temple on South Brand Boulevard was the innocent cause of spreading an alarm of an attempted suicide of a woman who appeared at an open window, waving her arms and causing those who caught sight of her to believe that she was going to leap to the ground below.

Mrs. J. Thomas Taylor, with her husband, the caretaker of the building, and their daughter, were locked in the room when the door slammed shut behind them.

At first they tried to call attention of passers-by on the street by throwing beans out of the window, but those who were struck by the beans only turned up their coat collars, thinking it was hailstones, and walked on. An attempt by Taylor to make his voice carry to the policeman on the beat also failed when the wind blew his voice in the wrong direction.

Finally two boys, Herbert Inman and Milton Walker, on the opposite side of the street, caught sight of Mrs. Taylor waving her arms, and stopped to watch her. They became alarmed at the idea that she was going to jump and rounded up Patrolman E. K. Pilkington, rushing back to the temple. By this time Mrs. Taylor had tied a note to a length of clothesline and had let it down from the window, telling of their plight and asking that some Mason with a key to the room be found to release them.

C. W. McFadden, president of the Masonic Building Association, was found and unlocked the door, which is to have its trick lock removed and a new one substituted.

"The 'suspect' is told to rest his left hand on an upright stick, then to place his right hand underneath the other and hold his left ear, after which he is told to walk around the stick as a pivot three times."

NEW ASPIRANTS ENTER CONTEST

Constitutional Competition Enlists More Schools

Commendable Interest Shown by Later Entrants

Check-and-Balance System of Law Pointed Out

Although the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution is now in its sixth year of development there are still several secondary schools of California which are to enter the contest this year for the first time.

Entry was received yesterday from the Jacob A. Riis High School, of which Homer K. Watson is the principal.

"This school is new and students are comparatively few but we consider it as one of our first duties under the American educational system to support this advancement of a general and thorough understanding of the Constitution," said Principal Watson.

SUBJECT IN HOME

"The contest brings the all-important subject into the home and thus commands the attention of adults who otherwise might ignore the duty. Once out of school, the consideration of the Constitution is often dropped by graduates until some specific problem arises which demands an investigation. We already have a number of students at work and will enlist the attention of as many of our students as possible."

David Starr Jordan High School of Watts, James Austin Davis, principal, also is entering for the first time. All history students and students of civics are working on essays on the Constitution and a fine spirit of interest is being shown.

Today James A. Van Osdol of the citizenship committee of the American Bar Association, discusses the Constitution and its makers:

PROBLEMS OF FATHERS

"We have seen something of the problems that confronted the Constitutional Convention when it undertook the task of setting up a government by which the ideals set forth in the Declaration of Independence could be realized. That convention understood that it was called upon to make good the challenge which the Declaration of Independence had thrown down to monarchy. In making good they were demonstrating to the world the worth of the Anglo-Saxon notion of the freeman's law against the Roman side of the sovereign's command," says Van Osdol.

"They were undertaking to plan a government of limited powers, in which the people were to reserve to themselves a certain zone of civil liberty in which no government should be permitted to enter; one in which government sovereignty was in the people.

"In Great Britain the people have finally put sovereignty in Parliament. That institution can do what it pleases. Neither Magna Charta, the English Bill of Rights nor even the English Constitution lays any limitation upon the powers of Parliament. The only remedy the British people have is to turn out one sovereign Parliament and choose another.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

"The makers of our Constitution had certain fundamental principles in mind which bring into clear relief the philosophy that underlies the whole structure, among which may be mentioned:

"(1.) To establish a central government with power to operate upon the individual citizen. (2.) To protect the people against that government. (3.) An indissoluble union composed of indestructible States. (4.) A judiciary with power to settle all disputes arising under the Constitution and the laws of Congress.

"The accomplishment of the second object made necessary the limitations which the people have imposed upon the government and the limitations which they in turn imposed upon themselves in granting certain powers to the central government. These limitations should not be viewed as restrictions but as safeguards, since the real end to be obtained is self-government and self-government is only self-restraint.

LIMITATION SOUGHT

"There is one limitation which has been more or less the cause of complaint by some of the members of that branch of the government that should be most carefully restrained—the legislative branch. In choosing that branch as the one to be most carefully guarded, the people were only exercising a special care to place limitations upon themselves, since through that branch of the government the people find the most direct means of expression regarding governmental affairs and in shaping its policies.

"In the grant of power to the legislative branch the Constitution introduces it with this significant language: 'All legislative power herin granted shall be vested in a Congress,' etc. In the grant of power to the executive and in that to the judicial branches no such restrictive phrase as 'herein granted' anywhere occurs.

"It is fundamental in the plan provided by our Constitution that the sovereignty of the people is to be exercised through representatives chosen by the people.

ONLY FEASIBLE PLAN

"It creates a union which operates on the Federal system and is the one best suited to our vast domain, which has such a variety of conditions, opportunities and needs.

"If, instead, the makers of our Constitution had created a central government with power to control all our functions of every kind throughout this vast territory it would have gone to pieces long ago. Instead we have a central government of limited and specifically defined powers, under which are today forty-eight States, in each of which the Federal Constitution guarantees a republican form of government, each of which States may create subdivisions and governmental agencies, with power to locally administer the laws of that State and to make such legal regulations as are best calculated to meet the needs of that particular locality, all of which must be done in accordance with the fundamental laws of the land, which are the Federal and State constitutions.

"That the central government was to be supreme within its sphere is made clear by that provision in the Constitution which says: 'This Constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof and all treaties made or which shall be made under the authority of the United States shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, nothing in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.'

"Speaking of this clause, ex-Senator Albert Beveridge in his life of John Marshall says: 'It must be borne in mind that the American Constitution declares that in and of itself it is law—the supreme law of the land—and that no other written constitution makes any such assertion. This principle is wholly and exclusively American. It is America's original contribution to the science of law.'

"The makers of the Constitution knew that their task was to plan a government that would protect the people not only from abuses that might be perpetrated by some department of the government which they were setting up, but also to protect the people from their own majorities.

"That it has thus far been accomplished is due to the fact that by the separation of the government into three primary divisions with the powers of each specifically limited, and each acting as a check against the others results in such a balancing of powers that no one division can become supreme over the people as a whole. To preserve that balance should be the chief concern of every intelligent American citizen."

Further discussion of the makers of the Constitution by Mr. Van Osdel will be given tomorrow.

FIRE FIGHTERS OFFER BLOOD

Eleven Rush to Hospital Ready to Lend Aid to Stricken Comrade

Eleven firemen yesterday volunteered their blood in a tranfusion operation to save the life of a comrade, George K. Bushman of Engine 52, who was found overcome by gas in his home at 830 North Van Ness avenue. He had been taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where the firemen volunteers rushed upon hearing that a transfusion was necessary.

Capt. Clifton S. Knottege of Engine 7 was chosen for the operation, which was performed by Chief Surgeon Dodge and Dr. Savarin. Bushman still was unconscious last night, eight hours after being discovered overcome.

BUNKO CHARGES SEQUEL OF RAID

Two Men Seized in Liquor Case Face More Grief

"Poor Box" Swindle Said to Have Been Perpetrated

One of Suspects Accused by Police on Three Counts

Raiding a house at 4419 Sunset Boulevard in a search for liquor, yesterday, Detective Lieutenants Ervine and Evans of the police gun squad reported they found not only $1500 worth of whisky, but apprehended two men wanted for suspected "poor box swindles" occurring recently among foreign residents in the Hollenbeck Heights district.

The men arrested gave the names of Joe Besso, 42 years of age, and Gino Cesare, 57. Besso was booked at the City Jail on suspicion of grand theft, bunko and for possession of liquor. Cesare was held only on the former charge.

In the latter's possession the detectives stated they found a large black wallet packed with several hundred dollars in genuine currency and a larger amount in phony bills. In the collection also were several rolls of newspapers used by operators of the "poor box swindle" to "stuff" their supposed donations to the poor, which are given to the "suckers" to distribute. In the "switching" of the rolls the victims are fleeced of their money.

Victims of recent swindles of this nature will be asked to visit Central Police Station in an effort to identify the two suspects.

A Preliminary Prep

"Before I take the case," said the lawyer, "there is one thing to be looked into."

"I presume," said the client, "you refer to my pocketbook."

MONTANANS MEET MATES OF SUNNY SNOWLESS SOUTHLAND

"Hey there, you Montanas. Powder River—let 'er buck!"

"How are things in Butte, brother?"

"Hear it's about 18 deg. below in Helena."

"Welcome to California—no more snow."

Thus were 2000 residents of Montana welcomed to Los Angeles by local former Montanans as eight Union Pacific trains of visitors pulled into the Central station yesterday.

The large influx of winter visitors is the result of the annual midwinter excursion conducted by the Union Pacific. Chamber of Commerce representatives who boarded the special trains at Riverside state that a majority of the visitors expect to remain here two months.

Long lines of friends and relatives of those on the trains formed at the station early in the morning and waited throughout the day for greetings as train after train arrived.

Comments and broad smiles over the weather here were sandwiched in between greetings among the people from every action of Montana and th local reception crowd. The new arrivals were hustled away to friend's homes and to hotels to prepare for the formal reception and dance given in their honor last night at the Alexandria.

Each of the eight trains stopped for half an hour in Riverside en route here and was accorded a greeting by former Montanans of Riverside.

Mrs. E. B. Weirick, president of the Montana Women's Club, and P. L. Benepe, vice-president of the Montana Society, headed the local reception committee.

A Doctor Talks About Cascara

It is unfortunate that many people judge the thoroughness of a laxative by its violence. The salts that rush through the system may not even penetrate the film of poisonous matter that has coated the colon. A long list of drugs will "loosen the bowels," but what is the best way to CLEANSE them?

The world's best laxative is one that Mother Nature makes in her own laboratory. It is the bark of a tree, called CASCARA. The Indians used to chew this bark—and reach old age without a sick day. It is the best thing there is today, for any system; best for the blood. The most beneficial in its action on the bowels, of anything yet disclosed. For many reasons:

First of all, there is no HABIT formed from Cascara. The bowels are not weakened, but strengthened by its occasional use. This comes when one needs this aid gently and less. Its influence is long lasting. You don't find yourself worse off the day following. You feel that the bowels more inclined to do of their own volition. The use of Cascara that every druggist always has in stock is the form of Cascara.—[Advertisement.

WHY ETHYL GASOLINE

WHILE Ethyl gasoline will improve the performance of any car, it is an absolute necessity in the newer high compression motors. If you are driving such a motor, with properly advanced spark, you must use Ethyl to enjoy full high compression performance—increased speed and power—less fuel consumption and generally reduced operating costs.

Developed after years of scientific research in the great laboratories of the General Motors Corporation, Ethyl was made to fit the needs of high compression motors and is recognized by automotive engineers as the only commercially practical substance that will overcome destructive "knocking" and develop highest power and efficiency in any motor.

Two years ago only one per cent of American automobile manufacturers produced high compression motors. Today, as the result of Ethyl, there are more than fifty-six per cent. Forty-two of the largest and best known oil companies in the world add ETHYL brand of anti-knock compound to their finest gasolines.

Because Ethyl Gasoline is dyed to distinguish it from ordinary gasolines, many imitators have produced dyed or so-called anti-knock gasolines whose chief merit is their many claims. Ethyl Gasoline is the only genuine, anti-knock, high compression fuel; and can be obtained only from authorized distributors.

Mary Philbin

SCREEN PAIR WILL MARRY IN AMERICA

Plans of Paul Kohner for Marriage to Miss Philbin Told in Letter

Mary Philbin, screen actress, and Paul Kohner, production executive, are to be married in this country not later than June, in spite of all the rumors to the contrary which have been circulating in Hollywood since Kohner's departur for Europe several months ago. This word comes direct from Kohner in letters received in Hollywood yesterday by his friends.

According to his letter, he says it is possible that Miss Philbin will journey to Europe in February to make a picture and, in event she is unable to do this, he will return to the United States in time to be married not later than June. This, he says, is a certainty.

The engagement of Miss Philbin and Kohner was announced shortly before his departure for Berlin, as foreign representative for Universal Pictures. He informed his friend that Miss Philbin has been offered the leading part by a foreign producing company in Sir Rider Haggard's "Brethren," and that her departure for Europe t omake this picture still awaits the sanction of Carl Laemmle, president of the company.

He asserted that plans for Miss Philbin joining him in Europe at an earlier date were cancelled on account of her illness. He says he hears from Miss Philbin twice a week by cable and that he frequently talks with her over the telephone.
